2 IRON WORKERS ARE ARRESTED AND ONE CONFESSES

Formal Charge of Conspiracy in Transporting Explosives Made Against G. E. Davis.

BRIDGES DYNAMITED

Detective Charges Plot to Wreck Property of Bridge Company Still Exists.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—George E. Davis, alias George O'Donnell, was arrested by a United States Marshal here today on a charge of blowing up with dynamite a New Haven Railroad bridge at Mount Vernon, N. Y., Sept. 3, 1911.

Davis is also charged with having conspired with the McNamara brothers, Frank M. Ryan and other officers of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union to wreck the Mount Vernon and other bridges.

The Marshal asserts that Davis has confessed.

Davis was arraigned before a United States Commissioner, waived examination and consented to go to Indianapolis, where he is under indictment for transporting explosives.

In his confession, it is alleged, Davis has implicated union officials in the Mount Vernon and other explosions.

Davis was arrested upon the complaint of Robert J. Foster, a private detective of Louisville. Foster charged that a conspiracy of Ryan, the McNamara brothers and 50 other iron workers to transport dynamite to be used in wrecking property of the American Bridge Co., was still in existence.

Alleged Written Confession.

The formal charge against Davis, who is an iron worker, is that he violated the Federal law against the transportation of high explosives on passenger trains engaged in interstate commerce.

The complaint asserts that Davis and his alleged fellow conspirators on Jan. or [illegible] 1911, transported 45 pounds of dynamite from Bellefontaine, O., to Indiandirec[illegible]s, over the Cleveland division of the ure c[illegible] four railroad. On Sept. 3, 1911, it is er re[illegible]ed, Davis carried 30 pounds of the [illegible]losive from New York City to Mount Vernon, a suburb, and there blew up part of the railroad bridge.

Foster said that Davis gave him a written confession before his arrest. Bail for Davis was fixed at $10,000.

Found Guilty of Assault.

The United States District Attorney's office this afternoon gave out what purported to be a synopsis of Davis' confession. It said that he had done a dynamiting job at Trenton, N. J., had blown up an Erie railroad bridge at Garrison, N. J., had plotted to blow up the Blackwell's Island bridge in this city, had wrecked a bridge at Pelham, N. Y., a Baltimore & Ohio bridge at Bradshaw, Ind., the Chelsea pier in the North River here, had destroyed materials in the yards of the Pennsylvania railroad at Philadelphia, wrecked a drawbridge over the Bronx River, and done similar jobs in Perth Amboy, N. J., Somerset, Mass., and Providence R. I.

Foster, the detective who brought about the arrest, has been employed by the National Erectors' Association, and was found guilty in Indianapolis on March 15, 1912, of assault and battery on the person of President Ryan of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers.

Structural Iron Worker Official Charged With Conspiracy.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 2.—Harry Jones, secretary-treasurer of the International Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was arrested here today by a deputy United States Marshal on a charge of conspiracy.

Jones, it is said, is implicated in the confession of George E. Davis, who was arrested in New York.

Davis, it was learned here, is the O'Donnell who was considered an important adjunct to the dynamite conspiracy trial here, but who could not be found at the time.

Discharged in Pittsburg.

It is reported that Davis made his confession two weeks ago in the New York office of Walter Drew, counsel for the National Erectors' Association. This followed Davis' discharge from a job in Pittsburg when, it is said, he became "sore" on the union. Robert Foster, an investigator for the National Erectors' Association, got in touch with Davis, and, it is understood, brought about his confession.

Jones is a new figure in the case. He was formerly financial secretary of New York Local No. 40 of the Iron Workers and was elected international secretary-treasurer at the convention held here last January. The affidavit against him, charging conspiracy to transport explosives unlawfully, the same charge on which 38 of his fellow unionists were convicted in the Federal Court in this city last December, was made by Assistant United States District Attorney Clarence W. Nichols. United States District Attorney Charles Miller, who was in charge of dynamite prosecutions here, [illegible]s in New York, and was in active charge of the arrest of Davis.

Jones Is Arraigned.

At the headquarters of the International Union here, a stenographer said Jones was the only official in the office today. The stenographer said the other officials, including President Frank M. Ryan, who was released some time ago from the Federal prison at Leavenworth, Kan., on bond pending his appeal from conviction here, were traveling in the interests of the union.

Veiled Prophet Gives a Pull at the 1 a. m. Lid

Cafe Owners Solicitous for Guests, Ask Excise Man If Drinks Can Be Drunk After Hours but Get No Answer.

Will the lid be off in St. Louis restaurants with buffet connections after 1 a. m. Veiled Prophet's night?

This was the question which worried celebrators of festive occasions in St. Louis Thursday, and which agitated the restaurant proprietors to such an extent that they sent a special committee to ask Excise Commissioner Anderson about it.

Veiled Prophet's night is one of the big nights of the year for cafe proprietors—IF.

"If," in this case is a conjunction of food and the drinks that go with it. Without a liberal expenditure for drinks it would hardly pay the restaurant proprietors to keep their places open until midnight.

If the popping of corks is in tune with the jingling of the cash register all is well.

Col. Lyman T. Hay, proprietor of the Planters and Jefferson hotels, and Henry Hoffman, in charge of McTague's cafe, visited Excise Commissioner Anderson Thursday to ask him whether drinks purchased before 1 a. m., the saloon closing hour, might be served after that hour. They didn't find out.

Anderson gave them no definite answer. Under Edwin W. Lee's administration of the excise office in the four years preceding Anderson's appointment it was the custom of restaurant and hotel proprietors to permit customers to order drinks in advance and to serve the drinks after 1 a. m.

The uncertainty this year may add a spice of excitement to the midnight merriment of the Veiled Prophet diners. There may be no interference with their after-midnight libations. And then again their demand for intoxicants after the legal hour may result in the house being "pinched."

TWO QUAKES SHAKE PANAMA BUT CANAL IS NOT DAMAGED

Huge Locks Not Disturbed by Shocks Which Throw People Into Terror.

PANAMA, Oct. 4.—Virtually no damage was done to the structures of the Panama Canal by the earthquake which occurred in the canal zone between 11 and 12 o'clock last night.

Instruments at the Ancon Observatory showed that the common point of origin of the shocks was somewhere to the north of Colon in the Caribbean Sea, but the Gatun dam and the Canal locks suffered absolutely no injury.

An investigation of the buildings at Panama showed that more damage had been done than it had been at first believed. Although no walls were seriously impaired, slight cracks occurred in several concrete buildings. This condition was particularly noticeable in Twelfth street near Santa Ana Plaza.

South American Cable Breaks.

Three hours after the occurrence of last night's disturbance one of the Central and South American cables broke at a point abotu one hundred and fifty miles north of Panama. This may have been a coincidence or it may have been the result of the shocks. The break caused no inconvenience to the cable company's traffic.

The earthquake appears to have been of a submarine character.

The first shock, as experienced in the capital, was slight and was quickly followed by one of longer duration, which shook buildings to their foundations. The church bells were set to ringing; doors were thrown wide open and residents were brought tumbling out of the beds.

The first movement lasted about five seconds. It occured about 11:20 o'clock. The second movement was of ten seconds duration.

Jamaicans who went through the disaster at Kingston and Italians who have had similar experiences in their home country were particularly alarmed.

According to the seismograph, there were two slighter shocks but these were practically unnoticed. The general movement appeared to be from west to east.

Those familiar with earthquakes said the movement was more of an upheaval than a vibration from side to side.

COLON, Oct. 2.—A severe earthquake occurred here at 11:20 o'clock last night. The disturbance was of nearly a minute's duration and was followed by another shock 20 minutes later. Houses were rocked and the entire population was aroused. Thousands filled the streets and remained there in fear of the collapse of their houses. The earthquake was the heaviest within memory.

Earthquake Lasting 35 Minutes Recorded at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Record vibrations of what evidently was the earthquake in the Canal Zone late last night were shown on the seismograph at the Georgetown University Observatory here. The vibration lasted from about 11:35 o'clock until about 10 minutes after midnight and the motion was confined to an east and west direction. The instrument showed the earthquake was 2000 miles or more distant.

St. Louis University Seismograph Records Panama Quakes.

The quake which rocked the Isthmus from Panama to Colon Wednesday night was recorded in St. Louis by the seismograph at St. Louis University. From the record of the seismograph, the Rev. Father Goesse, in charge of the observatory, estimated that the earthquake had been about 2000 miles from St. Louis in a southeasterly direction.

The first wave was recorded by the instrument at 10:28 p. m., and the second at 10:40 p. m. The principal shock passed under St. Louis at 10:57 p. m., the instrument shows. The waves stopped at 11:08 p. m.

Eastern time is used in Panama, and this explains the difference in time, while the fractional difference is computed as the time the waves consumed in traveling.

25-FOOT BARRIER SHUTS IN A MINER ENTOMBED 6 DAYS

Rescuers at Centralia, Pa., Hope to Reach Imprisoned Man Friday.

CENTRALIA, Pa., Oct. 2.—With 25 feet of a solid pillar of coal to excavate, rescuers hope to reach by noon tomorrow Thomas Toshesky, who has been entombed in the Continental Mine of the Lehigh Coal Co. for six days. Today H. J. Heffner, mine superintendent directing the work, installed air compressors in the heading and the work of digging away the wall of anthracite is expected to proceed more rapidly. During the excavation work last night only one miner at a time was able to pick into the face of the coal.

Toshesky is becoming restless. He started to dig himself out of his cell and had picked away about three feet of coal in the direction of his rescuers when those on the outside told him to be careful lest he cut the rope used in drawing his provisions through the long pipe that has been inserted in a mine breach. Toshesky was told to stop digging, but he said he had to do something to help pass the time away.

The imprisoned miner begged for a stick of dynamite to blow down portions of the barrier between himself and liberty. To quiet him a bottle of eggnog was sent into him.

Later he talked through the pipe with his wife. He was glad to hear that she and the four children were well and he begged her not to worry about him.

WHITE CAR-STOP LINES ON DOWNTOWN STREETS

Traffic Must Halt at Them Until Signal to Proceed is Given by Policemen.

The white car-stop lines which, it was announced some time ago, would be painted at street intersections to show motormen where the fronts of their cars should be at stops, and to be the dead lines for street traffic, will be painted by Sunday morning, according to Street Commissioner Talbert.

The lines will be painted on the street in extension of the building lines on Broadway, Sixth and Seventh streets, between Chestnut street and Washington avenue, as an experiment. If the plan is successful, it will be adopted throughout the downtown district.

It is believed the lines will make it easier to handle traffic. They will be repainted every Sunday. Traffic must come to a stop at those lines until the traffic patrolman gives the signal to proceed.

HERMAN OELRICHS HELD FOR STABBING GIRL IN AN AUTO

Late Millionaire's Son Accused by Texas Young Woman to Be Arraigned Tuesday.

DETECTIVES HIDE FOR HIM

Girl Says She Was Stabbed When She Admitted Engagement With Another.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Herman Oelrichs, the young millionaire, whom Lucille Singleton charges with having stabbed her in an automobile Tuesday night, was arraigned in police court today and held in $1000 bail for a hearing Tuesday. The case was postponed because of the absence of the complainant. She was still in bed today.

Mrs. Herman Oelrichs, widow of the late Herman Oelrichs, who amassed a fortune of millians from steamship lines, early today saved her son from spending the entire night in a police station cell, by going his bond for $5000, giving her $100,000 residence as security.

Young Oelrichs, a student in the Columbia Law School, was arrested late last night on a charge of felonious assault after Miss Singleton, a 19-year-old daughter of a Texas mine owner, had told her story of a mysterious automobile accident on Broadway Tuesday night. The girl alleged that Oelrichs, who was then known to her as "Billy Creighton," had stabbed her when she was riding in the young millionaire's car.

Arrested at Girl's Rooms.

Oelrichs was arrested when visiting the apartments at which Miss Singleton was lying wounded. Detectives had hinden themselves there behind portieres, and according to them, they heard "Creighton" reveal his identity. He was locked up in the Mulberry Street Police Station, at which the youth's mother appeared shortly afterward and produced the required bail. Young Oelrichs was released under instuctions to be in the Jefferson Market Court for arraignment today and he and his mother drove away in a taxicab.

Miss Singleton told the police that she was riding with the man she then knew as "Creighton" when a quarrel arose because she admitted she had an engagement with another man. Thereupon, she alleged, "Creighton" let go of his steering wheel and stabbed her several times with some sort of sharp instrument which may have been an automobile tool.

Detective Theodore Trayer, who had investigated the automobile accident, was suspended. Trayer's report regarding the accident, in which Miss Singleton had been reported "injured" by being tossed through the windshield of the machine, was not satisfactory in the light of developments.

A youth wearing glasses and saying that he was a detective called on Miss Singleton and advised her to "settle" the case for money, detectives told Dougherty, and after a conversation in which the sum of $5000 was mentioned, an understanding was reached that "Creighton" was to give her $400.

Girl Got Checks From Dallas.

Deputy Commissioner Dougherty, who has charge of the police end of the case, said this afternoon:

"I have learned that Miss Singleton received each month a check from Dallas, Tex. The checks were from a man named Smith and were cashed by the girl at a drug store in Harlem."

Dr. Kergar of the Knickerbocker Hospital, who attended the girl on the night of the automobile accident, held a conference with the police this afternoon.

"I found several cuts on the young woman's bosom," he said. "One of these may have been inflicted with a knife or other sharp instrument, but I believe it was caused by contact with the glass of the windshield, through which she was hurled. That is what she told me. It is impossible to say with certainty how the cuts were inflicted."

AUTO CARRYING 10 PERSONS UPSETS, 3 WOMEN, MAN HURT

Chauffeur Bringing Party From Madison Dance Tries to Avoid Hitting Train.

A seven-passenger automobile occupied by 10 persons returning at 3 o'clock Thursday morning from a dance at Madison, Ill., was overturned between Madison and Venice when the chauffeur made a sharp turn to prevent a collision with a freight train at the Terminal crossing. Three women and the chauffeur were injured when they were pinioned beneath the car.

Mrs. Grace Browning, 27 years old, wife of Homer Browning, a railway mail clerk, of 4426 Chouteau avenue, is in a serious condition at the City Hospital. The chauffeur, whose name Mrs Browning says she does not know, was taken unconscious to an East Side hospital. Miss Rena Eaton, 23 years old, a boarder at the Browning home, was cut and bruised, her right ankle was hurt, and her right eye was bruised.

Rescued by Other Autoists.

The injuries of Miss Eaton and a young woman apparently 18 years old, who refused to give her name to the police, were treated at the City Dispensary, and they were then taken to their homes by friends.

Several others in the party were hurt, according to the police, and were taken to hospitals on the East Side by occupants of other automobiles returning from the dance.

Mrs. Browning told reporters that she went to the dance with a party of friends, who called at her home to take Miss Eaton to the East Side dance hall. When they invited her to go along she left her children, Gerald, 9 years old, and Jule, 7, at the home of a neighbor and went with them.

Her husband had departed on his run to Monett, Mo., she said. The automobile stopped at a downtown cafe, she said, and two other couples got into the machine, making 10 in the party.

Tries to Prevent Collision.

When the party left the dance hall at about 3 a. m., as the car approached the Terminal crossing at high speed, a freight train was seen a few feet away. The chauffeur, in attempting to prevent a collision, turned the car sharply and the machine turned over into a ditch, pinioning the passengers underneath.

The occupants of the other cars in the rear lifted the auto and pulled the injured persons out.

The young woman, who refused to give her name declined to discuss the accident or give the police any information concerning her identity. She was taken from the dispensary in an automobile driven by Matt McElhinney, who gave his address at 4753 Washington boulevard. The other occupants of the car gave the names of Walter Burman, 2108 North Fifteenth street, and Dollie McElroy, 3538 Easton avenue, according to the police.

HARDSHIP OF NUN'S LIFE TOO SEVERE FOR MISS HANDLAN

Young Society Woman's Health Fails Under Privations of Good Shepherd Work.

Miss Vella Handlan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Handlan, who last spring forsook society and entered the Order of the Good Shepherd as a postulant, has returned to the home of her parents in the St. Regis Apartments, after deciding that her health would not withstand the rigorous exactions of the life of a nun. Her health declined rapidly in the convent, and she obtained permission to leave, at the urgent request of her mother.

Miss Handlan is considered a fine musician and has a well-cultivated voice. She is popular in the younger society set. Friends have asked her to resume her social duties and join in the fall festivities, but she has not expressed the intention of yielding to their entreaties.

Her duties as postulant required her to arise at daybreak and perform menial tasks, such as scrubbing and cleaning, to acquire humility and this affected her health.

The young woman has not yet taken the vows of the religious community, and it is not uncommon for a postulant to leave the cloister during the term of her postulancy when it is found that she is not fitted for the exacting religious life of a nun.

MAN AND WIFE LOSE $5000 IN SWINDLE ON A "FIXED" RACE

They Travel 2000 Miles to Get Money to Turn Over to Confidence Men They Met at West Baden.

CASH IS TRANSFERRED IN ROOM AT LACLEDE HOTEL

William J Young, Manitoba Grocer, Goes Back Home With Wife for Cash When Check Is Refused and Hands It to Two Men, Who Escape.

William J. Young, a grocer of Brandon, Manitoba, Canada, with his wife, Fidelia, traveled more than 2000 miles from West Baden, Ind., and back, to get $5000 bet on a "sure thing" in a horse race, and turned the money over to two confidence men in room 22 at the Laclede Hotel, in St. Louis, Wednesday afternoon.

After a fake fight in the hotel room the two swindlers departed with the money, telling Young they would return. He has not seen them since. Thursday, Young and his wife were pleading with the police to find the men who had swindled them out of their savings.

Young and his wife arrived at West Baden, a health resort, about 10 days ago. They had been there only a few hours when Young met an affable stranger, who introduced himself as C. H. Kleinfelder. Young and Kleinfelder became close friends on short acquaintance.

Suddenly Recalled Acquaintance.

When they were walking about town they met a man with whom Kleinfelder claimed acquaintance but who indignantly denied that he knew Kleinfelder. When Kleinfelder told this second stranger that he had a niece who was a relative of Judge Morgan of New York the stranger suddenly recalled their former acquaintance and shook hands.

The second stranger introduced himself as Mr. Rector of New York. At first he was secretive as to his own affairs, but after a few hours of companionship he confided to Young and Kleinfelder that he was a racetrack bookmaker on a vacation.

The bookmaker grew reminiscent and told of big "killings" he had seen bettors make on horse races. He said he was always in a position to get advance information on fixed races.

Kleinfelder seemed skeptical. He said he didn't believe anybody could get advance information as to what horse would win a race. Rector's pride was hurt. He suggested that as a test Kleinfelder bet the cigars that he couldn't pick a winner. Kleinfelder said that if a test were to be made he would prefer to bet money. Rector wouldn't take a large commission, he said, but if Kleinfelder and Young would put up $1 each he would show them what he could do. They put up the money.

Rector went away. That evening he returned to the hotel and gave Kleinfelder and Young $2 each, telling them he had picked a winner whose odds were 2 to 1. Grocer Young was convinced that Rector had inside information.

Several other small bets were placed and won. About a week ago Rector, visibly excited, met Young and Kleinfelder in the lobby of their hotel. He said he had a tip on a big killing on a race to be run Wednesday. It would be a 10 to 1 shot, he said, and was a sure thing.

Kleinfelder became recklessly enthusiastic. He said he was willing to put up $5000 on a chance to win $50,000. He at once wrote out a check for $5000, drawn on a bank in Atlantic City. Young, equally eager to get in on the "good thing," wrote a $5000 check on the Bank of British North America at Brandon, Canada.

Bookmaker Wanted Cash.

Rector was sorry, but he couldn't take checks. The bookmakers, he said, would not accept them and would demand cash. Kleinfelder said he would get his check cashed.

Young consulted his wife, Fidelia. She had faith in Rector's ability as a "sure-thing" picker and she agreed to go to Canada with her husband and get the cash from the bank.

Young and his wife, with the money, returned to West Baden from Canada Tuesday night.

Rector met them. He told Young that somebody was watching them at West Baden and that they must all go to St. Louis to complete the transaction. Young and his wife, with Kleinfelder and Rector, arrived in St. Louis Wednesday morning. They all went to the Laclede Hotel.

While Mrs. Young remained in her room, her husband and Rector went to Room 22, which had been engaged by Kleinfelder. Young turned over to Rector his $5000. There were one $1000 bill, $1000 in fives, and the rest in tens and twenties. All were Canadian bank notes. Kleinfelder handed to Rector what seemed to be a roll of bills. Rector said he had his own $5000 sewed in his trousers pocket. He let Young feel the bulge in the pocket. Rector left the room about 10 a. m., saying he was going to place the bet.

At noon Rector returned and told Young and Kleinfelder that he had bet the money, but not on the horse he originally had "tipped." He said he had heard of a better "sure thing" and had wagered the money on it.

Kleinfelder apparently became wild with rage. He jumped up, overturning his chair, and made a seemingly savage attack on Rector. Demanding to know why Rector had not bet the money as at first intended, he advanced on Rector, struck him in the face and stomach and knocked him across a bed.

Young pulled Kleinfelder away and pleaded with him not to punish Rector further. Rector showed signs of illness and moaned that the blow in the stomach had seriously injured him.

Kleinfelder softened. He seemed remorseful and sympathetic. "I'll take you to a doctor right up the street here, old man," he said.

It was arranged that Young should remain in the room until Kleinfelder and Rector returned from the doctor's. He waited five hours, and then telephoned to the police.

This is one of the oldest forms of swindling known to confidence men. It was practiced by the famous Maybray gang for years.

Young is 50 years old. When he and his wife departed from St. Louis at 11:30 a. m. he said to reporters:

"I wouldn't mind it so much, but they'll very likely kid the life out of me when I get home."

Mrs. Young was almost in a state of collapse when the train pulled out.

ST. LOUIS POLICEMAN WINS 160-ACRE FARM

Special Officer Tiffany Draws Prize at Fort Peck—Thinks of Raising Cattle.

Special Officer Hier G. Tiffany of 2815 Pennsylvania avenue, learned Thursday that he had drawn one of the 160-acre prizes in the recent Fort Peck, Mont., drawing for Government lands.

He and his wife went to Glasgow and Fort Peck to register. They spent a few days hunting on nearby waters and Mrs. Tiffany brought back a live teal duck which she is raising.

"I may go in for cattle raising in the spring," says Tiffany. "My old home is in Butte and the climate suits me. I had intended getting hold of a 640-acre tract next year. But the 160 will do to start on."

POLICE FIND MESSENGER UNCONSCIOUS ON STREET

Boy Suffering Concussion of Brain and Internal Injuries Taken to City Hospital.

Police are investigating the case of Wilford Howells, 15 years old, who was sent from his home, 2103 Franklin avenue, Wednesday, to the city hospital, suffering internal injuries, a concussion of the brain and external bruises.

Police found the boy, who is a messenger for the Western Union Telegraph Co., on Locust street between Twenty-third street and Jefferson avenue, lying in the street, unconscious, with his bicycle on top of him. An automobile whose name the police have not learned took the boy to the Washington University Hospital. Thence he was taken home.

The boy is unable to tell how he was hurt.

SULZER ATTORNEYS TO ASK DISMISSAL OF CHARGES TODAY

DEFENSE IS UNPREPARED

Action of State in Resting Case Is Surprise; Delay Till Monday to Be Sought.

By Associated Press.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 2.—There was no morning session of the Sulzer impeachment trial today, and this gave everybody connected with the case except the Governor's attorneys a chance to discuss and speculate on his probable defense.

The final plans of the Sulzer attorneys were drawn in a long conference with the Governor at the "People's House" this morning. Following out their rule—which they have stood by firmly—they made no statements.

It was believed that their first step would be to ask for a ruling from the Court on two things—the constitutionality of articles 1, 2 and 8, and whether the application to private uses of funds given without restriction constituted larceny.

Favorable Ruling Would End Case.

If the Court ruled favorably to the defense in the first of these questions, it was generally admitted that the case practically would be at an end. Most of the Board of Managers' case was built on these three articles.

The question of larceny also was a big one, for, with a few exceptions, contributors whose gifts were not accounted for in the Governor's campaign statement testified that they had not specified what use the Governor should make of the money they gave him.

The sudden closing of the case of the Board of Managers came as a surprise to the defense, and found them unprepared for opening their case. Senator Harvey D. Hinman, who had been selected to open the case for the Governor, had not completed his opening statement this morning, and he did not know when he would be able to finish it. Doubt was expressed if the Governor's side of the case would get under way until next week. At all events, it was planned to ask for an adjournment until Monday.

Josephthal to Aid Governor.

What effect the belated arrival of Lieutenant-Commander L. M. Josephthal would have on the case of the defense was a subject of much speculation. Immediately on reaching here he went into conference with the Governor at the executive mansion. Josephthal refused to discuss what the nature of his testimony would be, but reiterated his statement that it would be favorable to the defendant.

If the court rules against the motion of the Governor's counsel to dismiss the case on the grounds of unconstitutionality, Louis A. Sarecky, the Governor's campaign secretary, probably will be the first witness called. Sarecky indorsed many checks, given to the Governor during his campaign, which were not reported in Sulzer's sworn statement of his campaign contributions.

Both the Governor and Mrs. Sulzer are expected to take the stand before the defense closes. The Governor will defend his failure to report the numerous contributions on the ground that they were personal gifts, it is believed.

Mrs. Sulzer to Tell of Deals.

Mrs. Sulzer, it is said, will defend his alleged speculative transactions with testimony to show that they were conducted for her account. She is expected to tell the story of the loan she is said to have contracted with the Carnegie Trust Co., and seek to prove that for the sole purpose of paying the loan the Governor borrowed money from the Stock Exchange firm of Harris & Fuller on securities owned by her and did not speculate with them.

Whether the long missing Frederick L. Colwell, the Governor's alleged agent in his Wall street transactions, also will be called was a subject of much speculation. His whereabouts has been known to the Governor's attorneys, but they have declined to produce him unless it was stipulated that he would not be placed under arrest for refusing to obey a subpena of the Frawley Investigating Committee. This, counsel for the impeachment managers said, they were powerless to prevent.

Many Witnesses Not Called.

Many witnesses under subpena, including William J. Conners of Buffalo and Hugh J. Reilly of New York, a railroad builder, were not called. They are subpenaed to testify as to contributions they are supposed to have made.

The final shot of the managers was the testimony of John B. Gray, members of the brokerage firm of Fuller & Gray, which handled "account 500" for Frederick L. Colwell. Gray testified that Colwell had told him this account was Gov. Sulzer's. Gray also said he had contributed through Colwell to the Governor's campaign fund upon a representation that it would bring him business.

BALKE WEDS CHORUS GIRL

Event Revealed in First Wife's Suit Against Millionaire's Son.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Through an answer filed in Supreme Court by William W. Balke of Cincinati, millionaire son of one of the founders of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co., to an action by his former wife, Mrs. Katherine McKeown Balke, to collect alimony, it was revealed Balke has married again.

His second wife, it is said, was a chorus girl. Balke, it is said, married her early last summer. They have lived since in this city and Long Beach, spending money lavishly.

SUPREME COURT TO HEAR ARGUMENT ON MILL TAX OCT. 28

Last Step in City's Nine-Year Fight for $2,000,000 to Be Taken in Jefferson City.

ADVANCED ON DOCKET

Final Decision in Battle With United Railways Expected in January.

The final step in the city's long fight to collect $2,000,000 from the United Railways Co., under the mill-tax ordinance, will be taken at Jefferson City, Oct. 28, when the State Supreme Court, sitting en banc, will hear arguments on the appeal of the railways company from the judgment of the St. Louis Circuit Court. By agreement between counsel for the city and the United Railways Co., and on the plea that the prompt disposition of the case vitally concerns the people of St. Louis and the street car corporation, the Supreme Court, which is more than two years behind on its regular docket, consented to advance the case for hearing to the earliest possible time.

Efforts were made by City Counselor Baird, for the city, and former Judge Henry S. Priest, representing the United Railways Co., to persuade the Court to order the hearing before the summer recess, but this request the Court denied.

Decision in January Predicted.

It is now predicted by attorneys on both sides that the Supreme Court's ruling, which is expected to settle the mill tax controversy for all time, will be handed down early next year, possibly in January.

The appeal bond filed by the United Railways Co. is for $3,000,000, with the Mercantile and Mississippi Valley Trust companies as sureties. Before the trust companies signed the bonds they required the United Railways Co to deposit with them bonds of an aggregate value of $2,375,000, which is $875,000 in excess of the judgments already rendered against the company.

Judgments aggregating $1,500,000 were appealed from the St. Louis Circuit Court.

The appeal, when finally passed on by the Supreme Court of Missouri, will determine whether the United Railways will have to pay the mill tax, which now aggregates about $2,000,000.

Law Enacted in 1904.

The mill tax law went into effect in 1904. It required street car companies to pay to the city one-tenth of a cent, or one mill, for every 5-cent passenger carried. These payments, the ordinance directed, must be paid quarterly. Failure or neglect to pay, within 9 days after receiving notice from the city that the money was due, was declared to be a misdemeanor, punishable by a fine of $100 to $500. Each day's failure to pay, it was ordained, should constitute a separate offense.

Soon after the ordinance became effective, the United Railways Co. filed suit to restrain the city from enforcing it, alleging that the new requirement was an impairment of contract. The company contended that its franchises were a contract with the city under which they made certain payments for their privileges, and that they could not be required to pay more.

Federal Judges Finkelnburg and Adams here upheld this contention, but the United States Supreme Court, in November, 1908, reversed their judgment, holding that the franchises contained no such contract as the traction lawyers sought to read into them.

Leaves City Free to Act.

This decision, which was not affected by some later skirmishing in the Federal Courts, left the city free to collect the tax by whatever means it could without interference with the United States Courts on any such ground as that which had been considered.

But it did not enable the city to put its hands on the money due.

Two methods lay before Charles W. Bates, then City Counselor. One was to prosecute the United Railways Co. in police court and get the money by collection of fines therein imposed.

The other possible method was to sue for the amount due as a debt. This plan was followed.

Bates Began Suit in 1909.

Bates instituted suits at the February term of the Circuit Court in 1909. The United Railways Co. delayed matters by an injunction proceeding, but later withdrew the injunction petition and filed a demurrer which was overruled by Judge Homer, Feb. 14, 1910, and the company then began its defense.

City Counselor Walther, who had succeeded to the litigation in the meantime, filed more suits as amounts due for the recurring quarters accrued, and he also demanded that the issues already settled by the Federal Court be left out of the company's defenses. He won his fight to strike out a large part of the defense and Nov. 7, 1911, the first actual trial of suit for money due the city under the mill tax began in Judge Grimm's court. March 11 last Judge Grimm rendered a judgment for the full amount comprised in the suit, with interest, the total amounting to $32,828.20. A motion of the company for a new trial was overruled Oct. 14 and the company then appealed to the Supreme Court.

Subsequently, decisions of other Judges of the circuit were adverse to the United Railways Co., and judgments against the company began to pile up rapidly.

STATE TAKES UP GRADE CROSSINGS ELIMINATION PLAN

Public Service Commission Meets With City Officials and Railroad Men.

The first meeting of the new State Public Service Commission in St. Louis was held at the Planters Hotel Thursday to consider plans for abolishing grade crossings. Railroad and street railway officials were present and the city administration was represented by Mayor Kiel and President Kinsey of the Board of Public Improvements.

The railroad men expressed themselves as being willing to co-operate with the city to abolish grades, but the one great problem they have to solve, they said is that of financing the work. The roads have not sufficient funds, they said, to carry on the work that would be required and the present transportation rates have reduced their earning capacity to a stage that prevents them from getting credit.

Explains Railways' Position.

J. L. Minnis, general solicitor for the Wabash, outlined the railroad's position. Representatives of other roads said that facts stated by Minnis applied to their companies as well as to the Wabash.

Unless the railroads are permitted to increase their rates and thus promote their earning capacity, Minnis said, they cannot pay for the undertaking.

"We will cheerfully permit our engineers to work in conjunction with the city's engineers and the engineer employed by your commission," Minnis said, "but after a plan for separating the crossings has been agreed upon we will still have the most important question unanswered and that is, where are we going to get the money with which to have the work done?"

J. F. Green, representing the Missouri Pacific, said that while the railroads appreciate the fact that the commission will deal with them in a spirit of fairness, he still feared that the financial burden imposed on the railroads will be so heavy that the companies will have to appeal to the courts.

At the conclusion of the meeting Chairman Atkinson said that engineers representing the railroads will confer with city engineers and the commission's expert at the City Hall a week from next Monday.

John M. Atkinson, chairman of the commission, announced that the meeting was informal and was called for the purpose of obtaining information from all sides as to grade crossing conditions in St. Louis and as to the best and quickest way of eliminating the crossings.

Sitting with Chairman Atkinson were Commissioners William F. Woerner of St. Louis, John Kennish of Kansas City, Dr. H. B. Shaw of Columbia and Frank A. Wightman of Monett.

Expert Condemns Crossings.

H. L. Harrop, civil engineer and grade crossing expert, specially retained by the commission, in a report submitted at a meeting, said that grade crossings of the Missouri Pacific, Iron Mountain, Wabash and Rock Island system within the limits of St. Louis were dangerous and recommended that they be eliminated as soon as possible.

The railroads and street car systems were represented at the meeting as follows:

Missouri Pacific—James F. Green, counsel; C. E. Smith, assistant chief engineer; S. L. Wanson, bridge department chief, and R. T. Railey.

Burlington—F. H. Ustick, general superintendent; R. W. Willis, district engineer; O. M. Spencer and Morris D. Roberts.

Frisco—F. G. Jonan, chief engineer.

Wabash—A. O. Cunningham, chief engineer and J. L. Minais, general solicitor.

Terminal Association—J. L. Howell, attorney.

Rock Island—C. A. Moss, chief engineer.

McKinley System—E. B. Bell, superintendent.

United Railways—Richard McCulloch, vice-president.

Calls Crossing a Death Trap.

Commissioner Woerner called attention to the Poplar street grade line of the Missouri Pacific system and characterized it as a death trap. He said the city had been powerless to abolish the grade crossings on this line because the franchise was granted by the State before the Constitution of 1865 was adopted. He said he could see no reason why a State body could not remedy the evil, though the city could not.

Woerner called attention to the Pennsylvania's recent decision to spend $300,000,000 in 50 years to abolish all grade crossings on its lines. It had found, he said, that the saving of accident damages would more than offset the initial expenditure.

Harrop submitted a report in which he gave a list of St. Louis grade crossings which should be abolished.

In this report Harrop said: "The heavy grades on the Poplar street line of the Missouri Pacific system are the greatest source of danger. A brake failure or the derailment of an east-bound train would result in serious disaster."

The Poplar street line runs from the river to the Terminal yards and crosses street car tracks at Fourth street, Broadway, Sixth street and Seventh street. Harrop says he believes three months would be a reasonable time within which to furnish general plans for eliminating the Poplar street crossings.

Other Objectionable Crossings.

On the Oak Hill branch of the Missouri Pacific system, Harrop says, crossings should be abolished at Broadway, Ivory avenue, Koein avenue, Gravois avenue, King's highway, Shaw avecue, Tower Grove station and Chouteau avenue.

He points out that at the Gravois avenue crossing conditions are exceptionally bad because of a heavy street grade descending from the south to the railroad tracks. He classes this crossing and those at Chouteau avenue and Tower Grove as the worst on the Oak Hill line.

Harrop recommends that on the Wabash all grade crossings between Sarah street and the Delmar station should be eliminated. The crossings are at Sarah street, Lindell boulevard, Union avenue, De Baliviere avenue and Delmar boulevard. Harrop notes that the Delmar crossing with a double track street car line is the most dangerous of these.

The Rock Island crossings which should be suppressed, Harrop says, are at De Baliviere avenue and Skinker road. At the Skinker road crossing there is a double track street car line.

It is recommended that the railroads be required to submit grade crossing abolition plans to the Public Service Commission within 90 days.

FOLK RECEIVES THAW'S PROTEST AT DEPORTATION

State Department Solicitor Will Examine Treaty Before Considering Message.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Solicitor Folk of the State Department received in his mail today the protest which Harry Thaw sent through Senator Oliver to the State Department against Thaw's deportation from Canada on Sept. 10.

Pending a study of the treaty provisions between Great Britain and the United States, Folk declined to say what action he would take respecting Thaw's request that the State Department ask for an explanation from the British Embassy of the action of the Canadian authorities in forcing him out of the Dominion.

Thaw Grand Jury Indicts No One in Connection With Escape.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., Oct. 2.—The grand jury that has been considering charges in connection with the escape of Harry Thaw from the Matteawan asylum will be discharged next Monday. The jury took a recess last week until Oct. 6, and it is understood that no indictments were found against Thaw or anyone else who might have been charged with helping him to escape.

District Attorney Conge applied for the discharge of the grand jury today and County Judge Hasbrouck promised to grant the request on Monday. Conger said that after a conference last night with William T. Jerome, it had been decided that New York and Dutchess counties would hereafter leave the Thaw case in the hands of the Attorney-General.

The Missouri Association for the Blind
Has opened a department for the sale of baskets and other goods made by the blind in an attractive rustic pavilion opposite the north elevators on the Second Floor.

Miss Bessie Beane will be in charge of the department. Miss Beane, who has been blind since infancy, is a graduate of the Missouri School for the Blind. She will record orders and sales in raised type and copy the names and addresses on the typewriter.

Miss Sarah Wood will make baskets at this exhibit. The baskets are strong and durable, practical in size and shape, and of artistic design and color.

Samples of brooms made at the workshop for the blind will be shown and orders taken. Dusters, towels, aprons and other articles will also be sold.

STIX, BAER & FULLER D. G. CO. GRAND-LEADER
Entire Block—Sixth, Washington, Seventh and Lucas

This Is, Indeed, One Great Lace Sale!

Women, as a class, are not more familiar with any one line of merchandise than Laces.

That's why we are exulting over the fact that dozens of women have told us that "You are, indeed, maintaining your reputation as 'The Lace Store of St Louis.'"

This is an opportunity which dressmakers and hundreds of other women are taking advantage of to supply needed Laces.

Tomorrow is going to be one of the most eventful days of this sale, and we earnestly advise you to be present early.

Four Splendid Lots of St. Gall Laces
Bands, Galloons and Edges—imitations of real Venise and Point de Rose, so cleverly wrought on the finest of nets that they can hardly be distinguished from those made by hand. Not only do they resemble the real in texture, but also in color. Many come in white, others in ecru. The prices are just a fraction of their actual value.

$1 to $1.50 qualities, 69c yard
$2 to $3 qualities, 98c yard
$3.25 to $3.75 qualities, $1.25
$4 to $5 qualities, $1.98 yard

50c Brussels Net Edges, 10c Yard
Only 3000 yards of these Black Brussels Net Edges, cleverly embroidered in designs which remind one of the Rococo period. The embroidery work is done in silk of the most beautiful shades. For frills and trimming purposes they have no equal. Regular 50c quality—at 10c yd.
(Bargain Square 16, Main Floor.)

JOHN M. ATKINSON IS SUGGESTED AS STONE'S OPPONENT

"Major and I" Put Forth New Candidate to Make Race for U. S. Senatorship.

GRAVES ALSO MENTIONED

Strong Pressure Brought to Bear on Supreme Court Justice to Enter Contest.

John M. Atkinson, chairman of the State Public Service Commission, is the latest suggestion of the "Major and I" political forces in Missouri to oppose William J. Stone for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

At the Planters Hotel Thursday, Atkinson told a Post-Dispatch reporter that he preferred not to talk politics at this time.

"Is it true that you expect to enter the senatorial race next year?" Atkinson was asked.

"Now," he remarked, "that is a delicate question and I don't think I ought to say anything about it. Just at present I am doing all I can to carry out my duties as a Public Service Commissioner. The commission is getting along nicely and I wouldn't object to talking about our work. What will or won't happen next year in politics—well, that's something else. I would like to know why the inquiry is made."

Months Required to Stump State.

State political leaders have been informed that Gov. Major is desirous of getting a candidate into the field at once against Senator Stone, as several months will be required to stump the State and get the "Major and I" political fences into apple pie condition.

Strong pressure has been brought to bear on Supreme Judge Walter W. Graves to make the race. While Judge Graves is receiving encouragement from the Francis-Major wing of the Missouri Democracy (otherwise "Major and I"), he has many friends among the Democratic rank and file who have not been allied with the present State administration. In Kansas City, St. Louis and St. Joseph, Judge Graves has been promised the aid of influential Democratic lieutenants who are identified with William S. Cowherd of Kansas City.

In the rural districts, advisers of Judge Graves are confident, they say, that not a few of the old Stone faction will rally to his candidacy, if he should consent to run.

Judge Graves still has several years to serve on the Supreme bench. In the event that he obtained the nomination he would resign from the bench, his friends say.

Stone Followers Are Gleeful.

On the other hand the Stone men are elated over the fact that Stone thus far, in co-operation with Senator Reed, has managed to control the important Federal appointments in Missouri, not the least important of which was the selection of former Gov. A. M. Dockery as Third Assistant Postmaster-General.

Dockery is said to have an influential voice in determining the various postmastership contests throughout the State and the political wiseacres insist he cannot afford to overlook Stone's interests. Dockery has been spending the past week in Missouri, feeling out sentiment on the senatorial issue. Some of the former supporters of Joseph W. Folk now a subordinate under Secretary of State Bryan, are leaning to the Stone cause and the Stone men are losing no occasion to praise the work of the Senator at Washington in connection with currency and tariff legislation.

COMMERCE COURT JUDGES' TERMS EXTENDED TO 1914

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The term of office of the five Circuit Judges now serving in the United States Commerce Court, which would have ended at once under the provisions made recently by the House, have been extended to Dec. 31 by the Senate Appropriations Committee.

The committee indorsed the provision abolishing the Commerce Court, and legislating its five judges out of office, but gave the latter about three months in which to prepare for their retirement.

The Senate Committee added to the deficiency appropriation bill $20,000 for the payment of assistants to the Attorney-General and District Attorneys in special Government cases, $8540 for a deficiency in the fund for the enforcement of anti-trust laws, and increased the salary of the assistant to the Attorney-General from $7000 to $9000. An appropriation of $10,000 for the Federal Board of Mediation and Conciliation was added to the bill.

BURGLARS STEAL STORE

Clothing Merchant Finds Entire Stock Carted Away in Night.

DECATUR, Ill., Oct. 2.—When Harry Goldbatts opened up his clothing store at Taylorville today he found that his entire stock had disappeared during the night.

Thieves had carted off the goods in a wagon.

People's Popular Wants Lead Three Others During September.

The Post-Dispatch printed 10,407 Boarders' Wants during last month, 412 more than three of the four other St. Louis newspapers combined. The Big Boarders' Directory continues to furnish the biggest selection of desirable vacancies in St. Louis and suburbs and as the ONE BIG result medium for advertisers still maintains its place at the top without a competitor.

ATTACKED BY ROBBERS, MAN JUMPS TO SAFETY

Ernest Baldwin, Accosted Near Pattonville Home, Leaps Down Embankment.

Ernest Baldwin, private secretary of Henry Chouteau & Co., stock and bond brokers, was attacked Wednesday night by two highwaymen near his home at Pattonville, St. Louis County, and escaped by leaping down an embankment on the Fee Fee road. In a search of two hours, residents of the suburb failed to find Baldwin's assailants.

He got off a train at 7:40 p. m. and started to his home, three blocks distant. As he reached the Fee Fee schoolhouse he saw a man cross the street and enter the gate.

As Baldwin stepped aside the man's companion jumped from behind a pole and struck him in the head, knocking off his hat. As the man raised his arm to strike him again, Baldwin leaped down the embankment and ran down the road, where he met John Phosen, a neighbor, in a buggy. He and Phosen told several neighbors and a searching party was formed.

COURT GIVES CHILD TO MAN'S ESTRANGED WIFE

Husband Offers to Fit Up Separate Apartment for Wife at Home, She Refuses.

Judge Hitchcock, in the Circuit Court, Thursday, made an order taking Mary Champion, aged 6, from the custody of her father, William E. Champion, a street car conductor of 4004A Maffitt avenue, and giving her to her mother, Mrs. Clara E. Champion, 538 Bates street. The order was made in a habeas corpus action brought by the mother.

The parents have been separated for some time and Judge Jones, some time ago, denied petitions for divorce to both in the husband's suit and the wife's crossbill. Since the separation the child has been with her father.

(Champion's attorney, William H. Killoren, told Judge Hitchcock the husband was willing to fit up apartments at his home for Mrs. Champion and she could live there with the girl although not as his wife. Mrs. Champion refused the offer.

MISSOURIAN SPEAKER AT BIG ROADS CONGRESS

J. M. Lowe, National Old Trails Chief, on Program at Detroit Meeting.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 2.—The American Roads Congress, now meeting here, announced that today was road users day, and the principal session was held under the auspices of the American Automobile Association. Among those who were expected to address the congress were: J. M. Lowe of Missouri, president of the National Old Trails Association; John N. Carlisle, chairman of the New York Commission on Highways, and N. P. Hull of Michigan, member of the Legislative Committee of the National Grange.

The American Highway Association will hold its annual meeting tonight for the election of officers and directors and the transaction of its official business.

ELOPERS TO BE REMARRIED

Issuance of License Reveals Secret Ceremony in July.

The issuance of a marriage license Wednesday at Clayton to Joseph K. C. Smith, 21 years old, of 5036A Von Versen avenue, and Miss Camille Waughop, 18, of 5157 Cates avenue, disclosed that they had been secretly married July 30 at the home of the Rev. C. F. Stark, 4579 Page boulevard.

They will be remarried Thursday night under the rites of the Episcopal Church, of which both families are members, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. W. Waughop, by the Rev. C. F. Blaisdell, rector of St. Philip's Church.

After their marriage the couple returned to their own homes, and their secret did not become known until a week ago. Then a church ceremony was decided on. Smith is an auctioneer.

BUREAU WOULD ABOLISH ONE-ROOM SCHOOL HOUSE

Old-Fashioned Country Institution Would Be Replaced by Centralized School.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The old fashioned one-room schoolhouse of the country cross-roads, within whose walls many of the country's most illustrious men received the rudiments of their education, would be entirely a thing of the past if the United States Bureau of Education had its way.

Its place would be taken by the consolidated or centralized school, as recommended in a bulletin just issued by the bureau. Wherever change can be made without too great expense and without breaking up or disintegrating existing communities, it should be done, says the bureau.

There is constant improvement in the facilities offered by the one-room rural school, particularly in relating school work to the farm needs, it is reported, but fewer and better schools with transportation furnished to pupils living at a distance is the recommendation.

Publisher Held for Grand Jury.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Michael Kennerly, publisher, who was arretsed a week ago, at the instance of Anthony Comstock, for having sent a copy of "Hagar Revelley," by a St. Louis author, through the mails, waived examination before United States Commissioner Shields. He was held in $1500 bail to await the action of the Federal grand jury. He gave surety.

PRESIDENT TO SEE OLD 'CAPITOL' REDEDICATED

Congress Hall at Philadelphia Restored to Original Form—Celebration Soon.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—President Wilson, members of his Cabinet, Justices of the Supreme Court, the British, French and Spanish Ambassadors, delegations from both houses of Congress and many of the Governors of the 16 states which were in the Union in 1800, are expected to attend the celebration in this city of the restoration of Congress Hall to its original form.

The President stated recently that he could not be here on Oct. 18, the date originally decided on, and another date will be fixed to suit his convenience. It was announced today that a message had been received from the President in which he said: "I intend to come. I feel it my duty to come to the rededication of such a national monument as Congress Hall."

Frisco Seeks Water Power Rights.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The California delegation in Congress has urged President Wilson to support the bill granting water power rights to the city of San Francisco in the Hetch Hetchy Valley. The bill, passed by the House, is expected to pass the Senate. It is opposed by persons who contend the project will injure Yosemite Park.

Counterfeiting on Decrease Says Chief of Secret Service

Credit Given to Courts

Flynn Says Only Jobs He Now Has Are Guarding President and Catching Counterfeiters.

WILL BE HERE TWO DAYS

Declares U. S. Detectives Would Have Caught Hans Schmidt Had Faurot Failed.

WILLIAM J. FLYNN.

William J. Flynn, chief of the United States Secret Service, who is making a two-days' visit to St. Louis, has only two things to do. One is to keep bodily harm from coming to the President of the United States. The other is to keep counterfeit money, counterfeit postage stamps or revenue stamps, from being made or circulated anywhere in the United States.

Flynn came here to testify against Robert H. Davis, an El Paso counterfeiter, who passed "raised" $5 bills in South St. Louis. Davis pleaded guilty, and testimony was not required. The chief delayed his return to Washington long enough to look over the work in and around St. Louis.

Flynn, who succeeded John E. Wilkie as chief last December, and who previously reorganized the New York Detective Bureau for Mayor Gaynor, is big and affable. He has the look of the sedentary police official, rather than of the traditional detective.

Counterfeiting at a Minimum.

"Except for the men who look after the President's safety," said Flynn to a reporter, "every man in the United States Secret Service is engaged in the work of hunting counterfeiters. At present, counterfeiting seems to be at a minimum. The credit for this is not all ours. The severe sentences imposed on counterfeiters lately by Federal judges have done much to discourage counterfeiting.

"Our force is much smaller than is generally supposed. Formerly we performed various duties for several departments of the Government, but now, under act of Congress, we deal with counterfeiting and protect the person of the President, and have no other work.

"Dealing with counterfeiters is hard, in that they are among the shrewdest and most deliberate criminals. It is easy, in that all cases take about the same course, and in that, from the nature of the work, the counterfeiter who keeps on is sure to be caught.

"In 24 to 30 hours after a number of counterfeit coins or bills are put into circulation, one or more of them will be discovered, and our men will know of it. The description of the counterfeit, with any defects it may have, is then wired to Washington headquarters, and the counterfeit itself is sent on by mail. Immediately a circular to secret service agents and bankers is prepared, and secret service men get hold of every copy that they can, and trace it as far back as they can, getting descriptions of the men from whom it appears to have come. If the counterfeiters use 'shovers' to pass the stuff it may take a little longer to find them than it does if they pass it themselves.

No Arrests Made on Suspicion.

"Our agents do not arrest men on suspicion. That is why our record of convictions and pleas of guilty is very high, amounting to 80 per cent of all persons arrested on counterfeiting charges.

"Our men at times have to go into small neighborhoods and live among the people, to get evidence. Men who do this must make themselves like other people, so as to attract no unusual attention. When a detective attracts especial attention to himself his chance of getting results is spoiled. If a man should put on any of the stuff known in detective fiction as 'disguise,' false whiskers, goggles and the like, he would have a crowd following him in the street wondering what he was advertising.

"The best detective is the man who has rubbed elbows with the people of a big city, and who possesses intellect, judgment and experience."

Hardest Cases Appear Insignificant.

Chief Flynn believes that Hans Schmidt, the New York priest-murderer, would have been caught by secret service men in a short time, if he had not been arrested for murder through the thorough work of Inspector Faurot. Schmidt and his partner, Muret, had paper, plates, ink and presses ready for the work of counterfeiting, and had taken proofs, but had not made any "money" which looked to them good enough to attempt to pass.

"Some of the hardest cases for us to solve," said Flynn, "are those of which the public takes least account. A man who made $40,000 'worth' of counterfeit pennies in New York was one of the hardest men we ever had to catch, partly because no one ever thinks of questioning the genuineness of a copper coin. Another hard case was that of Angeloni, who made 50,000 silver half-dollars, of almost the same fineness as Treasury coins. At the prevailing price of silver, anyone can make coins with as much silver as the Government coins contain, and can still make nearly 100 per cent. But this takes capital, enough capital to get steel dies and a hydraulic press."

Beer Mallet Bishop's Gavel.

DETROIT, Minn., Oct. 2.—Bishop Quale of St. Paul today used as a gavel at the Northern Minnesota Episcopal Conference a mallet that formerly did service in tapping beer kegs in a local saloon. The gavel was presented to the Bishop by a member of the State Anti-Saloon League, who remarked that the saloon closed when the present administration came into power.

GIRL CAPTURES A THIEF

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 2.—Miss Helen Shepard, a young society woman, yesterday gave chase when a man snatched her handbag, and after a race of nearly a mile captured Ernest Quimby, who was charged with being the thief. Persons who witnessed the robbery also identified him.

Quimby once escaped from Miss Shepard, but in the next block she met him and again gave chase, catching him after a run of two blocks. She held him until the police arrived.

CAUCUS OPENS WAY FOR SENATE ACTION ON TARIFF MEASURE

Democrats Agree to Program of Bill's Managers; Malcontents to Aid Majority.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Democratic support for the conference report on the tariff bill appeared to be united when the Senate today began the final consideration of the Democratic revision measure. The all-day caucus of yesterday, which had threshed out the differences within party ranks, and brought about unanimous support of the conference report, led Chairman Simmons of the Finance Committee to hope that there would be little delay in securing final action on the bill.

Republican Senators had not disclosed the extent of their proposed criticism of the conference agreement when the day's work began in the Senate, but it was expected that Senators La Follette, Penrose and others would speak at some length.

The decision of Senate Democrats to drop the entire cotton futures question out of the present tariff law is expected to meet with the approval of the House. The latter body indorsed the proposed compromise Tuesday only by a narrow margin, and many of those who voted for it, including Democratic Leader Underwood, said they would prefer to have the whole question treated in separate legislation rather than in an amendment to the tariff bill.

Battle Is Long and Hard.

The battle over the conference report was long and loud in the Democratic Senate caucus which last night approved the tariff bill but abandoned its position on the proposition to tax cotton futures. This feature of the tariff bill probably will be dropped altogether and made the subject of special legislation at the next regular session of Congress. It is believed that the House will agree to drop its Smith-Levins amendment, and the Democratic Senators, having adopted a motion to throw out the Clarke amendment, the tariff bill probably will be ready for action this afternoon.

While the Democratic Senators were debating the conference report, Senator Lewis of Illinois offered a resolution proposing to bind Democrats by the caucus. The resolution was withdrawn, with the understanding that the binding nature of former tariff caucuses applied to the entire consideration of the tariff bill.

Various Provisions Debated.

Various provisions of the new tariff bill came up for debate in the caucus, chief among which were the tax of $1.10 a gallon on grape brandy used to fortify sweet wines and the differential between wire rope and wire in completed cables. Senator Pomerene of Ohio led the opposition to the former proposition and Senators Reed of Missouri and Hughes of New Jersey led the opposition to the second.

Reed and Pomerene framed a resolution directing that the report be sent back to the Conference Committee with instructions that these provisions be altered. Senator Simmons moved as a substitute that the conference report be accepted. The substitute motion was carried by a vote of 33 to 6, Senators Reed, Pomerene, Vardaman, Hollis, O'Gorman and Hughes voting against it.

SUES WIFE WHO DIDN'T SPEAK TO HIM IN 5 YEARS

Charles S. Coulter Asks Divorce, Alleging Wife Advised Children to Ignore Him.

Charles S. Coulter, a clerk for the Wabash Railroad in St. Louis, filed suit Thursday in Clayton for a divorce from Julia G. Coulter of 4302 Penrose street, alleging indignities. They were married April 20, 1891, in St. Louis, and separated July 7, 1912, the petition says. They have two grown children.

The petition asserts that Coulter earns a good salary, which he turned over to his wife regularly, and that Mrs. Coulter was indiscreet in spending it, and employed detectives to spy on him.

For five years Mrs. Coulter had habitually failed to speak to him, and had advised their children to ignore him, Coulter says. Mrs. Coulter frequently attempted to quarrel with him, the husband asserts, and for three years before the separation was unmindful of her household duties.

KUHN ELECTED BY MASONS

Kansas City Man Will Have Charge of Lodge Home.

William F. Kuhn of Kansas City, was elected president of the Masonic Home of Missouri at a meeting held Wednesday in conjunction with the convention of the Grand Lodge of Masons. He will succeed the late E. F. Allen, who died in August. The other officers of the institution elected were: Vice-presidents, V. A. Saunders, St. Louis, and A. M. Dockery, Gallatin; treasurer, Campbell Wells, Platte County; secretary, Ida Downey, St. Louis.

Van Freemont Boor, of Kansas City, was elected grand master at the business session of the Grand Lodge. He will succeed Jacob Lampert, of St. Louis, retiring Grand Master. The other officers chosen were: Deputy-grand master, C. A. Mosman, St. Joseph; grand senior warden, T. W. Cotton, Vanburen; grand junior warden, F. R. Jesse, Mexico; grand treasurer, A. C. Stewart, St. Louis; grand secretary, John R. Parsons, St. Louis.

LADY DE FREYNE, CALLED BARMAID, PREPARES SUIT

Wife of Titled U. S. Private Declares She Has Been Libeled; Will Ask Damages.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Lady de Freyne, wife of the Hon. Arthur Reginald French, formerly a private in the United States army, and who became the fifth Baron de Freyne by the death of his father three weeks ago, is living at No. 20 Wigmore street, London, one of the fashionable districts of the metropolis.

Messrs Collier & Collier, her solicitors, say they are issuing writs for libel against London and continental newspapers which have published the statement that she was a barmaid when young French married her in 1902. Lady Annabel also is angry at the publicity given to her former divorce. It is reported here that she has been separated some time from Lord de Freyne and is without the slightest knowledge of his whereabouts.

When young French enlisted in the United States army in 1905, his allowance of $2500 a year was paid to his wife. The young private lived on his pay of $13 a month while in America.

EX-GOV. BROWN'S SON PLAYS SEPTEMBER MORN

BALTIMORE, Oct. 2.—Frank Brown, clubman and son of former Gov. Brown, has been playing "September Morn" in the public fountain and pool in front of "Millionaire's Row" in Washington place, this city. It was in this fountain that Miss Louise Morris and Harry Lehr, whom she subsequently married waded one night some years ago.

Brown and Harris O'Neill, a racetrack man of New York, were discussing the question of nerve. A plunge into the fountain was suggested. They turned the trick. The couple removed their clothing in an alley nearby, leaped through a tulip bed and plunged into the sparkling pool.

ANOTHER ST. LOUIS MERCHANT GIVES HIS OPINION ON IMPORTANT SUBJECT

The Subject of Good Health Is Always Important. Mr. H. Yatkeman Recommends Plant Juice After Testing It.

MR. H. YATKEMAN.

Mr. H. Yatkeman, who is a well known merchant of this city, having been in the clothing and tailoring business for the past eight years at 2309 Market Street. Mr. Yatkeman's telephone is Bell, Bomont 1954, has the following to say about Plant Juice:

"I have been taking Plant Juice for stomach trouble and nervousness and the results in my case have been fine. I have taken two bottles and it has done me so much good that I am glad to recommend it to others."

No remedy ever offered to the people of St. Louis has ever had so many personal endorsements from the oldest and best known citizens of the city. If this remedy were other than what it is claimed to be these testimonials would not be forthcoming. Plant Juice has firmly established itself in homes of the people of Missouri during the past few months and has restored thousands of sick and ailing men and women to health and happiness. No remedy of modern times has been so successful in the treatment of all derangements of the stomach, liver, kidneys and blood as Plant Juice; it clears the blood of all impurities, tones up the stomach and digestive organs, stimulates the liver into healthy action, corrects constipation and regulates the bowels. Those who suffer from indigestion with gas and bloating after meals, sour stomach, headache, pains across the back and in the joints, poor circulation, rheumatism and malaria will find quick and sure relief in Plant Juice. The special man is at the Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. store, Sixth and Washington; get a bottle from him and if it does not help you he will return your money. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by this offer.—ADV.

INSANE PATIENT IS BEATEN TO DEATH BY THREE GUARDS

Former Kankakee Hospital Attendant Admits Killing Man Who Wouldn't Stay in Bed.

IMPLICATES TWO OTHERS

One Held Lunatic, 78, While Two Strangled and Struck Him.

By Associated Press.

KANKAKEE, Ill., Oct. 2.—Blows dealt to Carl C. Holst of Paxton, Ill., an insane patient 78 years old, so that he suffered from six broken ribs and died, were the methods employed to keep him in bed at the Kankakee State Hospital for the Insane, according to a confession made by William Wolfe, a former hospital attendant.

Wolfe is charged with murder. He implicated John Mahan, a hospital employe, who also was arrested, and another former employe who has not been apprehended.

Holst died last March. A few days after he had been received as a patient he was moved because of restlessness to a ward where the less tractable patients are held. He insisted on getting out of bed and it was because of this, according to Wolfe, that he was fatally beaten.

Decided to "Fix" Patient.

Angry because of the patient's actions, Wolfe said, they decided to "fix" him so he would remain in bed.

Wolfe stated he held Holst while Mahan and the third employe did the beating. The next day a physician learned that Holst's ribs were broken and that he was severely beaten on the face and head. He died a few days later from the injuries.

Wolfe's confession was made to State's Attorney Dyer. In it Wolfe said he wanted to tell all because he was satisfied the authorities had sufficient evidence against him.

Since his arrest Wolfe, who came from Nashville, N. C., has been unable to furnish bond.

Strangled and Beat Patient.

"Holst would not stay in bed," Wolfe said in his confession. "Then Mahan said, 'We will put him in bed and keep him in bed.' Mahan told me to hold the patient's hands and he and the third employe would beat him. I held his hands and Mahan and the third employe held him around his neck and strangled and beat him.

"Holst did not get up the next morning, and a doctor came in to see him. Mahan said: 'Now listen, this fellow is going to the hospital. He is beat up pretty bad. If they ask you anything about it, say that he would not stay in bed and fell across the foot of the bed. Don't tell anything else. Mahan was in charge and it was because of his orders that I held Holst's hands while they beat him."

GIRL, 16, CARRIES MAIL OF 30-MILE MOUNTAIN ROUTE

Floe Brown Makes Daily Trip Even When Horse Must Swim Flooded River.

BAKERSFIELD, Mo., Oct. 2.—Traveling over the lonely Ozark Mountain roads between Bakersfield and Henderson, a village in Baxter County, Ark., six days of the week, regardless of the condition of the weather, and serving patrons along the route as faithfully as would a man better able physically to endure the hardships of the 15-mile trip, Miss Floe Brown is believed to be the youngest mail carrier in the country. She is 16 years old and is a member of a family that has long held the contract to distribute and collect the mail between Bakersfield and Henderson.

Miss Brown is one of seven daughters of Asa Brown, a farmer, who lives a few miles north of Henderson. All her sisters have at different times had charge of the mail route, each having had her turn at the work. During the years that the Brown family has been carrying the mails the work has been arranged so that all could get a chance to attend the district school, going from there to the academy at Mountain Home, Ark. From there they have gone to more lucrative positions or to make happy homes of their own.

Usually Rides Horseback.

Most of the time Miss Brown rides horseback, a leather bag containing the mail being slung across the back of her saddle. When the roads are in the best condition she makes the trip in a light buggy. Besides serving the farmhouses along the way she serves two small villages, Gamaliel and Custer. Both are wayside places, but have a large postoffice patronage among the farmers who live in the hills for miles around.

The most dangerous part of the trip is in crossing North Fork River, a mountain stream nearly as wide as White River. At certain season the water rushes in a raging torrent. The river is fordable when the water is at normal stage, but when there is a rise crossing even on the boat is dangerous. Frequently when North Fork has been past fording Miss Brown has braved the danger of death in the swift current by swimming her horse across. She always has reached the opposide side of the stream in safety, her skirts dripping, but with the bag of mail held high and dry above her head.

When the weather is bad, Floe's sisters, Pearl and Hannah, assist her. One of them will go to Henderson for the mail early in the morning and return home, delivering it to Floe, who sets out on the 30-mile trip to Bakersfield and return. At Bakersfield she is given the return mail and, after serving her patrons as far toward Henderson as her home, one of the sisters relieves her and carries the mail remaining in the sack to the Henderson Postoffice.

The inaugurating of the parcel post system has made the daily load of mail much heavier. On many days the horse is so burdened that Miss Brown uses her buggy in making the trip. This is sometimes necessary when rains have made the roads almost impassable in places.

Everybody along the route admires the pluck of the girl mail carrier and all do everything they can to make her work easier.

TROOPS PREPARE FOR REVIEW BY WILSON

Largest Body of Cavalrymen Since Civil War Will Assemble at Capitol, October 9.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Preparations are being made for the review by President Wilson, Oct. 9, of the largest body of cavalry troops assembled in Washington since the close of the Civil War.

The organizations, which will pass before the President, Secretary Garrison and Major-General Leonard Wood, Chief of Staff of the Army, are the Tenth and Eleventh Cavalry and two squadrons of the Fifteenth Cavalry, now on their way from Winchester, Va., where they have been in camp since midsummer. They are expected here tomorrow.

They will spend a week under canvas at Fort Myer, across the Potomac, before they entrain for their home stations, the Tenth for Fort Ethan Allen, Vt., the Eleventh for Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., and one squadron of the Fifteenth for Fort Sheridan, Ill. SLAIN TANGO TEACHER'S INQUEST IS RESUMED

Several New Witnesses Called in Rexroat Murder Inquiry—Slayer Still Hunted.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Interest in the mysterious murder of Mrs. Mildred Allison-Rexroat centered today in West Chicago, where the inquest over the victim's body was resumed by Coroner William V. Hopf. He intended to call some new witnesses and recall several previously examined. It was expected the verdict of the Coroner's jury would be returned before night.

Twelve Chicago detectives today searched the city for the mysterious "Mr. Spencer," who is said to have accompanied Mrs. Rexroat to Wayne, Ill., the night she was shot to death and her body placed on railroad tracks.

TOLSTOY'S LETTERS TO WIFE SPEAK OF LOVE AND HIS WORK

Those Written to Her Throughout Their Married Life Published at Widow's Wish.

NOT A SEEKER OF GLORY

"Kipling's Is Poor Stuff," He Writes, "Faust" Silly, and "Julius Caesar" Bad.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

MOSCOW, Russia, Oct. 2.—At the wish of Count Leo Tolstoy's widow, all the letters written by him to her throughout their married life (from 1862 to 1910) have been published here. The Countess notes in a preface:

"Before leaving life to join the man I love in the spiritual region where he has gone, I wish to share with those people who love and respect his memory, his letters to me, so that they may follow our story through 48 years of almost to the a happy union."

In the first letter, written in September of 1862, he says:

"I should have died of laughter if a month ago someone had told me what I am suffering and, fortunately, have been suffering all this time. Tell me as an honest being do you wish to be my wife? But only if in all your soul say yes. Better say no if you have a shadow of a doubt. It would be dreadful for me to hear 'no,' but I would find strength to support it."

The earliest letters of their married life, devoted to intimate family messages, like all the others breathe perfect tenderness and candor. The first mention of his work comes in 1864, when he was writing "War and Peace." He speeks cheerfully of the morning's work when he wrote a folio.

"I went to sleep," he relates, "and dreamed of all the persons in my novel."

Passed Hours Watching Bees.

He cautions his wife from this time to send him letters by messenger, adding: "By post they don't reach me."

He then was working in a place called Pirogovo, not far from Yasnaya Poliana. He used to pass hours watching bees around hives in the woods. He writes: "When I was young I used to think the only room a home needed was a school roor. Now, grown up in life, I feel that no one is necessary except for five or six of those dearest to us."

About this time Tolstoy broke an arm by falling from a horse. It was badly set and he came to Moscow to have it reset. Chloroform was administered and the after effects caused him great depression. He wrote to his wife:

"You are quite right in saying that all that is historic and military in my novel is not composed well. It is only when describing character and family relations that it is good."

Later he wrote that he wished his wife loved country life one-tenth as much as he did and hated the frivolities and worries of town.

His health being at a crisis in 1867 he consulted a famous Moscow doctor, Prof. Zacarin, who told him that his nervous system was utterly deranged and also that he was threatened with gall stones and possibility of diabetes. Tolstoy wrote to his wife:

"I said I would not drink his medicines. My conditions were that if I could live in the country and not in the town I would be willing to take his waters and follow the mode of life he prescribed."

Suffered From Insomnia.

At this period Tolstoy suffered terribly from insomnia. He wrote: "One night I felt myself suddenly dead and could not help feeling torture such as I wish to God none may feel. I ordered them to harness my horses, but while they were harnessing them I went to sleep and woke quite well."

He went often in the early '70s to the steppes of Samara to drink Kumyss (otherwise mare's milk) and lead an outdoor life. Those visits greatly benefitted him.

"When I arrived," he told his wife, "I felt that I was not seeing people with love as I used to do. I saw in myself what I used to despise in others. This passes off here and everything is interesting and new."

During a later visit he wrote: "I feel differently and have recovered from the error of holding that others must look at things as I do."

Again he wrote: "I don't know who is less useful or more charlatan, priests or doctors."

Another letter related: "A drunken man drove me in his cart today. He kissed me and my dog and said I was a father to him. The kindest, most charming human being is a drunken man in the first stages."

On Young Woman Convert.

Of a young woman who was converted by his work and went to Yasnava Poliana with the purpose of leading the Tolstoyan life, he said:

"I don't well understand her and won't try, but I will try to get her out from here because all these outsiders are a great nuisance."

Writing in 1881 of his absences from his wife, Tolstoy explained:

"I am guilty before you, but unconsciously. In order to work with much concentration and create something one must forget all. The evil of town life is that one must always either dispute or deny false judgments or agree to them without a dispute a dispute, which is worse. To dispute or to deny nonsense and falsehood is the most useless and endless of occupations."

Writing in 1873 while in the colony on the Samara steppes, he described his neighbors, adding:

"The most sympathetic of all are two young Jews named Courian. He is a student of medicine in Moscow, she a student of medicine in St. Petersburg."

At the time of the Russian novelist, Turgenieff's, death that year, Tolstoy write: "I love him very much and feel like constantly reading his works, which are beautiful and charming."

SLAIN CHRISTIAN SCIENCE HEALER WHOSE STRANGE FRIEND IS SOUGHT

MRS. REBECCA P. GAY.

WOMAN MISSING SINCE THE MURDER OF SCIENCE HEALER

Mysterious "Mrs. Wallace" Is Sought in Connection With Death of Mrs. R. P. Gay.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 2.—Police are still searching for a mysterious "Mrs. Wallace" in connection with the murder of Mrs. Rebecca P. Gay, Christian Science practitioner, last Friday night.

"Mrs. Wallace's" name was used frequently by a negro who was seen calling at Mrs. Gay's and neighboring offices.

A certain Mrs. Wallace, known to Mrs. Gay, disappeared on the morning after the murder, it has been said.

Robert Askew, a negro, is virtually cleared of any suspicion and probably will be released after a short term for drunkenness.

NOVEL WRITTEN AROUND PUBLISHER HARMSWORTH

"Lord London," by "Keble Howard," Called Fact, Fiction and Prejudice.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The new novel by "Keble Howard" called "Lord London" professes to give under the thinnest possible disguise an account of the career of Lord Northcliffe (Alfred Harmsworth), the great English newspaper proprietor who owns the Times, the Daily Mail and a long string of other publications in all parts of the United Kingdom.

The mixture of fact, fiction and prejudice makes a confusing and inartistic combination. One paper describes it as a literary outrage and expresses surprise that "Keble Howard" should have written such a book or that the publishers, Chapman & Hall, should have taken the responsibility of publishing it. The paper advises them to make a bonfire of the entire issue.

"Keble Howard" is the pen name of John Keble Bell, who for some years was dramatic critic of the Daily Mail, one of Lord Northcliffe's papers. Bell has been connected with several illustrated weekly publications in London and was editor of the Sketch for two years. He has published a large number of books, the best known being "The Chicot Papers," and several plays, one of which, "Compromising Martha," was played in the United States.

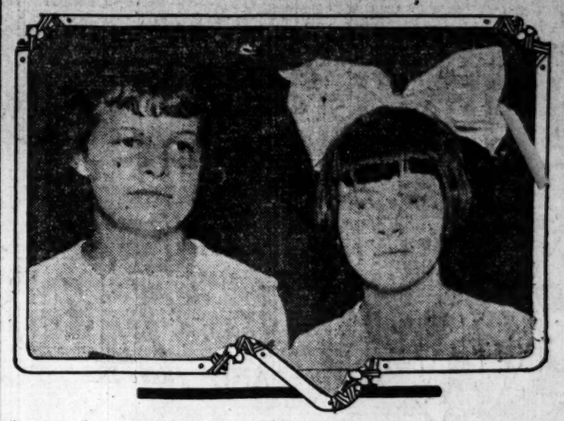
Two Little Girls Who Helped Save the Babies



FLORENCE McINROY AND RUTH HAYMAN.

Florence McInroy of 906 Bayard avenue and Ruth Hayman of 4725 McMillan avenue disposed of a doll and a toy poodle for the benefit of the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund and realized $10.10 with which to help save the tenement babies.

Six children living on the 3900 block on Chouteau avenue gave a little play entitled "Ben, the Orphan Boy," to help save the babies and earned $1.40 for that good purpose. The performance was given at 3941 Chouteau avenue and those taking part were, Gussie Luseke, of 3943; Cora Gruwell, 3933; Eva Miles, 3947; Flora Larigan, 3945; Mary Rhiver, 3943, and Nora Hughes, 3911 Chouteau avenue.

WINONA, Minn., Oct. 2.—Maj. H. N. Randall, three times a member of the Territorial Legislature and later a member of the State Legislature, died here. Maj. Randall led civilians against Indians at Fort Ridgeley in 1872, successfully defending the refugees. He was 80 years old.

CONSTITUTION CHANGED BY DISCIPLES OF CHRIST

Church Votes for Delegate Convention Which Is Not Binding Upon Constituents.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 2.—After a heated debate which developed over a proposed change in the constitution providing for a delegates' convention of the church, which was opposed as tending toward ecclesiastism, the annual assembly of the Disciples of Christ, late last night adopted a resolution disclaiming a desire to make the change binding upon the constituent churches.

W. C. Cantrell of Nebraska said that the proposed change had created discontent in the church and the Rev. W. H. Book of Columbia, Ind., moved that the question be deferred two years. The Rev. Mr. Book withdrew his original motion for two years and made it for one year but this was defeated and the changes in the constitution were adopted by a clear majority.

MISSOURI CONFEDERATES GET $8146 IN PENSIONS

First Payments Mailed to Veterans Under Act Appropriating $30,000.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 2.—State Treasurer Deal today transmitted 563 checks to Confederate pensioners in Missouri, this being the first installment under the act of the last general assembly providing for these pensions and appropriating $30,000 for that purpose for the biennial period of 1913 and 1914.

The checks sent out range in amount from five to thirty dollars. The total amount disbursed was $8146.68.

Only indigent ex-Confederates are eligible as pensioners. In all there have been nearly 1800 applicants.

The pianos for this co-operative sale were personally selected at the factory by Mr. P. E. Conroy, our President, and upon arrival are being tested and inspected by Mr. Charles Galloway, for years Conductor Apollo and Morning Choral Clubs.

This coöperative piano sale means a saving of 17,875 dollars to 150 homes of this section

Copyright, 1913, by Martin McCarrick, Inc.

THE co-operative sale, which started at our store this morning, means more to you than you would surmise at first glance. It means that the largest and strongest piano manufacturers and dealers are co-operating, jointly, to make these sales—of which this is one—possible. It means, that this co-operative plan is so liberal, that we can get the heartiest support and co-operation from our purchasers—which also spells big economies. One hundred pianos and fifty player-pianos—our allotment—means something. One hundred and fifty chairs of a kind may not mean so much. One hundred and fifty suits or hats, or "this" or "that" may not mean such a big deal—but 150 pianos and player-pianos means something. In dollars and cents, it is a deal involving 62 thousand 5 hundred dollars, considered at their selling value. It is a deal for as many pianos as hundreds of good piano firms require for an entire year's business. And, it is a plan that works more advantages to piano buyers, both in saving money and in liberal conditions of purchase, than any other plan of which we have ever known

Copyright, 1912, by Martin McCarrick, Inc.

It will take 10 solid carloads to deliver this order
The freight alone will amount to about $800
The purchasers are given a grand total of 9750 weeks or over 187 years longer in which to pay for their instruments than if each member was to buy independently upon usual terms

The saving to each co-operative buyer—$119.16 average—will pay for the musical education of one child for three years and one month at 75 cents a lesson

The saving of $119.16 average—to each co-operative purchaser would pay more than 4 months' house rent at the rate of $25 a month. It would pay the first installment on the purchase of a home.

The actual saving of—$119.16 average—to each co-operative buyer—if placed at 6 per cent interest for 10 years, would earn about $80

$5 cash 1.25 week

No charge for interest

The price of the piano is—and no interest or additional charge is added

$248.75

The actual figures of the sale

The retail value of these 100 pianos and 50 player-pianos is $62,500
They will sell for $44,625.00
The total saving to the 150 persons who purchase these instruments is $17,875.00

During this sale, the store remains open evenings until 9 o'clock.

Player-pianos also on same plan

¶ Fifty player-pianos are also being sold on this co-operative plan ¶ The usual price of these player-pianos is five hundred and fifty dollars each. ¶ The co-operative price is three hundred and ninety-five dollars, NO INTEREST to be added. ¶ The player-piano is also being delivered, immediately upon the payment of five dollars. ¶ The payments are two dollars a week—giving you one hundred and ninety-five weeks' time in which to make your payments—the same as on the piano. The same unconditional guarantee that is given on the piano is given on the player-piano ¶ You can also get your money back at any time within thirty days. ¶ You get the same privilege of exchanging within a year as that given with the piano. ¶ All the unpaid balances will be voluntarily cancelled in event of death. ¶ Also, a player-piano bench and nine rolls of music (your own selection) are included without extra charge. ¶ An arrangement will be made with each purchaser whereby new player rolls can be procured at a cost of only five cents a roll. ¶ These player-pianos have an automatic shifter, which compels the music to play perfectly. Most player-pianos sold at from two hundred to two hundred and fifty dollars more than these will not play perfectly. These player-pianos have lead tubing. Most player-pianos have rubber tubing. The life of rubber is one year at most. Lead lasts forever. It cannot wear out and the tubing is so placed it cannot be broken.

WORTHLESS 'GEMS' PAWNED FOR $700 IN OKLAHOMA BANK

Fairview Financier Loans Money on Appraisal by Local Jeweler.

SHOWMAN IS ARRESTED

Recognized in Another Town Trying to Raise Cash in the Same Way.

ENID, Ok., Oct. 2.—Isaac Goldstein, claiming to control the concessions of a wild west show that has been traveling in Oklahoma and the Southwest this summer, recently enlivened the Garfield county district court.

"Will you please tell the Court whether or not you informed the banker that the stone was an emerald, a genuine emerald, when you applied to him for a loan on these gems?"

"It was this way, if it please your honor, began Goldstein, wringing his hands; "you see I was"——

"Oh never mind that: answer the question."

"But I want to explain. You see I gave him good security for his money, and I never intended"——

Ordered to Answer Question.

Golstein was reminded for the fifteenth time that he was not answering the question.

"Well, I told him I bought it for a real emerald," said Goldstein.

"I didn't ask you what you bought it for; I asked you if you didn't tell the banker that it was real, genuine emerald."

Goldstein twisted and turned.

"I guess I did," he finally said. Of course I did. The jeweler in his town told me it was a real emerald before I went to the banker, and why should I doubt his word, your honor?"

When Goldstein's show reached Fairview, in Major County, he went to local jeweler, and asked for a loan on jewelery which he exhibited. Goldstein was directed to nearby bank.

Gets $700 From Banker.

Goldstein told the banker that he must have $700 that day or go bankrupt, as his concession payments were due. He said he would put up $2100 worth of jewelry for a loan for 30 days. The banker asked if he could show the gems to the local jeweler. The jeweler appraised them at far more than the amount of the loan, and Goldstein got $700.

Several days later this banker went to another town on a business trip. Goldstein's wild west show was also in town. The banker dropped in at the local bank to chat with the cashier.

Goldstein, with an array of jewelry displayed before the local banker, was begging a loan, declaring that his concession payments were due, and that unless he got immediate financial assistance he would be ruined. The jewels seemed to be exact duplicates of the ones upon which Goldstein had obtained a loan at Fairview.

Banker Gets Money Back.

The Fairview banker pinched himself, found that he was not dreaming, and tackled Goldstein.

"I want my money, and I want it on the spot," exclaimed the Fairview banker, to the surprise of both Goldstein and the local banker. Goldstein paid the Fairview banker $700.

The Sheriff was called and Goldstein was arrested. The jewels were found to be worthless. Goldstein's lawyers declared that Goldstein had not borrowed money upon his own representations, but the banker had relied upon the judgment of the local jeweler. Furthermore, Goldstein had paid back the money to the Fairview banker.

Judge Dismisses Case.

The Court ordered Goldstein to be discharged. W. B. Harrison, secretary of the Oklahoma Bankers' Association, has been making inquiry to learn how many Oklahoma banks have loaned money to Goldstein.

The Goldstein case is causing conjecture as to the experience of an Oklahoma State official who is said recently to have been the victim of a fake jewel confidence game. These "jewels" were represented to hav an actual value of $15,000, and the State official is said to have loaned $7000 on what proved to be practically worthless stuff.

41 PERSONS GO TO JAIL FOR DEFIANCE OF JUDGE

Signers of Revolution Against Street-Speaking Injunction Voluntarily Imprisoned.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 2.—Forty-one persons are now in jail here, mostly voluntarily, because of signing a resolution defying Superior Judge John E. Humphries' anti-street speaking injunction.

"Four Deputy Sheriffs are now here to take you to jail," announced an orator at a Socialist mass meeting last night. "Any who signed the resolution may come forward and be arrested. Those who desire may wait until tomorrow."

Several responded to the invitation and were followed to jail by so large a crowd that the deputies became confused.

"Those who were arrested, please step inside," said one of the officers finally, and nine persons went in and were locked up.

A man and woman with two babies who said they were going to jail could not get themselves arrested.

"You beat it home," ordered an officer, showing them out. "We don't want you in jail tonight. Come around tomorrow."

SAN ANTOIO, TEX., FLOODED; CAR, LIGH PHONE SERVICE OUT

Water From Five to Six Feet Deep in Business Section After Rains Overflow River.

By Associated Press.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 2.—With the San Antonio River out of its banks and overflowing downtown districts of this city to a depth in some places of five or six feet, business in San Antonio was demoralized today. The damage probably will reach several hundred thousand dollars.

Street car service, telephone service and the electric plant are out of commission. Houses in the low districts were flooded, and several small buildings on the river banks were washed away. So far as known no lives were lost.

Steel Bridges Collapse, $250,000 Damage in San Marcos.

SAN MARCOS, Tex., Oct. 2.—Flood damage aggregating at least $250,000, has resulted in this section during the last 24 hours from an unprecedented rise in the San Marcos and Blanco Rivers, which now form a large lake. Several steel bridges have collapsed, and railroad traffic is practically suspended.

ACTION AGAINST BOYS RIDING WHEELS ON WALK

Warrants to Be Asked in Ferguson Following Complaints From Residents.

Warrants will be asked this week against all boys who are known to have ridden bicycles on the sidewalks in Ferguson during the past three months. The names of 11 boys who are said to have committed this offense are in possession of City Attorney Charles A. Powers, who will consider issuing warrants for their arrest at once. Their cases will be heard before Mayor J. H. Kinealy or Acting Mayor Arthur J. Lee some time next week.

Numerous complaints have been made against these boys by residents of Ferguson, who fear injury to their children.

A narrowly-averted accident to the 7-months-old baby of Charles Isbell Taylor, a St. Louis advertising man, caused some of the residents to act.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND DEAN APPROVES DIVORCE

Gives Expression to Christian Factor of Self-Respect, Very Rev. H. H. Henson Says.

SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 2.—The Very Rev. Herbert Hensley Henson, dean of Durham, caused a sensation at the Church of England Congress by a speech in which he approved divorce.

He declared that the full significance of growth of the movement in favor of divorce was not to be explained by an outbreak of licentiousness. Its strength, he said, lay in the fact that it gave expression to the distinctly Christian factor of self-respect that would not acquiesce in a situation, which actually became degrading. It was an error, he said, to fasten attention on divorce statistics as if any considerable importance attached to them. What really mattered was the standard of personal purity.

The audience listened with a show of uneasiness to Deen Henson's views. Other delegates insisted that the church must maintain the doctrine of the permanency of marriage.

WOMAN WEAKENED BY MERCURY QUITS TALK OF RECOVERY

Miss Hattie Rayfield, Who Swallowed Bichloride, Expected to Die in 24 Hours.

ANOTHER LIES NEARBY

Chances for Miss Catherine Holloran, in Same Ward, Are Considered Good.

Doctors at the City Hospital said Thursday morning that they expect Miss Hattie Rayfield, who swallowed 175 grains of bichloride of mercury 10 days ago, to die within 24 hours. The girl, who is 23 years old, is in a semi-conscious state. She took the poison at 3633 Olive street, where she lived. She gave ill-health as the cause, but her friends say she had had a quarrel with a suitor.

Six feet from Miss Rayfield in the hospital ward, lies Miss Cathrine Holloran of 3130 Lucas avenue, who took 200 grains of bichloride of mercury late last Saturday. Miss Holloran's present condition is said to be favorable, but the doctors say it is too early to predict recovery.

Regrets Taking Poison.

She expresses regret over her attempt to kill herself and is hopeful that she will recover. She took the poison after being told by a friend that Walter Schulte, to whom she was to have been married last Easter, is to wed another girl Oct. 15. Schuite, she said, had their wedding date postponed and three weeks ago wrote to her, finally breaking the engagement.

Up to two days ago Miss Rayfield and Miss Holloran talked with each other, both expressing hope for recovery. Miss Rayfield then began rapidly to yield to the effect of the poison, and conversation ceased.

The history of bichloride patients at the hospital is that they feel fairly cheerful for several days after taking the poison, but about the sixth or seventh day the mercury begins to paralyze the kidneys and there is a sudden change for the worse.

Child's Condition Was Hopeful.

Beatrice Stephens, 14 years old, of 818 Clinton street, who died in the hospital Wednesday from bichloride poisoning, having taken the mercury Sept. 18, was apparently in good condition for more than a week. Last Saturday her case became hopeless.

Eugene H. Baker, 305 North Leffingwell avenue, who was at the hospital for several days for mercury poisoning, has been discharged as cured.

WARRANT FOR ARREST OF ELEANOR SEARS ISSUED

Boston's Society Girl Athlete Ignores Summons; Drove Vanderbilt Car Without License.

BOSTON, Oct. 2.—A warrant is out for the arrest of Miss Elenora P. Sears, Boston's noted young society woman athlete and exponent of outdoor sports. The document was issued when Miss Sears failed to appear in the Salem District Court yesterday to explain why she has been driving Harold Sterling Vanderbilt's high-powered automobile without having it registered in Massachusetts.

There has been a persistent, but oft-denied, report, since last fall, that Miss Sears is engaged to young Vanderbilt. When he went abroad recently, Miss Sears abandoned her own car and took his. She is now in the town house of her father, Frederick R. Sears.

"Miss Sears is too tried to see anyone," her maid said, in answer to inquiries.

Police Chief S. Walter Woodbury of Beverly, who is charged with arresting Miss Sears, passed the evening at the lodge room of the Elks, and when told that Miss Sears was at the Brockton Fair, he said:

"I wouldn't cross the street to arrest that girl." Nor did he.

The issuing of the warrant was a formality. Early last week Miss Sears was summoned on the alleged auto law violation, but the paper was directed to "Eleanor Sears." She mailed it to Chief Woodbury with the statement that her name actually was "Eleanor R. Sears." Thereupon a new summons was issued, and left at her "last and usual place of abode," as required by statute. This summons she ignored.

MACKAY'S DAUGHTER RETURNS FROM ABROAD

Father Sends 14-Year-Old Child Home So She Won't Miss Present School Term.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Katherine Mackay, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mackay, has arrived on the Olympic with her governess, Miss Thompson.

The reason for her return at this time, it was said, is that she is a pupil at a school in the city, and her father is desirous that she does not miss the present term.

Henry W. Taft and Arthur C. Train, counsel to Mrs. Mackay, were in their offices yesterday for the first time since their summer vacations. Neither had any statement to make for publication regarding the $1,000,000 alienation suit brought against Mrs. Mackay by Mrs. Joseph A. Blake. Mrs. Blake was in the city yesterday, but referred all inquiries to her attorney.

Three Children Perish in Fire.

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 2.—Three children of John Thomas, a cotton planter living in Oklahoma, near Fort Smith, were burned to death in a fire at their home, caused by an explosion of oil, with which an atempt was made to start a kitchen fire. The children were 5, 9 and 11 years old.

The Post-Dispatch is the only evening newspaper in St. Louis that receives or publishes news gathered by the Associated Press.

PEGOUD FLIES UPSIDE DOWN AT FULL SPEED

He Gives Last Daring Exhibition Before Starting on Tour of Europe and America.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Pegoud, the daredevil French aviator, achieved new fame yesterday by flying at Buc upside down with his motor running at full speed. Heretofore this has been regarded as impossible on account of the danger of an explosion. He also did five consecutive loops on a single descent from only 1200 feet altitude and then reascended without alighting.

On the next descent he did three loops consecutively with motors running. Then he descended rapidly to the ground with astonishing short circlings.

Another of his feats was descending from a great height for 10 minutes without touching the levers of his machine or in any way controlling his aeroplane until just before he struck the field, when he altered the angle of descent to make an easy landing.

This was Pegoud's last effort at experimental and other flying before his departure on a tour of the chief cities of Europe and America.

IMMIGRATION MEN STOP ACTRESS AND JOCKEY

British Singer and Dillon, Arriving as Husband and Wife, Admit They're Not Married.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Miss Marie Lloyd, the music hall singer of England, and Bernard Dillon, a famous jockey, were detained aboard the Olympic by immigration inspectors and will be taken to Ellis Island today for hearing.

The couple were booked as Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Dillon. Miss Lloyd is detained on a charge of "living with a man who is not her husband," and the jockey on a charge of "bringing a woman into the country for immoral purposes."

Miss Lloyd had come over here to make a tour of a vaudeville circuit. She was met by her sister, Miss Alice Lloyd, wife of Tom McNaughton. When told they must explain their legal status Miss Lloyd and Dillon admitted they were not married. Miss Lloyd burst into tears.

Murdered Man in Haystack.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., Oct. 2.—Robbery is thought to have been the motive for the murder of an unidentified man whose body was found in a hay stack at the edge of the city. There were two bullet holes in the body. The stack had been set on fire, but the flames had soon died.

TICKET TO LINCOLN, N. H., TAKES MAN TO NEBRASKA

Emigrant Tells of Plight and Steamship Company Will Be Asked to Pay Expenses.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 2.—After traveling all the way from New York to this city, Statam Solseink, a Russian immigrant, learned today that his steerage ticket was marked Lincoln, New Hampshire.

An error in the marking of his transfer ticket had sent him half way across the continent. The police took charge of the man, who is unable to talk English, and through the medium of an interpreter learned of his plight.

The steamship company will be asked to pay his expenses to New Hampshire.

SAILOR DENIES INVENTOR DIESEL WAS LOST AT SEA

Member of Crew Says German Did Not Even Make Cross-Channel Trip.

By Associated Press.

ANTWERP, Oct. 2.—The mystery of the disappearance of Dr. Rudolph Diesel, the German inventor, when on his way from Germany to England, was deepened today by the assertion of a member of the crew of the cross-channel steamer Dresden, who said that Dr. Diesel went on board the steamer at 5:30 p. m., Sept. 28, but on learning that the vessel was not to start until 7:30, went ashore and was not seen again.

The sailor declared he was convinced that Dr. Diesel did not cross the channel. The steward did not enter his name on the cabin list.

The London Daily Mail says that in Berlin a week ago Dr. Diesel bequeathed a valuable collection of drawings and documents relating to the origin of his patents to the German National Museum at Munich.

Official of Company Says Diesel Did Make Trip.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—The statement made by a sailor that Dr. Rudolf Diesel did not travel on board the steamer Dresden is contradicted by George Carels, an official of the Diesel company, who says he dined with Dr. Diesel on board the Dresden and left him on the ship's deck at 10 o'clock Sept. 29.

CHARLES F. GALT COMES HOME WITH PARIS ART HONORS

Says Praise for His Success Should Go to Miller, Wuerpel and Dawson-Watson.

WILL HAVE STUDIO HERE

Finds English-Speaking Artists Are Passing Those in the Old Centers of Art.

Charles Franklin Galt, an artist, son of Mrs. Smith P. Galt of 63 Vandeventer place, has just returned home from Paris, where he won one of the highest art honors in the gift of the French people, that of exhibiting his paintings in the Spring salon of the Societe Nationale des Beaux Arts. At the exhibit, in May and June, of the 5500 pictures judged by the committee, only about 800 were accepted, and of these two were Galt's.

Galt, when seen at his home, was reticent about discussing his success, and seemed to think that any praise due should go to Richard Miller, his teacher in Paris, and Prof. Wuerpel and Dawson-Watson, from whom he had several pictures on exhibition in the salon of the Artists Francais, which is held at the same time as the Beaux Arts show.

"Le Scieurs de Glace."

Of the creations of Galt which were on exhibit, one was a full length portrait of a man wearing a cape, called simply "The Man With the Cape," and the other was "Les Scieurs de Glace," meaning the ice cutters. These were done in Galt's studio in Paris last winter, in the afternoon, after he had spent the mornings in Miller's class in the Academic Colorassi, one of the large art institutions of Paris.

At this school, Galt said, Miss Caroline Risque, whose home is at 4021 Morgan street, is making a name for herself in small sculpture, which she is studying under Paul Bartlett.

Galt, who is 29 years old, received his first art training in the St. Louis School of Fine Arts, where he studied for three years, after having been graduated from Smith Academy in 1903 and spending two years at Princeton. His first study in Paris was in the fall of 1909 and the year of 1910, when he studied under Miller and Lucien Simon. Then he returned to St. Louis and worked in his own studio till August, 1912, when he returned to Paris, where he has been ever since.

Will Open a Studio Here.

Galt has no desire to live in Paris, which seems to be the dream of most artists. "Paris to me," he said to a reporter, "is a wonderful place, and is the center of the art world, but it grows tiresome. I don't mean that in a blase spirit at all, but you know it is posible to get too much of anything. In the Latin Quarter, in which I lived, nobody ever talked, or lived, or dreamed or thought about anything but art, and I confess I like to do something else once in a while. I am going to open a studio here and intend to make St. Louis my home, but expect to visit Paris occasionally."

One of the things which Galt said impressed him during his study abroad is the rapidity with which English-speaking artists are passing the artists of those foreign countries which have been the home of art. He was surprised to note how few French and Italian students were in the art schools of Paris compared with English and American.

"Most of the French painters," he said, "seemed to be old or middle-aged men. I found I had to make use of very little French, except in reading. But in my case, of course, there were good reasons for this, one being that I didn't talk much to Frenchmen and the other that the only Frenchman I knew at all intimately spoke as good English as I did."

His Opinion of the Cubists.

When asked about the cubist and post-impressionist schools, he said he did not like to criticise them just because they were queer, but he thought they were harmless forms of art insanity, which do not express what the artists intend they should.

"At a convention of doctors last winter in London, from insane asylums throughout Europe," he said, "several specimens of work done by the inmates were shown and they were mostly of these two schools."

Galt has a number of pictures in his home, one which was shown at the annual exhibit of American artists at the Art Institute in Chicago, last November, showing Fred Carpenter, a well known St. Louis artist, at work in his studio at Wyalusing, Wis., where Galt has frequently visited.

TOSSES COIN TO DECIDE FATE, KILLS HIMSELF

Young French Artillery Captain Found Dead With Coin on Table Nearby.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—Tired of life, yet undecided whether to end it, a young captain of artillery, Gaston Halphen, staying at a villa at Fontainebleau, tossed a coin to decide his fate.

At least that is the deduction made by those who found the officer's body with a bullet through his heart, while on the writing table before him lay the five centime piece that helped him to his fatal decision. He had written a number of letters in which he indicated he was tired of life.

Jolt of Car Injures Youth.

William Dent, 24 years old, of 3008 Chouteau avenue, was riding on a westbound Wellston car Wednesday afternoon, when thrown against a seat by the sudden starting of the car, and three of his ribs were fractured. He went to the city dispensary for treatment.

GOVERNMENT OWNERSHIP OF TELEGRAPH PREDICTED

Wilson Administration Said to Be Planning Legislation to That End.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—A Washington dispatch to the Times says that notwithstanding efforts at profound secrecy, it has become known that the Wilson administration is preparing the groundwork for legislation looking toward Government ownership of the telegraph lines of the country. The policy, it is said, is intended to be even more far-reaching in its effect, and to include Federal ownership of interstate telephone properties.

Indeed, the telephone lines may be used as the means of bringing about Federal ownership of all the wire systems of the country, if the policy ever is carried into effect.

The enthusiasm of some administration officials over the success of the parcel post as a competition of the express companies now finds expression in predictions that the Government will control the express business of the country, which means that the companies will retire from the field. If the Government is able to get all the express business in taking off the weight limit of the parcel post, and making rates within which the express companies cannot compete, why should not the Government get control of wire communication by acquiring and utilizing long distance telephone lines to compete with the telegraph companies? That question puts in a nutshell the problem that is now being considered in administration circles.

It may be economy to rent a nicely furnished suite of rooms for the winter. A great variety to choose from are advertised in the Post-Dispatch room and board columns.

SCHMIDT'S SANITY TESTED

Four Alienists Examine Priest-Slayer of Girl.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Dishevelled and with the neckband of his shirt thrown open, Hans Schmidt, murderer of Anna Aumueller, was taken from his cell in the Tombs prison today for an examination as to his sanity, conducted by four alienists in the office of District Attorney Whitman.

Schmidt was closeted with the alienists two hours. Another examination will be held Friday after the inquest into the death of Anna Aumueller. On the report the alienists will make will depend the course to be taken in the prosecution of Schmidt.

Gov. Baldwin Senate Candidate.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 2.—Gov. Simon E. Baldwin, in a statement issued here, said he would not be a candidate for renomination for another term as Governor, but would accept the Democratic nomination for United States Senator if it should come to him without a contest. He is serving his second term as Governor.

STOMACH BAD? BELCHING GAS AND SOUR FOOD?—TAKE PAPE'S DIAPEPSIN.

If you feel bloated after eating and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you need Pape's Diapepsin to stop food fermentation and Indigestion.

It neutralizes excessive acid, stomach poison; absorbs that misery-making gas and stops fermentation which sours your entire meal and causes Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Biliousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost any unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapepsin will cost fifty cents at any pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer in five minutes that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that relief is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapepsin will regulate any out-of-order Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.—ADV.

WILL FILL NINE PULPITS

Presbyterian Ministers to Chose Pastors Monday.

A meeting of Presbyterian ministers in St. Louis will be held Monday under the auspices of the St. Louis Presbytery to consider vacancies in nine pulpits in the St. Louis neighborhood. Laymen of the Presbyterian Brotherhood have been requested by the Presbytery to fill the pulpits until preachers are chosen.

Among the more important vacancies are those of the Cote Brilliante, Boyle Center, and North churches, and the Church of the Covenant, and an assistant pastorate at the Second Presbyterian Church.

HUNDREDS DODGING TAX

Macon Grand Jury Wants More Time to Investigate.

MACON, Mo., Oct. 2.—The Macon County grand jury today reported that its investigations convinced the jurors that hundreds of citizens in the county are making false assessment statements to the Assessor and that hundreds of thousands of dollars are escaping taxation.

The jury asked additional time before making a final report and was given until Nov. 17.

MAN ROBBED OF $730 IDENTIFIES TWO PRISONERS

Prisoners With $442 on Them Are Car Pickpockets, He Says.

Josua Risch of 2861 Indiana avenue, a real estate dealer, Thursday identified two men held as suspects in the Central District holdover as the robbers who last Saturday stole $730, a check for $1000 and a note for the same sum, on a Fourth street car between Olive and Chestnut streets.

The prisoners are booked as William P. Brooks, 21 years old, of Needles Cal., and as William Lorenz, 30, a jeweler, of New York. In Brooks' possession was found $210, including one $100 bill, and Lorenz had $232. With them was arrested a third man, who said he was Adolph Schmidt of Cincinnati, who had $266. He was not identified by Risch.

They were arrested Wednesday night at Fourth and Locust streets as suspects in the case of the Canadian grocer who was fleeced out of $5000 by confidence men at the Laclede Hotel. They denied the charge against them.

$1,500,000 ASKED FOR HOSPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

Board Thinks That Amount Should Be Included in Proposed Bond Issue.

Improvements and additions to city institutions costing $1,500,000 should be provided for in the proposed bond issue for city improvement purposes, according to the estimate of the Hospital Board, in a list of needed buildings submitted by Hospital Commissioner Shutt and adopted unanimously Wednesday afternoon at a meeting of the board.

The members of the board asserted that if a bond issue is voted on the hospital facilities should be included.

The improvements contemplated, and the sums needed for the work, are: New group of buildings for isolation hospital, $500,000—$100,000 now available; 500-acre industrial farm for inebriates and insane, $100,000, and building and equipment, $250,000; cottages for incipient tubercular patients at Robert Koch Hospital, $200,000; nurses' home at city hospital, $175,000; inebriates' home building, $50,000; industrial building at infirmary, $50,000; repairs and elevators at infirmary, $35,000; new central dispensary, $100,000; smallpox building for Koch Hospital grounds, $35,000.

The board directed that the list be submitted to Mayor Kiel and Comptroller Player.

FOUR PERSONS BITTEN BY DOGS, WEEK'S TOTAL 14

Two Children Among Those Attacked—Two Strays Snap Man's Leg.

Two stray dogs attacked Michael Doyle, 54 years old, residing at Eighth street and Franklin avenue, when he passed Grand avenue and LaSalle street. He was bitten on the left leg. Three others were reported bitten Wednesday, the week's total being 14.

George Himler, 28, 2310 Wash street, was bitten on the left leg by a dog owned by Mrs. W. C. Waughop, 5157 Cates avenue. The dog was not licensed and Mrs. Waughop was summoned to court.

James Reedy, 11 years old, 2525 North Jefferson avenue, was bitten on the left leg by a dog owned by Mrs. Laura Ochs, 2607 North Jefferson avenue. The owner was summoned for failure to have a license. David Blotch, 5 years old, 4437 Easton avenue, was bitten on the right knee by a dog owned by Mrs. Mary Bushor, 4438A Easton avenue.

NEGRO, 105, REFUSES TO RIDE TO COUNTY HOME

Alton Man Spurns Use of Buggy and Limps Mile to Institution in an Hour.

Edmund Franklin, an Alton negro, who says he is 105 years old, was too proud to let anybody take him to the county home at Edwardsville, Thursday morning, but insisted on walking there. He had been granted admission by order of the Alton Supervisor and appeared at the Edwardsville Police Station to inquire the way.

"It's a mile out, Uncle," said Patrick Purcell, superintendent of the home, who happened to be at the station. "I have a buggy outside and will drive you out."

"Thank you kindly, boss," the negro replied, "but it's a fine morning and I'd rather walk."

He limped the mile in about an hour. Franklin has lived in Alton about fifty years. His statement as to his age has never been disputed.

SLIPS, LEG REBROKEN

Frank Sullivan, 24 years old, a laborer residing at 713 Market street, met with a street car accident six weeks ago in which his left leg was fractured. He was sent to the city hospital. The bone knitted and he was able to go home in a few weeks.

Wednesday evening he was sitting at his home. His left foot was resting on an opposite chair. A remark caused him to turn, the foot slipped and landed on the floor and the leg was rebroken. He was sent back to the city hospital.

A Suit Offer That Is Unusual—Brought About by Unusual Trade Conditions.

The "How and Why" of This Sale

A LARGE SUIT SPECIALIST—one of New York's "best," had several thousand yards of cloths, mostly in short lengths, only enough in each pattern and color for a dozen or 15 suits. In order to clear his shelves at one transaction, and be prepared for the new tariff adjustment, he arranged with our buyer to make up the entire stock, in styles of our own selection, at exact import cost of cloths and trimmings alone, and the opportunity is now here for 500 customers to secure one on the same saving bas.

The Styles and Materials

A glance at the 6 styles pictured will show they are from a manufacturer who turns out only styles that are "smart"—"snappy"—that will make the wearer feel and look "well dressed." The materials are pepper and salt homespuns, soft wales, hard-finished serges, French serges, English mixtures, zibeline-cheviots and diagonals. Plenty of the staple blue, browns and black. Coats all lined with guaranteed satin, velvet and button trimmed, velvet collars and strictly plain effects; skirts draped and trimmed in accord with coat.

$12.75 $16.50 to $25 Values.

No. 1—English cutaway, made of pepper and salt homespuns and fancy mixtures, velvet trimmed.

No. 2—Made of hard-finished serge, in navy and black. Velvet collar and draped skirt.

No. 3—English mixture, short front cutaway, velvet collar. Same model also in blue, black and brown diagonal and zibeline cheviots.

No. 4—Made of Soft Wale Suiting. Persian velvet collar. Same style also in cheviots and hard-finished serges. Colors navy, brown, black.

No. 5—A very swagger style, comes in soft wales, serges and cheviots; colors, navy and black.

No. 6—A new patch pocket model, made of French serge in blue, gray and black.

MORE BARTHOLDT LETTERS ASKING STEAMSHIP FAVORS

Congressman in His Communication to Globe-Democrat Explaining One Request on Ground He Was Hard Up and Wished to Visit Sick Father Made No Mention of Others That Followed.

PLAYED "SKAT" WITH COMPANIES' LOBBYIST

He Has Made Many Speeches Against Restriction of Immigration, and His Position on This Question Has Always Agreed With That of Steamship Companies.

Congressman Richard Bartholdt, who reached this country Tuesday, after a three months' sojourn in Europe, and who, during his absence, wrote to the Globe-Democrat in explanation of a letter which he had written in 1895 asking for reduced steamship rates, was interviewed by the Post-Dispatch yesterday with reference to several other and later letters on the same subject which the Congressman did not mention in writing to the newspaper.

These letters, which the Post-Dispatch has held awaiting Mr. Bartholdt's return from his European vacation, are printed today with his statement about them.

In his communication to the Globe-Democrat Mr. Bartholdt gave, among other reasons for writing the first letter, that he was poor in purse. "An extended campaign (for Congress) had swallowed up everything I had laid aside. * * * I had to appeal to two friends for a loan of $250 each;" and as a reason for wishing to go to Europe that "my old father in Germany was passing through a severe attack of sickness, and I longed to see him once more." He also said: "I could not reconcile it with my conscience to obligate myself to a steamship company; hence I made no suggestion about free transportation, but asked merely for special rates."

In his later requests for favors, expressed in his letters in 1897 to Dr. L. O. Glavis, who, for many years, was a powerful lobbyist for the North German Lloyd, Hamburg-American and other steamship lines at the national capital, Mr. Bartholdt said nothing about his financial condition. He did mention the prospective contingency of having to take a lady's maid along.

Why He Went Abroad.

Touching his reason for making the voyage, he said: "I propose to make this journey not only for pleasure and recreation, but at the unanimous request of the members of the Immigration Committee (of Congress) who desire an intelligent report on the advisability of immigration inspection by United States Consuls, which I believe will be a prominent question in the next Congress."

He did not make use of the term "special rates," the language on this phase of the matter being: "That I should consider it a great personal favor if you could procure the desired transportation for myself and wife goes without saying." And "I don't know what your custom in such cases is, but I assume that the term transportation means both ways, as a matter of course."

That the lobbyist was able to satisfy the Congressman is shown in one of the letters: "I hasten to inform you that Mr. Hilken was kind enough to reserve room 59, on the Oldenburg (June 5) for us. The Weimer (June 12) is crowded, so he wired me today, and he did the best he could for me. I am satisfied of this," and "by the way, could you not sail on the same steamer?" and later, "How we would enjoy these 10 or 12 days!"

Statement by Mr. Bartholdt.

Congressman Bartholdt's statement follows:

Washington, Oct. 1.—Congressman Bartholdt, when asked about the letters to Dr. L. O. Glavis, the steamship lobbyist of former years, made this statement:

"Yes, I wrote those letters. It was long ago, yet I have a recollection of having had a social correspondence with Dr. Glavis of the kind you submit to me. Dr. Glavis was a prominent German of Washington and he had another good quality, namely, he could play the scientific game of 'Skat.' The 'Skat' players are scarce and far between in Washington, but he was one of them and I had a social game with him once in a while.

"The reference to the immigration question in one of the letters was due to the fact that a proposition had been made in Congress to have all immigrants examined on the other side, namely by the American Consuls. For a time I was favorable to that proposition, but when I investigated, I learned that under such a system it would be impossible for a young man who is subject to military duty to receive a certificate from a Consul. Hence he would be prevented from immigrating, although a young man of that age would be a most desirable immigrant. This I learned on my trips abroad, and I gave Congress the benefit of my investigations on this question. Of course, my constituents know that I have always been in favor of good immigration. Long before I came to Congress and as soon as I took pen in hand to write for newspapers I opposed every undue restriction because, in my judgment, we need immigration for many years to come to build up our country. This position is well known to the people who have honored me with 11 successive elections. No favor bestowed by any steamship company could in any way change or modify my position on this question. Hence, these letters which merely relate to good accomodations for the least money, cannot possibly reflect on my integrity as a member of Congress.

"All the favors I ever received at the hands of a steamship company were, as I explained before, to assign me to better quarters than I had paid for after the ship left the port, a courtesy, by the way, which is extended to every Consul and official that goes abroad.

"The son of the man to whom these letters are addressed recently requested me to loan him money. I refused to comply with his request, and the next I heard was the publication in the Post-Dispatch some time ago of the letters I had written to a friend in Washington asking for special steamship rates. If my conscience had not been clear, would I not have been willing to advance $10 or even $100? Let every reasonable man answer this question for himself."

The letter of the son of Dr. Glavis which Bartholdt gave to the interviewer follows:

"My Dear Mr. Bartholdt: I am awfully hard pressed for some money at this time, and thought I might presume upon old times, and ask you to loan me $5 or $10.

"I expect to be on my feet again soon, and will return it to you just as soon as I can, but I have my taxes to pay on my place in the country right off, or some of my things will be sold.

"Trusting you will help me out, I remain,

"Very truly yours,
"ED S. GLAVIS,
"1341 New Hampshire avenue,
"Hon. Richard Bartholdt,
"Washington, D. C."

Opposes Immigration Restriction.

In Congress Bartholdt has made many speeches in opposition to restriction of immigration, his latest effort being against the Burnett-Dillingham bill. He declared recently that he was opposed to restriction of immigration as a matter of principle, because he came to this country as an immigrant boy, and did not wish to close the door of American opportunity to any one.

The steamship companies are vitally interested in the immigration question. Restriction of immigration by this country would affect adversely their revenues. All immigrants rejected by the Government have to be returned to their native countries at the expense of the steamship companies.

Congressman Bartholdt has made almost yearly trips to Europe since he was first elected 20 years ago. The trip from which he has just returned was made on special rates granted to him by the North German Lloyd. He was seen by the New York correspondent of the Post-Dispatch at the office of the steamship company in New York, the day he sailed for Europe, and admitted that he had paid the minimum rate for first cabin passage, but had been extended the privilege of better accommodations than he had paid for if any such accommodations were unsold and available at the time the ship sailed.

Additional Letters of Congressman Bartholdt Asking Transportation Favors of Steamship Lobbyist

These five letters, written in 1895 by Congressman Richard Bartholdt to the late Dr. L. O. Glavis, for many years Washington lobbyist of the North German Lloyd, Hamburg-American and other steamship lines, tell the story of the St. Louis Congressman's successful quest for "transportation" to Europe for himself and Mrs. Bartholdt; reveal the intimate relations that existed between Bartholdt and the lobbyist, and show how Bartholdt coupled the imigration question, in which the steamship companies were vitally interested, with his request for transportation favors:

House of Representatives, U. S.,
Washington, March 20, 1895.

Dr. L. O. Glavis, Washington, D. C.:

My Dear Sir—Referring to the letter of Mr. Emil L. Boas which you kindly transmitted to me, I beg to say that it will be quite suitable to me and Mrs. Bartholdt to sail before May 1, say by S. S. Columbia on April 28.

As I told you before leaving I propose to make this journey not only for pleasure and recreation, but at the unanimous request of the members of the Immigration Committee, who desire an intelligent report on the advisability of immigrant inspection by U. S. Consuls, which, I believe, will be a prominent question in the next Congress.

That I should consider it a great personal favor if you could procure the desired transportation for myself and wife goes without saying.

With kindest regards to yourself and family, as also to Mr. Boas, I am, yours very truly,
RICHARD BARTHOLDT.

House of Representatives, U. S.
WASHINGTON, March 20, 1895
My Dear Doctor.

I do not know what your custom in such cases is, but presume that the term transportation means both ways, as a matter of course.

Since my return home, I have been subjected to all kinds of tortures through the importunities of office seekers and the requirements of our local campaign (as you will see by inclosed clipping.)

By the way, can you not sail on the same steamer? The proverbial "third man" will, I think, be easily found.

Shall come via Washington. With best wishes, yours very truly,
RICHARD BARTHOLDT.

(On official stationery of the House of Representatives.)
ST. LOUIS, April 1, 1895.
My Dear Doc:

YOUR favor of the 26th inst. received. It is quite a disappointment to me, because it is absolutely impossible for me to get away before the latter part of the month. Between the 10th and 20th of April our Mayor makes his appointments, about 250 in number, and I have to see to it that my district is properly taken care of. Were I to run away at such a time my political goose would be cooked for all time to come.

I would much prefer to go with the Hamburg Line or the North German Lloyd, of course, but if there is no other alternative, would it not be possible to secure transportation on some other line? The first week in May would suit me best. As to the return, it was my intention to stay until the latter part of August, but in this respect I could adjust myself to conditions.

The matter reduces itself to this: If it is impossible to find room for me and Mrs. Bartholdt after April 11, we shall have to abandon the trip.

The diamond cutter business is an outrage, and Schroeder is an unmitigated ass and malicious scamp.

With kindest regards, yours very truly,
RICHARD BARTHOLDT.

P. S.—Have wired Mr. Boas today. Have just returned from Chicago, where I delivered three political speeches

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 22, 1895.
My Dear Doctor:

(On official stationery of the House of Representatives.)

YOUR kind favor has just come to hand, and I thank you very much for your successful efforts in my behalf. If we can leave the last week in May or thereabouts, we could return about the middle of September so as to bring us home about the end of the month. But a week or even two weeks would cut no figure as to the return journey. Would prefer to return via New York, of course, but if it cannot be done, I shall be satisfied with any arrangements you may make for us.

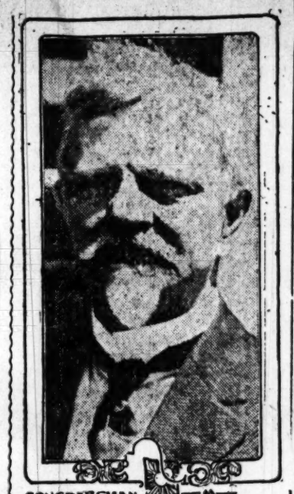
I think I shall have to spend some time in Karlsbad, my political liver being out of order.

With kindest regards from Mrs. Bartholdt and myself to you and yours, I remain, Yours, as ever,
RICHARD BARTHOLDT,

P. S.—Yes, there are a few Democrats left here, but they are careful enough to conceal their identity. B.

(On official stationery House of Representatives.)
ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 16, 1895.
My Dear Doctor:

I hasten to inform you that



CONGRESSMAN RICHARD BARTHOLDT.

Mr. Hilken was kind enough to reserve room 59 on the "Oldenburg" (June 5) for us. The "Weimar" (June 12) is crowded, so he wired me today, and it was the best he could do for me. I am satisfied of this. I was still hoping (against hope, I admit) that accommodations might be found on the Hamburg or New York-Bremen lines, trusting, as I did, to the flight of time. But the matter had to be settled one way or another, and I am now quite resigned to the Baltimore trip. Is the "Oldenburg" a good steamer? I take it she is considerably smaller than the others. Your probable company would double my pleasure, and you should srtain every point to make it possible. How we would enjoy these 10 or 12 days! I see Reed is not going abroad, and the spectre of an extra session is again rising in the back ground, but I do not believe there is anything in it.

The "Oldenburg" will arrive in time on the other side for the great Baltic Canal festivities, which my position will allow us to attend, I think, aboard of an American man-of-war.

I do not know yet, but it may just be possible for me to be obliged to take a lady's maid along, for whom, I understand, second cabin price is usually charged. We are not decided on this point yet, but I trust a little berth can always be found somewhere in the last minute.

We intend to leave here on Saturday, June 1, arriving in Washington Sunday about 1:30. All else verbally. In the meatime, I am, with thanks and best wishes,
Yours very truly,
RICHARD BARTHOLDT.

DR. GLAVIS WAS A SUCCESSFUL LOBBYIST

Represented German Lines at Washington and Watched Immigration Legislation.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 1.—Dr. L. O. Glavis for years was the Washington representative of the North German Lloyd and the Hamburg-American steamship lines. He occupied a position of influence among the members of Congress, Senators and members of the Cabinet. It was his habit to entertain more than one member of the official set in Washington at a restaurant on Pennsylvania avenue, near the office of the Doctor.

As the representative of the German steamship lines, Glavis kept close watch on the Treasury Department, where immigrant cases were decided. He likewise kept his eye open for matters concerning immigration which were proposed in Congress at the time. It was apparent that he had unlimited funds for entertainment of those who might be called upon to decide questions involving the steamship lines with which he was connected.

Old Washingtonians, those acquainted with Glavis before his death, say that he wielded powerful influence. He had a lot of men on his staff who were willing to give him inside information about legislation affecting the steamship companies.

He was regarded at the tme as one of the most successful lobbyists employed at the capital.

OILED PAPER FOUND IN BURNING HOUSE; SON SAVES WOMAN

Other Evidence of Incendiarism Discovered in the Basement of Residence.

Unmistakable evidences of incendiarism were found Thursday morning, after a fire had partly destroyed the two-story residence of John Stuck, a candy manufacturer, at 6621 Wise avenue. The fire had been started in two places on the east wall of the basement.

On the west wall under the floor a pile of oil-soaked kindling was found. This had been set on fire, but had gone out. Under the basement steps an oil-soaked pile of newspapers was found.

Mrs. Stucke and her son, John, 18 years old, were alone in the house when the fire started at 5:15 a. m., according to John's story to reporters. The young man said he was awakened by smoke. His mother awoke about the same time, he said, and began screaming.

He ran into her room, he said, and found her fainting. He picked her up and carried her outside. The fresh air revived her. John said she begged him to let her go back upstairs and get some insurance and patent papers.

He took her to the home of a neighbor and returned for the papers himself, after telephoning a fire alarm. When he got back the fire had made such progress that he feared to go inside. The fire department checked the flames in the first floor so that the papers were not destroyed.

Both John and his mother said they couldn't imagine who had any incentive to burn their house. They keep a watch dog which is said to be vicious towards strangers at night. The dog was unfastened, but if it made any noise John said he had failed to hear it.

John Stucke Sr. is in Louisville, Ky according to the son, in the candy business. He was formerly active in politics in St. Louis.

PART OF THE HOE LIBRARY IS ON SALE HERE FOR $150,000

Volumes Filling Table 3 by 8 Are on Exhibition at the Planters Hotel.

St. Louis has few faddists who buy rare books and manuscripts at high prices because of their sentimental value, due to being original or autograph volumes, according to Harry H. Hymes of New York, who is in St. Louis with a few hundred volumes of books he will sell if the proper price is offered. They are part of the celebrated Hoe library and he has them on exhibition at the Planters Hotel.

This city is so far behind Chicago in the purchase of old volumes with bindings classed as works of art that Hymes sent a large part of his collection back to New York from Chicago, before coming here.

Three eRgular Buyers Here.

There are only three refgular buyers of the ancient treasures in St. Louis, Hymes told a reporter, although there are perhaps 20 who make an occasional purchase of a few rare volumes. The three who stand out prominently in their chosen fad are W. K. Bixby, Frederick W. Lehman and John H. Gundlach.

Bixby's choice is old manuscrips, rare because they are old and no duplicates are in existence, Hymes said, although he will buy the cream of other lines, such as autograph books or letters.

Lehman's fad runs to ancient volumes of the early English dramatists, he said, or books of early American history.

Gundlach is a ready buyer for old books which are not out of print, and old literary manuscripts.

Hymes represents Geor e D. Smith of New York, who purchased more than $1,000,000 worth of books at the sale of the famous Hoe library. He has remarkable volumes and manuscrips purchased at private sale from various valuable collections. Smith was credited with paying more for one volume than ever was paid before at public auction for a book when he bought the Guttenberg Bible for $50,000. The Bible since has been sold, but Hymes is silent on the selling price.

Wants $150,000 for Collection.

In his hotel room Hymes displays the volumes, for which he asks $150,000, on a table about 3 feet wide and 8 feet long. Each volume has a history, and many have autographs. Many with the same subject matter could be bought in book stores for 50 cents each, but Hymes' collection has autographs, are first volumes, are now out of print, or has some other oddity attached.

CHURCH IN A ROW OVER APPOINTMENT OF 'BOY' PASTOR

Stewards of Cupples Memorial Reject Clergyman Only 25 Years Old.

The appointment of the Rev. G. W. Holmes of Hematite, Mo., 25 years old, as pastor of the new Cupples Memorial Methodist Church, South, in University City, has precipitated a conflict between the Cupples Church Board of Stewards and Bishop E. E. Hoss, who made the appointment at the conference in Jackson.

The board, which controls the pastor's salary, voted not to receive the new pastor, and not to co-operate so long as he remains, in paying the current expenses of the church or in raising its $150,000 building fund.

That is as far as the stewards can go, for, while they hold the purse strings, the authority of the bishop in making appointments is absolute. Bishop Hoss lives in Oklahoma City and is said to have gone there after the close of the Jackson conference.

The Cupples Church, which until a few months ago was known as the University Church, serves an important neighborhood, and one containing prosperous Methodists, but its founding and maintenance have been a matter of some difficulty.

Opposed Former Pastor's Change.

The Rev. Ivan Lee Holt was founder of the congregation and was very much liked by the membership. The action of Bishop Denny, two years ago, in transferring him to Cape Girardeau, caused much complaint, even though the Rev. Dr. S. H. Wainright, former Presiding Elder and a man of great ability, was assigned in his place.

Dr. Wainwright went to Japan after a few months, and the Rev. E. T. Clark was then placed in charge. He gave satisfaction and under his pastorage progress was made in raising the building fund.

Some of the members believed Dr. Holt, the first pastor, was the man to carry the plans to completion, and a movement was started several weeks ago to persuade the Bishop to send him back from Cape Girardeau, where he had served two years of a successful pastorate. At the same time they asked that if the change were made the Rev. Mr. Clark be well provided for. This amounted to a request that Holt be sent back to University City and Clark to Cape Girardeau.

It was understood that Bishop Hoss was favorably inclined toward the University City church and that he had told some of its leading members he would do anything which he could reasonably do to aid in its plans. They assumed, from this, that if he could not give them Holt back he would reappoint Clark.

New Pastor Is Only 25.

There was, therefore, great surprise when it was announced Monday that Pastor Clark had been transferred to the Christy Memorial Church at Morganford road and Neosho street. The Christy church is a mission church, and is listed in last year's conference report as paying its pastor only $457, the rest of his living expenses coming from mission funds. The Cupples Church pays $1500 a year salary.

The Rev. Mr. Holmes, appointed to Cupples Church, was known to hardly any of the congregation. By inquiry, some of the members learned that he was 25 years old, had a wife and baby, was a college graduate and had been principal of a church school in the island of Cuba, but had preached only for the last year as supply pastor on the Hematite circuit in Jefferson County, 35 miles south of St. Louis.

Refuse to Receive Pastor.

This record, the stewards held, was good so far as it went, but they did not think it qualified the young man for the difficult task of building up a new church in a city residence section, and of interesting city business men in the church building project. Hence, they took the extreme and unusual measure of deciding not to receive the pastor.

The Rev. Mr. Holmes was reached by telephone at Hematite and asked whether, in view of the steward's action, he intended to take charge of the Cupples church. "I am in charge," he replied. "I was appointed by Bishop Hoss, without any solicitation on my part, and the laws of the church require me to proceed with my duties there until I receive further notice from the Bishop."

The stewards, who met at the Mercantile Club, are Dr. C. E. Burford, chairman; T. L. Mauldin, vice-president of the Burrow, Jones & Dyer Shoe Co.; Frederick Vierling, trust officer of the Mississippi Valley Trust Co.; G. F. Haid, a lawyer; T. F. Wood, department manager of the Shapleigh Hardware Co.; W. J. Haynes, president of the Haynes-Langenberg Manufacturing Co., and R. P. Jarrett.

The powers of Southern Methodist bishops are unique, exceeding even those of Roman Catholic prelates, for in the Catholic church the more important charges are irremovable rectorates, while in the Southern Methodist church the Bishop has the power to transfer every minister every year. No minister or Presiding Elder can remain in one place more than four years. The Bishops are not in permanent charge of certain diocese, as in the Catholic and Episcopal churches, but they form a national body, which meets and assigns different bishops to preside over certain conferences.

Some of those familiar with the workings of the conference at Jackson said that Bishop Hoss took the advice of the district Presiding Elders as to appointments to a much greater extent than is customary. Soon after the opening of the conference, a meeting of the "Bishop's cabinet," which consists of the Presiding Elders, was publicly called for the purpose of talking over the appointments.

The Rev. Charles M. Hawkins, Presiding Elder of the St. Louis district, when asked about the Cupples Church difficulty, said he would prefer not to talk of it.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent, never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

April 10, 1907. JOSEPH PULITZER.

LEADERSHIP OF THE HIGHEST TYPE.

It was a deserved tribute which Speaker Clark, from the floor of the House of Representatives, paid to President Wilson. He denied the assertion that the President had unduly influenced Congress in tariff legislation. He congratulated the Chief Magistrate upon the part that he had taken in the great work. He gave very sincere indorsement to the legitimate influence of the executive when he said:

"If I had been elected President, I should have got a good tariff bill through this House as sure as you are alive, if I do say it."

In spite of some ill-natured criticism of Mr. Wilson, there has been nothing to show a single misstep on his part. He has not used official patronage either as a bribe or a club. He has indulged in no threats. He has addressed himself wholly to Congress. In public speech as in private conference he has appealed only to reason and conscience.

The President is the head of the National Government, but he is also the head of his party. Failure to recognize this fact in either case would be only to invite disaster. In Mr. Wilson's relations with his fellow Democrats in Congress there has been true co-operation, with nothing fixed or arbitrary except principles and pledges. These, it is needless to say, were as binding upon them as upon him.

Political leadership of the highest type is so rare that Speaker Clark honored his party and himself no less than the President when he eulogized it.

THE REVOLUTIONIZED SENATE.

It is a sign of the revolution in the Senate that Senator Reed induced Senators to insist upon a close scrutiny of the tariff bill before its final passage, to be sure no joker was concealed in the schedules.

There was a time when the Senate would not only overlook a joker in a tariff bill, but would chuck a few in for good measure to the interests.

BLINDNESS IN MEXICO.

Washington first declined to recognize the Huerta de facto government as the legal government of Mexico, and now declines to treat with the rebels led by Gov. Carranza.

From the Washington viewpoint, there is no legal government in Mexico. Washington is waiting, with extreme patience, for the election of a legal government by the Mexican people.

Gov. Carranza says the rebels, controlling most of Northern Mexico, will not recognize any government elected under the auspices of the Huerta regime. If any man accepts such election, Carranza says the rebels, if they can catch him, will shoot him as a traitor.

When a situation like this existed in Cuba, Uncle Sam took charge, subdued both factions, supervised an election himself, warned the island republic against making further disturbance of peace and trade, and came away.

If the Mexican factions can learn nothing from recent history, they are blind, indeed.

THE COLONEL OFF AGAIN.

Our restless Col. Roosevelt is going to South America to shoot some fauna (at space rates) and consult with the local leaders. We may be sure he will tell them how to run their respective bailiwicks in the same modest vein in which he advised England and the Continent on his last trip abroad.

As a booster of the Yankee brand of government, Col. Roosevelt is easily the greatest we have ever had out on the road. In South America he will hasten if not actually bring about the fulfillment of Thomas Jefferson's dream of a republic which shall embrace the Western Hemisphere. To organize the South American United States with a view to absorption by our Union, a la Tennessee Coal and Iron, should appeal to the world's most Progressive citizen. In any event he will render South America a better and a safer place for George W. Perkins' children.

Col. Roosevelt never appears so well as when in remote countries, and is at his best below the Equator. In Rio, where there is no limit to the number of cups of coffee one may aspire to, he should appear to the greatest advantage. In the long perspective the North American public will watch him with interest and admiration. It is a curious tribute to the Colonel that the enthusiasm of this country for him should attain a considerable height on the eve of his departure.

MORE INTERMEDDLING WITH RAILROADS.

Ohio's Boiler Inspector has condemned 20 worn-out, defective locomotives on the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton Railroad, which happened to be about all the locomotives the road had on one important division. With all traffic tied up between Jackson and Springfield, the system is in a fix. It is pretended that the act preventing the use of engines which are likely to explode any minute and which ought to be in the scrap heap while service is interrupted, is in the interest of the public.

The public is going to rise up one of these days and stop this constant intermeddling on the part of officials with the operation of our railroad ——ties.

AN AMAZING PROPOSAL.

In considering the proposal of the Alton & Mississippi promoters to build the free bridge approach four points must be settled.

1. The question of legality in all its phases.
2. The engineering problem.
3. The merits of the plan from a practical railroad standpoint.
4. The cost.

The legality of the proposed deal is far from final settlement, in the opinion of Dillon, Thompson & Clay, the New York authorities, submitted by Promoters Haberman and Scherer. The opinion is guarded with so many contingencies as to facts, charter provisions and the actual wording of the ordinance yet to be passed that it is valueless. The opinion is silent in the important question of the power to condemn land for the approach.

In the face of this conditional opinion with important points uncovered is the opinion of the City Counsellor that the power to condemn is exhausted in the Reber approach and that the city cannot legally change the location now.

We see nothing in the legal phases of the proposal so far developed to set aside our view that the A. & M. proposal is more likely to insure prolonged litigation than a bridge approach.

We pass the engineering problem to competent engineers. In passing it we may remark that we cannot see the advantage of relinquishing an approved approach for a doubtful experiment.

As to the merits of the plan from a practical railroad standpoint, it is yet to be demonstrated that it approximates the advantages of the Reber approach. Apparently, it leads the bridge away from the railroads, and the connection with them by belt line far distant from their terminals is not even provided for in the offered deal.

On the question of cost the present approach so far excels the proposed deal that the two cannot be compared. Comptroller Player estimates the total cost of completing the bridge by bonds, including interest, at $4,950,000, paid in 20 years. The cost of the railroad approach alone, with neither the wagon nor the belt line connection with the Eastern railroads included, on the terms offered by Messrs. Haberman and Scherer, would cost $9,000,000, paid in 50 years. The city would get for this sum an incomplete and practically useless bridge. If the wagon approach and the belt connection are added the total estimated cost reaches $17,000,000.

Surely the Mayor and the members of the Municipal Assembly are not so anxious to avoid a bond issue which would complete the bridge for about $5,000,000 as to thrust upon the taxpayers an expense of $17,000,000, mostly unnecessary. Cowardice and extravagance could not go beyond this.

Examining the outlines of the A. & M. proposal we wonder what could have led the Mayor and Mr. Kinsey to hail it a solution of the bridge problem and to waste their own and the Assembly's valuable time. There is not yet a gleam of promise in the scheme, except possibly to promoters unusually well fortified with optimism and assurance.

"Honey Fitz" of Boston did not bring much honey to St. Louis.

NEXT WEEK'S FLYING IN ST. LOUIS.

Anthony Jannus is an expert, careful aviator. The other airmen who will help him to demonstrate the art of manflight in St. Louis next week are well-known, experienced men. There will be flying, and the comparatively new sport of the flying boat will be seen at its best on the river.

People of towns and cities in the Southwest who have not yet had the good luck to see men actually flying will find it worth while to come to St. Louis for this experience alone. The flying machine is the swiftest means of travel known. Every year it is being improved. The flying boat gives promise that in a few years men will fly across the widest seas in comparative safety. Still, it may be quite awhile before flight will become so commonplace that flying machines will pass everywhere and alight at the small towns and villages.

Better take a flier and come to St. Louis to see the latest in American flying inventions and how they give men more power than the birds.

A 5-cent rate to any part of the city has been obtained by Chicago over its several traction systems. The legal stipulations guaranteeing the same advantage were obtained by St. Louis many years ago, but are limited in practice by the company's refusal to give transfers on a transfer in certain instances.

SPANKING A WORLD.

The conclusion of Conan Doyle's great story, "The Poison Belt," in next Sunday's Post-Dispatch new Magazine, may well be compared with H. G. Wells' somewhat similar story, "In the Days of the Comet." It seems to have struck both these scientific romancers that if a great catastrophe should befall the world, it would, in a sense, serve it right. No doubt it richly deserves a spanking. But just a spanking—not complete destruction.

In order to spank a whole world, of course, the punishment must come out of space, be universal and irresistible. And that being so, the good as well as the bad will have to suffer. But only as a warning. Good and bad, with some exceptions, are let off for the time being, and the general effect is the same as when the master has appeared in school and enforced discipline with some sternness and a modicum of suffering.

The "test" coming during the remaining days of the special session is not so much a test of President Wilson's influence as of the force or public desires and demands President Wilson represents.

ST. LOUIS AND BOSTON.

By Frank Putnam.

Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston bids St. Louis rally lest its rivals pass it in wealth and population. St. Louis, he says, must spend money more liberally for parks, sewers and other services.

Boston is a city of approximately 650,000 inhabitants. Its bonded debt exceeds $100,000,000.

St. Louis, with approximately 700,000 inhabitants, has a bonded debt under $18,000,000.

Boston's assessed valuation for taxes exceeds $1,350,000,000. St. Louis is today assessed at approximately $600,000,000, or a shade less than half the Boston figure.

St. Louis assesses realty, its main revenue item, at a little over 60 per cent of its real value; Boston, at full value. In many instances the assessed valuation of Boston property exceeds its sale value.

St. Louis gets relatively a small revenue from the tax on personalty. Boston's personalty tax is very large. Every Western and nearly every Southern city pays yearly tribute to Boston investors. Their holdings in railroads, mines, irrigation and power companies, land mortgages and industrials draw into Boston a constant stream of revenue from all the states, available for local taxation. So the difference between the assessed values of the two cities does not accurately reflect the difference in real values. If St. Louis were assessed at full value the total would exceed $1,000,000,000.

Boston has very little revenue-producing property to show for its vast bonded debt. This fact explains why Boston preceded St. Louis in kicking out wasteful political management of municipal affairs and in attempting to get business efficiency in city hall by adopting a modified form of commission government with a small legislative body and a responsible Mayor-general manager in charge. Boston, like all the large Eastern cities, has gone through a costly experience of giving away its public service franchises to private corporations for a song, and of having its payrolls packed to the guards with the vote-controlling henchmen of the political bosses who "delivered" the franchises. Eight years ago Boston's city payroll carried the names of 40,000 employes, few of whom were rendering full-value service for the money they drew, thousands of whom gave no service whatever, or none that benefited the city. Boston's new, responsible government has purged the payroll.

St. Louis is most favorably situated of all large American cities for undertaking a big program of public betterments. Relative to its values subject to taxation, St. Louis has a smaller bonded debt than any other city of its class in America or Europe. It must be admitted that many of the large European cities, and especially the cities of Great Britain and Germany, have a larger percentage of revenue-producing properties publicly owned, to offset their bonded debt, than St. Louis.

St. Louis faces the immediate need to spend seven or eight millions rebuilding and enlarging its sewer system, another three millions for increasing its water service, and close to four millions for completing the city bridge. The park system calls for several millions to make the big park investment profitably serviceable to the people. St. Louis should be able to finish its program of foundation-laying, and its odds and ends of uncompleted works, like the bridge, with a total bonded debt under $35,000,000.

Bonds voted thereafter should be issued only to buy or create revenue-producing services, which will pay for themselves out of their earnings. It was the adoption of this policy, chiefly, which has enabled the modernized cities of Northern Europe to finance their great schemes of beautification, of housing and of cleanliness.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The "Best Looking Girl."

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Who is authority for all the vain and silly phrases such as "Best Looking Girl in America," "America's Best Looking Girl," etc? I am surprised that the pretty women of St. Louis do not resent this slight or insult. If every paper in the United States would print an assertion to that effect I for one would not believe such nonsense. The papers may fool most people with such headlines like we have been seeing the past week or two, but any man with a good eye and sound judgment knows better. BACHELOR.

The Cannon Ball.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Victor Hugo's prophecy in 1849 makes good reading at this time:

"A day will come when a cannon ball will be exhibited in public museums, just as an instrument of torture is now, and people will be amazed that such a thing could ever have been. A day will come when those two immense groups, the United States of America and the United States of Europe, will be seen placed in the presence of each other, extending the hand of fellowship across the ocean, exchanging their produce, their industries, their arts, their genius, clearing the earth, peopling the desert, improving creation under the eye of the Creator, and uniting for the good of all, these two irresistible and infinite facts, the fraternity of men and the power of God."

All over the world these words should be made conspicuous, along with Gen. Grant's "Let us have peace." Away with barbarism! F. N. H.

Life After Death.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

With much interest the article, "Life After Death," in Sunday's Magazine section of Post-Dispatch was read, no doubt, by many, the authority of the spokesmen being beyond question, they being very deep thinkers along scientific lines, or apparently Theosophists.

The survival of the soul after the body perishes is, however, nothing of recent evidence, but has been claimed and published for ages in the old and true religions; and convincingly shown in ancient and modern literature upon this subject. Reincarnation, or the return or rebirth of the soul in human bodies, again and again until spiritual perfection is reached, has also been proven beyond doubt to the thinking mind; much reliable information being obtainable in our Public Library.

Of course the misconception of the human spirit being reborn in animal bodies is most absurd and contrary to all laws of nature; as the life principle once clothed in human form, does not retrograde (with few exceptions), but continually progresses (true, sometimes very slowly), yet always advances from the lower toward the higher and divine, through experience and the realization of truth. This in accordance to nature's laws of evolution, which science is every day proving more and more. In a brief article details, of course, cannot be gone into, but there are many authoritative books obtainable in the library by those interested.

LOCAL QUATRAINS BY MAYOR FITZGERALD.

THEY say the spider and his cobwebs keep
The Free Bridge project where the railroads reap
Their unjust tribute from your business men.
Great Caesar's ghost, but this town is asleep!

I sometimes think the world has never known
Another city that is like our own
Progressive Boston in this great respect—
We do do things where I sit on the throne!

We have no People's League or Jeptha How
To get the city in this sort of row,
Nor any interfering Dr. Boyds.
We give the order, and the people bow.

We spend a dollar where you spend a cent
To give us prestige on this continent,
And you won't be able in a very few
Swift-flying years to see which way we went.

Whether the water front or on the land,
We get together and together stand,
Pushing the city with a cheery will,
And giving our money with an open hand.

It matters not how hard you persevere,
You cannot build a town for nothing here.
You could, if anyone could do it, true;
But it can't be done by anyone, I fear.

Wake up! Get busy! Kill a few tightwads!
The future beckons, and the city nods.
Your possibilities are simply great—
They can't be beat on this footstool of God's!

THE BANK AND THE PEA RIDGE POD.

The Pea Ridge (Ark.) Pod has the kind of ally every country newspaper ought to have. It is the Pea Ridge Bank. This is what the Pod has to say of the bank:

"The Bank of Pea Ridge, from the first issue, has been our best advertiser, their bill running as high as $5 a week. The bank takes just as much interest in getting up its advertisements as it does in keeping its accounts, and it pays and pays well. If any merchant in town or manufacturing plant would give the same careful attention to advertising in The Pod as the bank does it would pay better, for their business needs advertising more than the bank. Another thing the bank does is to buy extra copies of The Pod and mail them in their correspondences, the result is bankers and big business men are beginning to sit up and take notice of Pea Ridge. For this purpose you can get The Pod in a neat envelope for 1 cent each."

ANOTHER IMMORAL MENACE.

From the St. Paul Dispatch.

Before Congress finishes its conference labors on the tariff bill its attention should be called to the importation of a new fabric from the Philippines upon which, in the interest of public morals, a prohibitive duty should be laid. It is known as pina cloth from the fact that it is woven half of silk and half of the fiber of pineapple, and this description is given of it:

It is more diaphanous than the thinnest of voile, more pellucid than the most clinging crepe de chine and more transparent than the filmiest of crepe mohair. It can be doubled several times and still be transparent. In one layer it has no more thickness than a cobweb.

Think of the moral danger lurking in such a fabric in these days of X-ray skirts. Put on exhibition at the Commercial Museum of Philadelphia, a specimen of pina cloth was surrounded by throngs of admiring women. The result may be foreseen. It has come at the phychological moment. The craze for diaphanous skirts has reached the proportions of a Florentine fourteenth century frenzy and this superlatively transparent fabric will add new fuel to the flame of suggestive exposure. Think of the consequences.

DEATHTRAP AND DISGRACE.

From the Kansas City Star.

That there are more ways than one of fighting a grade crossing that is especially dangerous is illustrated near Norwich, Conn., where a sign is made to do double duty. It is placed on the Central Vermont Railroad crossing on the road between Williamantic and Norwich, where there is a trolley trestle shutting off all view of the railroad track until within five feet of it. The sign read as follows:

This Railroad Crossing is a Well-Designed DEATH TRAP
and is a DISGRACE

PORK BARREL FICTION.

From the Philadelphia Public Ledger.

In the early days of the pork barrel a Southern Congressman got an appropriation for an alleged river, but Sunset Cox affirmed that somebody bored an auger hole in the bed and the river disappeared. This was all right for that time, but now comes Kansas with a better one. The Arkansas River dried up and people had the bed sprinkled to keep down the dust. In the next pork barrel there should be a handsome appropriation to supply this stream with artesian water.

RISKY SNAKEBITE TREATMENT.

From the Dixon (Ky.) Journal.

W. L. Nall, of near Dixon, while cleaning out his barn, was bitten on the hand by a copperhead snake Monday. He immediately sucked the injured place to extract the poison, but as he had had several teeth extracted a few days before and his gums had not healed, it was thought for a time this might prove serious. Dr. C. M. Smith was called at once and no serious results are now expected.

Gen. Buckner.

From the Elizabethtown News.

Gen. S. B. Buckner of Hart County, who is in his ninety-first year, is the best-preserved man mentally of his age in Kentucky, if not in the United States.

No Financial Block Sys——

Some of the opinion expressed by men who have studied the situation indicate an impression that the New Haven road had a way of making past signals in its financial operations.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

CLEANSING.

C. B.—Remove lining of silver mesh bag before boiling it in water "to which a little ammonia has been added."

A. K. S.—White lace yoke: Lay upon a board covered with white muslin. Pin at every point of outer edge and rub into every thread with a "complexion brush" all the boracic talcum it will hold. If you have not the talcum, make it by mixing two-thirds of powdered starch with one-third boracic. Cover with a thick cloth for three days before beating out powder. To clean suede shoes and slippers: With a sponge dipped in best gasoline rub lightly and always in one direction, cleansing the sponge several times if the shoes be very much soiled. Dry in the wind and in the shade. Sandpaper brushed over worn parts restores them to their natural dull finish without the use of suede dressing.

THE IRISH FLAG.

PLEASE.—The Irish flag first made its appearance in 1798, when it was adopted by the United Irishmen, and it is said they chose green because it is a blend of orange and blue, to typify the union of the North and South. In point of antiquity the real Irish flag is the "spear and serpent," which appears in the arms of the O'Sullivans. Next to that comes the flag of Fiohn MacCumhail's militia, the golden sunburst on a blue ground, and the weight of opinion seems to favor this as the true national flag. Blue, indeed, was always Ireland's color until 1798. There are a number of other flags which have figured in Irish history, and all have their enthusiastic supporters. One of the most popular is the three golden crowns on a blue ground, which figures now in the arms of the Province of Munster. This was accepted after the Norman invasion in 1170 as the flag of Ireland, the three crowns typifying the three kingdoms of Desmond, Ormond and Thomond. It was retained until 1542, when Henry VIII abolished it and substituted the harp. Coming down to more recent times, Grattan's patriot Parliament did not recognize green, although it did accept the harp. Its flag was a golden harp on a blue ground. A new flag was evolved at the time of the Union, apparently for the express purpose of incorporating it in what is now known as the Union Jack. This was the red saltire on a white ground, which was christened "St. Patrick's Cross." Apparently it was "lifted" from the arms of Trinity College, Dublin, though how Trinity came by it is equally a mystery. We have this St. Patrick story: St. Patrick, although a priest, was also a wandering minstrel and always bore with him his harp with strings of gold upon which he played sweetly. When war time came to Ireland's sons the country lacked a flag to follow in the field. So St. Patrick took the stripes from a willow tree and neatly stitched them together to make a banner, but before he had finished his task the trumpet sounded "To Arms!" so he nailed it to his harp and joined the marching men. From that day on the green flag of Erin was ever emblazoned with a harp of gold.

FOUR DIMES.—There are no dimes bearing the letter L. The statement that four dimes, the combined letters of which would be S. O. L. D., is an idiotic joke, originating in some institution for the feeble-minded. It is amazing that the idiocy was not at once apparent to you.

DEBATER.—Write National Board of Censorship, New York, for its rules. To pass the board, films must have no suggestion of evil. Pictures detrimental to children are not allowed. There are some schools in which moving pictures are used for educational purposes and there are likely to be more in future.

INEXPERIENCED.—It is customary for a customer to deliver stocks to his broker before they are sold, especially if the stock is an inactive mining stock and the market for the issue a narrow one. Deal with a broker of good standing and demand a receipt for the stock when delivered. If delivery was not made, your broker might sell the stock for you and something happen to prevent your turning over the shares. In such case the broker would be "short" the stock and might lose a great deal of money in buying back the shares to cover his contract.

READER.—In Canton, O., last March, five boys were hypnotized over a long-distance telephone by Fernando Q. Loutzenheiser, who was in Pittsburg. Three physicians witnessed the performance, and assert the mastery of the five subjects was complete. Two of the boys were released from control after two hours. The three others were made to sleep in show windows of stores, and were awakened the next evening. Loutzenheiser is a telegraph operator who has been studying hypnotism. His long-distance feat was performed by a wager. Hypnotism is a fact, and cures have been effected by it. To make suggestions effective the subject must be in a receptive mental condition, willing as well as able to accept them. A preoccupied mind cannot concentrate upon the suggested idea, neither can a weak mind.

R. N. H.—(Supplemental.) A moving picture operator kindly writes: I am a moving picture operator and would like to say that one cannot safely operate a machine within a week, as he might be able to run a sewing machine but not a moving picture machine. He would not be an operator, but only what we call a crank turner, as he must know a great deal more to say that he is a moving picture operator. A man must at least work as an assistant for about nine months, and then he can't put up a machine. He can't get a job unless he has about nine months' experience, because they won't trust him, and he must have six months' experience before he can join the union. He must be 21 before he can join, because I have been turned down for that reason, and the fee to join is not $25 but $10, as it has been raised.

THE TURNING OF THE WORM

By JEREMY PRENTICE.

HOW John Beverly managed to capture the dashing and beautiful Margaret Ffoliot nobody ever knew. Of course the Beverleys were in our set, but only by virtue of their birth. They were one of our oldest families and we felt proud of them in a measure, but they hadn't any money and couldn't cut anything of a dash to speak of.

John left school about the same time I did and went into a banking office. He used to toil there for eight hours a day, when he might have been playing tennis at the country club, or hunting, or amusing himself traveling. And yet that slow coach won Margaret Ffoliot and they went to Europe for a two months' honeymoon.

You can imagine that we fellows looked forward with some interest to Margaret's return. They came back and rented a small place at Forest Glade, and it was soon evident that marriage hadn't hurt Margaret much. She was just as lively as ever, and things brightened up considerably when John wasn't around. John was the most effective wet blanket that anyone ever saw.

Bob Flinders had been Margaret's best friend before the marriage, and we were all anxious to know whether he would go to her house or not. I happened to be there when Bob called for the first time, and it was evident from the way John shook hands with him that he hadn't the remotest idea that people used to wag their heads when Bob and Margaret were spoken of. Everybody had imagined that they were cut out for each other when John Beverly sailed in and did the only dashing act of his career.

BOB WAS A SIGHT.

After the return Bob seemed quite reconciled to his fate. He was the most persistent caller at John's house—usually at times when John wasn't around. The heads began to wag again as before the marriage and some people wanted to give John a tip that Margaret and Bob were getting too friendly. It wasn't that they had any sympathy with John, for we all felt that he had done a dirty trick in cutting poor Bob out; but we wanted to see how John would take it.

"John will take it as he takes everything," said Jim Allen. "He'll say, 'Oh, really!' and dismiss the subject. Can you imagine John playing a man's part in anything?"

Nobody could. John had never been known to say anything stronger than "I'm sorry," and John's drink, on the rare occasions when he put in an appearance at the club, was barley water.

We soon found out that Margaret was dissatisfied with John. She was ashamed of him. She used to think that his slow ways concealed something delightfully unexpected, and that was what had captivated her. But once, when they were in Paris, a Frenchman had scraped acquaintance with her and said something insulting, and John, instead of thrashing him, had insisted that it was a mistake, and cause the man said it was. Margaret knew that John was a coward, and since that time she had lost all respect for him.

Another thing she had against him was that he didn't seem to mind her admirers. Some said he had too much faith in his wife, but most of us guessed it was just cowardice on John's part.

It was a few weeks after their return that some of the boys fixed up a joke on John. It seemed that Margaret had written Bob one or two letters in the old days, and she had wanted them back. Bob didn't want to give them back, because they appealed to his vanity, and they gave him a sort of hand over Margaret. He didn't show us the letters, but he did tell us the bargain he made with Margaret. He promised to give them back if she would give them back if she would give him a kiss, said kiss to be delivered on the first convenient occasion.

Of course, Bob didn't really mean that, because he was a good enough sort of fellow, but still, he wouldn't have been averse from taking one if he had had the opportunity. He told us that Margaret had laughingly accepted his proposition, and that the transaction was arranged to take place in the little garden at the back of the Country Club, where nobody ever goes. Bob was to be there with the letters and Margaret with the kiss, and Bob arranged that those of us who wanted to see the fun should watch from the windows of the billiard room, which would be sure to be empty, because the tables were being repaired.

Some of the fellows wouldn't stand for it, and we agreed that it was best to keep the joke to ourselves, because some people don't like fun of that sort, however harmless it may be. So I and Jim Allen, Ferdie Saunders, Tom Haynes and another whose name I don't recall just now, took our posts in the billiard room at 4 in the afternoon and watched the garden.

There was a grape arbor just at the side adjoining the place where Bob and Margaret were to meet, and at first we had thought of hiding in there. But Bob was afraid our mirth would be heard and he would get into trouble, and, as we found that we had a perfect view from the window, we were very well satisfied. It was as good as a play.

Margaret was the first of the actors to arrive, and we saw her pacing up and down the garden in an agitated sort of way. Of course she didn't dream that we were watching her, and she kept looking up and down in the most comical manner until Bob put in his appearance five minutes late. He apologized for it, but we knew that it was all done for effect. He had the letters in his hand and he gave them to her.

"You see, I trust you, Margaret," he said, and he thrust his head up so that he could wink at us. Margaret was much too agitated to see what he was doing. She kept looking right and left, as though she were afraid, and at last, when she had to deliver the goods, she looked into the grape arbor instead and —John came out.

It was a regular plant. You know, you never can trust a woman; they're so tricky. She had told John and, we supposed, spurred the poor creature into some sort of manhood. We had some difficulty in holding our laughter, for we wanted to see Bob wipe the ground with John without being detected and spoiling the game.

Jim Allen had raised the window ever so softly, so that we could hear everything that was said.

Bob stood smiling at John in a foolish sort of way, and when John spoke, his voice had a rasp in it that positively made me jump.

"You dirty blackguard," he said, "peel off your coat and look alive. I'm going to thrash you."

I thought that Bob looked scared, but he knew he had an audience and had to keep up his nerve.

"What for, Beverly?" he asked. "Hang it, can't your wife have any friends at all without your getting mad about it?"

"I'm going to make it worse for you for that," said John. "And if you ever dare to mention Mrs. Beverley again I'll give you what's coming to you all over again. Are you going to strip?"

"You bet I am," yelled Bob, and whipped off his coat and, running at John, suddenly ducked and hit him a fiendish blow just under the belt. It wasn't sport, but it was funny to see John double up suddenly.

We thought that he was done for, but all at once he seemed to straighten and come back at Bob with a thump on the nose which started the blood. And after that Bob didn't seem to have a show. John blacked his right eye and then his left, he tapped his nose again, split his lips open, and then he began to administer the most awful scientific pummeling that I ever heard of. And every time Bob went down John jerked him to his feet again and administered some more.

Bob was a sight when John got through with him. He was coated with blood and filth, and he was yelling "murder!" so loud that all the waiters had come up and stood round watching the game.

John picked Bob up for the last time. "Here's what you came for," he said, in the same even tone that he had always used, save for the rasp. And he took Bob by the throat and—kissed him!

Then he knocked him down again for good measure, and then he put on his coat. There wasn't a mark on him. He gave his arm to Margaret, and as they walked off together I noticed that she seemed to cling to him in a sort of manner that I hadn't seen her do before.

As I said, you never know what a woman will do. She had laid that trap for poor old Bob, and I bet she was the most surprised woman in the world to see the pummeling John gave him.

No, Margaret has cut our set now and goes in for the highbrows. She's real fond of John; it seems a shame that such a charming woman should be linked up with a slowcoach like that. As for Bob, he's gone West. He couldn't stand the jibes of his friends. They used to call him "barley water."

BE CAREFUL ABOUT WRITING YOUR LOVE LETTERS

A CORRESPONDENT should be very carefully chosen. It goes without saying that no well-bred girl would correspond with a person she had never met. It has sometimes happened that girls in factories or in shops or on farms have sent their names and addresses with some parcel they wrapped up and have received replies from total strangers. Going that far is bad enough, but any girl who goes farther and writes to such a stranger is not only ill-bred, but foolish.

Sometimes such a letter reaches a sensible middle-aged man with a family who promptly writes to the girl's father or employer and acquaints him with her folly, all for her benefit.

But usually the man who will write to a girl in response to such a letter is a waster of the most evil sort. At the worst she may get into a relation with him which will ruin her life; at the best, she may embarrass and compromise herself terribly and may be sure that her letters are bandied about and read by other men.

The assumption is that a girl must at least have met the man who asks her to write to him. But that is not enough; she should not only have met him, but she should have had a long acquaintance with him before she agrees to correspond.

The intention in the beginning is, of course, that the correspondence shall be merely a friendly one. But no one can tell when friendship will develop into love. If two people see each other often they can check or stimulate this development; they can learn thoroughly what each is like, and if either one 's going too fast, he or she can slow down the pace. They don't always do it, but at least they have the chance.

Misunderstanding and deceit can be carried on when people see each other face to face, but at least it is more easily detected under such circumstances than it is by letter. But see the dangers when they are separated.

There are men who are married and yet who are perfectly willing to carry on a sentimental correspondence with some unsuspecting girl; or who are engaged and yet are anxious to continue philandering as long as they can. There are girls who are engaged and who yet, from sheer vanity, are willing to write to men who love them and to whom they intend to give nothing.

So often one person of the correspondence has an ideal of the other which is absolutely false. Perhaps they are the more fortunate if the disillusionment and sorrow come before marriage. Only too frequently people who have conducted their courtship by letter hurry into marriage and then find themselves mismated.

There are records which may mean something at the time they are written, and may mean nothing in after years, and may be kept as uncomfortable evidence. This does not apply to all correspondence, but the cautious person will do well to remember that in uncertain cases letters may prove a dangerous pitfall.—Maude Radford Warren in Woman's World.

Uncle Sam's Bread Baker Gives Official Recipe

MISS HANNAH WESSLING, Uncle Sam's official bread baker at Washington, declares that mechanical precision is the only successful way to bake. This thing of "putting in as much as you think is right" doesn't work if you want good bread, she declares.

Miss Wessling, who is employed by the Department of Agriculture, at last has come upon what she calls the perfect recipe for breadmaking. Here it is:

"For three loaves, averaging about one pound each, make a ferment as follows: One ounce of compressed yeast, one ounce of granulated sugar, one-half ounce of salt, twenty fluid ounces of water at 86 degrees Fahrenheit.

"Select a place that is free from draughts and where the temperature may be kept constantly at from 85 degrees to 90 degrees Fahrenheit. Set the ferment there and leave it for an hour. Weigh out four and one-fourth pounds of flour and let this be warming in the same place.

"Then mix the ferment with the flour and cover the vessel closely and set it in the same warm place for 20 minutes. Mix again, cover and set aside for another 20 minutes. Then take up the dough with hands slightly greased, and fold over and over 14 times.

"Cover, set aside for 20 minutes again and fold nine times. Leave for another 20 minutes, mold into loaves and place in pans which have been lightly greased and warmed. Cover the latter with a towel wrung out of very warm water to prevent the formation of a hard crust on the dough. When the dough has expanded to three times its original volume the loaves are ready for the oven.

"The oven should be at a good steady heat, 400 to 470 degrees Fahrenheit. Forty minutes baking should be sufficient."

A Message to Thin, Weak, Scrawny Folks

An Easy Way to Gain 10 to 30 lbs. of Solid, Healthy, Permanent Flesh.

Thin, nervous, undeveloped men and women everywhere are heard to say, "I cant understand why I do not get fat. I eat plenty of good, nourishing food." The reason is just this: You cannot get fat, no matter how much you eat, unless your digestive organs assimilate the fat-making elements of your food instead of passing them out through the body as waste.

What is needed is a means of gently urging the assimilative functions of the stomach and intestines to absorb the oils and fats and hand them over to the blood, where they may reach the starved, shrunken, run-down tissues and build them up. The thin person's body is like a dry sponge—eager and hungry for the fatty materials of which it is being deprived by the failure of the alimentary canal to take them from the food. The best way to overcome this sinful waste of flesh-building elements and to stop the leakage of fats is to use Sargol, the recently discovered regenerative force that is recommended so highly by physicians here and abroad. Take a little Sargol tablet with every meal and notice how quickly your cheeks fill out and rolls of firm, healthy flesh are deposited over your body, covering each bony angle and projecting point. Judge & Dolph, Weipert Drug Co., Rabeteau, Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Johnson Bros. and other good druggists have Sargol, or can get it from their wholesaler, and will refund your money if you are not satisfied with the gain in weight it produces as stated on the guarantee in each package. It is inexpensive, easy to take and highly efficient.

Caution—While Sargol has produced remarkable results in overcoming nervous dyspepsia and general stomach troubles, it should not be taken unless you are willing to gain ten pounds or more, for it is a wonderful flesh-builder.—ADV.

Make This and Try It for Coughs

This Home-Made Remedy Has No Equal for Prompt Results.

Mix one pint of granulated sugar with ½ pint of warm water, and stir for 2 minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a pint bottle; then add the Sugar Syrup.

This simple remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever used. Usually conquers an ordinary cough inside of 24 hours. Splendid, too, for whooping cough, spasmodic croup and bronchitis.

This makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy ready made for $2.50.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in guaiacol and other natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes. Other preparations will not work in this plan.

Making cough syrup with Pinex and sugar syrup (or strained honey) has proven so popular throughout the United States and Canada that it is often imitated. But the old, successful mixture has never been equaled.

A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. If not, send to The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.—ADV.

A Coming Will Contest.

BREAKING wills is a most difficult job in the State of Pennsylvania. Daniel Webster discovered that fact when, as America's foremost lawyer, he attempted in vain to destroy the will of Stephen Girard.

The present endeavor to break the Garrett will, involving, according to report, over $10,000,000, will be one of the great will cases of that State in all time. No other contest involved so vast a fortune as that which Mrs. Jones Wister inaugurated to upset the will of William Weightman. But Mrs. Frederick Penfield has the property today, just as her father wished. That estate is much greater than either the Girard or Garrett fortune, but all are big and each involved a peculiar feature.

Webster built his argument chiefly around the fact that Girard had stipulated that no minister of any kind should ever enter the college he meant to found. The great orator contended that such a thing was contrary to the public well-being, but Horace Binney and his associates beat the Massachusetts Senator at the celebrated trial.

In the Weightman case a daughter got the entire $50,000,000 or more, while the children of her dead brother received nothing.

The Garrett case is peculiar because it has rarely happened in America, or anywhere else, that an individual in no way related to the testator should inherit such a tidy sum as $10,000,000 when only small amounts were given to relatives and charity.

According to a German official test networks of telephone wires over a city tend to diminish the danger from lightning.

GREAT MEN AS I KNEW THEM

By MRS. GEN. PICKETT.

ROSCOE CONKLING

SENATOR CONKLING was a leader of men, by reason of his dominant intellect aided by the impressiveness of his massive form and magnificent height. As a schoolboy he was easily master in classroom and on the playground without giving the impression of domineering.

At 15 his reading was extensive and his mind well stored with quotations from the best authors, which his retentive memory never lost and to which he constantly added until, as a man, he never lacked a choice bit of literature or philosophy with which to illustrate his idea or strengthen his argument.

Before his majority he was admitted to the bar, and his first case was tried before his father, Judge Conkling. He won the case, a triumph which speaks well for his legal ability, as the Judge was rigid as a Roman Senator in his restraint of paternal partiality. Six months before his twenty-first birthday Roscoe was appointed District Attorney.

Mr. Conkling was aggressive by nature, and when asked why he had first consented to come to Congress he replied:

"Because someone objected to my nomination. As long as one man opposed me I would run."

"Even if you were not so bad tempered I suppose legislative work is more interesting that poring over law books and talking to sleepy juries," I suggested.

"No; I would prefer the juries, and they never are sleepy when I talk to them. My natural place is before 12 of my client's peers."

"And you do not think that the 'royal purple eloquence,' which somebody long ago said that you gave to Congress, is wasted on a jury defending a man accused of libeling somebody or forging a note?"

"If I had a royal purple eloquence I should think it well employed in defending an innocent man from any accusation."

The fighting spirit of Mr. Conkling caused him twice to refuse what is really the highest position in the land, that of Chief Justice of the United States Supreme Court.

When the majestic form of Senator Conkling approached I always felt as if the dramatic spirit of the universe was towering over me. It really was not his fault that he was so beautiful as to be taken for a classic figure in a hall of art, or so spectacular as to produce the impression that he was an embodiment of a Shakspearian dream of kingship. He had a soul and its prime object in life was to expand itself for a great cause.

"If they had seen me lying on the floor writing a speech when I was too ill to sit at my desk they might believe that I meant what that speech expressed."

Even in the sudden and cyclonic end of Mr. Conkling's public life he fell a victim to the popular conception of him as a poseur. Those who most admired his intellectual ability and overpowering eloquence thought that he resigned from the Senate with the intention of standing for re-election and being returned by so enthusiastic a demonstration of confidence as to make his position of yet more commanding importance.

But the Adonis of the Senate was, like Cassius, "aweary of the world" and its kaleidoscopic politics, and in a sublime moment of transcendant indignation he threw away all that he had won in the political realm. He would gladly have retired unmolested to the seclusion of a small office in an obscure building on Nassau street, with no visible assets except the load of debts which he had accumulated by years of honesty in politics, perhaps not the least valuable of ethic assets.

In that fatal meeting at the house of Vice-President Arthur on Lexington avenue, New York, he yielded to the representations of misguided friends whom he felt under obligations to heed, he went to Albany, and the anti-climax followed to dim the luster of the great climacteric event in the life of Roscoe Conkling.

Made No Difference.

TWO women were mutually confiding their troubles.

"You can't think how this high cost of living affects us," confessed one. "Why, my bills for clothes alone are more than twice as large this year as they were last year."

"Mercy!" gasped the other. "I don't see how your husband can afford it!"

"That's the answer—he can't," said the first. "But he couldn't afford it last year. So what's the difference?"—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

SOME GOOD ABOUT HIM.

PICK out the folks you like the least and watch 'em for a while:
They never waste a kindly word, they never waste a smile;
They criticise their fellow men at every chance they get;
They never found a human just to suit their fancy yet.
From them I guess you'd learn some things, if they were pointed out,
Some things that every one of us should know a lot about.
When someone "knocks" a brother pass around the loving cup,
Say something good about him, if you have to make it up.

It's safe to say that every man God made holds trace of good
That he would fain exhibit to his fellows if he could;
The kindly deeds in many a soul are hibernating there,
Awaiting the encouragement of other souls that dare.
To show the best that's in them, and a universal move
Would start the whole world moving in a hopeful, helpful groove;
Say something sweet to paralyze the knocker on the spot,
Speak kindly of this victim if you know the man or not.

The eyes that peer and peer to find the worst a brother holds;
The tongue that speaks in bitterness, that frets and fumes and scolds;
The hands that bruise the fallen, though their strength was made to raise
The weaklings who have stumbled at the parting of the ways—
All these should be forgiven, for "they know not what they do;"
Their hindrance makes a greater work for wiser ones like you.
So when they scourge a wretched one who's drained sin's bitter cup,
Say something good about them, if you have to make it up.

The Big Sleep.

A MIDDLE-AGED couple were preparing to leave for a week-end with a daughter in the city, and their last instructions to their grown-up son, who was a heavy sleeper, were to be sure and wind his alarm clock, so that he would be in time for his work the next morning.

Monday noon they got back to the house and were surprised to find the blinds closed exactly as they had been left the Friday previous on their departure. As they let themselves into the house they heard their son's voice coming sleepily from his bedroom:

"What's the matter? Did you miss your train?"

35,000-WORD DIARY OF MOODS LEFT BY MAN ENDING LIFE

Account of Morbid Self-Analysis Sent to the Editor of a New York Magazine.

DEATH PLANNED 9 MONTHS

Body of Disillusioned Reader of Ibsen and Shaw Is Found in Surf.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—The body of a young man, found floating in the surf off Manhattan Beach Point, has been identified as that of Wallace E. Baker, whose mother lives in Montreal, and whose own last residence was in New York. Letters and a diary left by Baker showed he had died by his own hand, in fulfillment of a purpose reached nine months ago.

"What was the use, I said time and again, of my brilliance, of my love of study, of athletics, of my careful life, if it was turned on me and made into a fault, a crime?" Baker wrote in his diary, which filled 145 pages of an account book 10 by five inches in size—35,000 words of morbid self-analysis. This diary had been sent by registered mail to B. Russell Hertz, who founded the International Magazine with Richard Le Gallienne in 1908, and has continued to be its contributing editor.

Moods Affect Chirography.

With the book went a letter, which read:

"I am sending you a record of a young man about to commit suicide. My only object in publishing it is to ease the way for someone who may come after. Kindly read it through, especially the latter part. I have cut out all the references to persons because I can't be worried about myself after death. I don't sign my name. You may verify my death by communicating with Mr. Seidler, whom I have written today to look after my effects in New York."

Seidler is Herbert F. Seidler of Toronto, Canada, to whom a registered letter was sent at the time of the dispatch of the communication to Hertz. Hertz had no personal acquaintance with Baker.

The moods that ruled Baker made themselves manifest in the chirography of the diary. Sometimes the writing is flowing; sometimes it suggests that it was done only with great effort.

Entries repeat the motive of discouragement until there comes this declaration: "With love and passion gratified, I could live; without, I must die."

Entries in Many Cities.

These entries are made under date of many cities—from Chicago to San Francisco and back again, with the record of a long stay in Cuba. There Baker found work that was profitable, if not otherwise to his liking, for he returned to the United States with $400 laid aside. In Chicago, on Jan. 28, 1913, he came to his determination to take his own life, writing: "On Jan. 10 I made up my mind to commit suicide on my twenty-third birthday, May 10 next."

He set forth at length his reasons for this conclusion—disillusionment, quarrels with relatives, vagueness of ambition, fact that his uncle's wife "chilled him," and lack of recognition. He read Ibsen and Bernard Shaw. He wrote:

"Reading Bernard Shaw showed me that much that I had thought to be artistic temperament, ideals, sentiment, was plain romantic illusion, and I did not feel that I was called upon then to sacrifice myself for humanity without the esthetic pleasure my illusions had given me. Before this I had unwittingly cloaked my own desires and passions under the guise of doing something worth while, of uplifting and what not.

"Curiously enough, all my ambitions, ideas, etc., returned on further reading of Shaw in Chicago, after I had started on the assumption of suicide on May 10. I took them back with the idea that now I was through with romantic illusion and prepared to face reality."

EPISCOPALIANS WANT MORE NAVY CHAPLAINS

It Will Be Pointed Out at Convention There Are Only 24 Advisers for 50,000 Men.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—On the eve of the general convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church, to be held beginning Oct. 8 at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, a movement has been started to increase the number of chaplains in the navy. This subject is inherited from the general convention, which met in Cincinnati in 1910. The idea is to make the posts of the army and the navy a special diocese.

Representations undoubtedly will be made at the general convention that there are not enough chaplains in the army and navy properly to take care of the spiritual welfare of the officers and men. Other denominations will be asked to join in the demand upon Congress that more chaplains be appointed, particularly in the navy.

It will be pointed out, for instance, that in 1858, three years before the Civil War, there were 10,000 officers and men in the navy while now there are 50,000 officers and men. Yet the number of chaplains has remained constant—24 then and now.

ENDS LIFE WITH TIN TAG

Indianan Is Found in Houston Detention House.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 2.—William M. Dammeyer, said to be a business man of Indianapolis, Ind., severed the arteries in his wrist with a tin tobacco tag and bled to death, while under detention here. The man was dead when attendants at the city jail went to the detention room to release him.

Dammeyer had been taken from a hotel because of his strange actions.

TOM MANN URGES WORKERS TO TAKE LAWFUL PROFITS

English Leader Suggests That Laborers Rise and Get Control of Wealth.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 2.—Urging "distribution with the greatest equity," at Labor Temple here, where he addressed a meeting of local workers. He asserted many workmen were living in poverty, and below the line of poverty in this country and in Europe, and discussed remedies for social justice.

"There are some," Mann said, "who maintain that we must democratize the Government in order to establish a return of the conditions under which everybody will have a fair chance to earn a living. Return to the places of power representatives of the working man,' say these people. Then the working class can utilize the Government machinery to nationalize all industry.

"I do not agree with this view. I believe the remedy for present conditions and for the overthrow of the capitalistic class is to get at the root of the economic life of all countries, and work upward.

"Let the laboring man rise up and take the lawful profits of his trade. Then the working class will really be in control of the Government, and evntually there will be no need for government."

Women Fail to Defeat Police Judge.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 2.—Complete returns from the city and county primary elections show that Edward P. Mogan was re-elected a Police Judge by the largest vote of any candidate for office, although he had been opposed by four of the six daily newspapers and by the allied woman's clubs of the city.

Sixth Sense Is Shown by Blind Workers' Exhibit

Teaching a sightless man to make baskets and a blind woman who is expert on the sewing machine.

Woman Who Cannot See Tells Difference in Colors and Adjusts Sewing Machine.

IT is a study of human interest for anyone who is interested in human nature to visit the special exhibit given by the Missouri Association for the Blind, on the second floor of the Grand-Leader. The exhibition is arranged under a rustic pavilion that suggests the autum leaves, the coloring of which those who work in the dark of blindness cannot see. But they work, these blind persons, with fingers and do things that other men and women who have clear eyesight cannot do.

For instance, these men and women, some of whom were born without ever having seen light or the colors of the rainbow, or the sun rising in the east across the ocean, or its rays setting over the mountains of the west, are able with the sense of touch to perform duties that other more fortunate human beings cannot do. They make baskets, operate typewriting and sewing machines, tell the differences of colors in fabric by the sense of smell.

There are two women at the Grand-Leader who stand out in their afflictions. Miss Bessie Beane and Miss Sarah Wood. Miss Beane is a musician and has passed the examination of the State Teachers' Association. She gives music lessons and has a fine soprano voice. She is in charge of the Grand-Leade. exhibit. She tags all the goods, writing the names and addresses on a typewriter made especially for the blind and operated by the Braille system. By the Braille system the blind read with their fingers. When a name and address is to be written Miss Beane taps the keys of her machine and dots are raised upon a card. This card is passed to a typist who is familiar with the method. She in turn transcribes the raised dots and dashes on another machine so that the whole is legible.

Miss Wood's specialty is the sewing machine. Although blind she can handle any make of sewing machine. She repairs them, oils them, and can make any kind of a delicate adjustment on the machine. She keeps house for herself, does her own washing and ironing and has been a housemaid in several families. Once she is in a home she soon becomes acquainted with the geography of the household. She tells the difference in colors of fabric by touch and smell. These blind folk also make baskets that are put on sale for their aid. The men make brooms and other things.

One of the most earnest workers in the cause is Miss Caroline W. Bates. Col. James Gay Butler is president of the organization, John Green Jr., vice-president, and W. F. Carter, treasurer.

FINDS A $5000 PEARL WHILE EATING OYSTERS

Diner Bites Hard Substance, Takes It to Jeweler Who Declares It Is Valuable Gem.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—George Rogovoy, a Russian tourist visiting in this city, dined with his wife last night in a fashionable restaurant. While eating his third oyster Rogovoy bit into something hard. He took the substance from his mouth and threw it along the floor with impatience. His wife said: "My dear, that might have been a pearl."

"Pooh!" said Rogovoy. Nevertheless when his teeth again closed upon something hard in the sixth oyster he took it from his mouth and examined it. Then he and his wife went to a jeweler and were informed that the object was a pear-shaped pearl of perfect contour and about twice as large as a large pea. They were told it is worth $5000.

MAST OF MAINE WILL BE ERECTED IN ARLINGTON

Bids Opened for Construction of Setting for Relic of Destroyed Battleship.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—Final preparations for erection of the mast of the battleship Maine in Arlington National Cemetery here began today with opening of bids for the construction of a setting for the relic. The mast is to stand over the spot where repose the bones of the Maine victims brought here for burial.

The setting is to consist of a circular base of granite, similar in contour and effect to the turret of a battleship, and designed to harmonize with the sturdy character of the mast with its fighting top. On the granite base will be carved the names of the two officers, 232 sailors and 28 marines who lost their lives when the Maine went down.

It's easy to keep in touch with prospective tenants if Post-Dispatch wants are used to tell of the conveniences offered.

Life A Burden?

Mrs. Annie Dye, of Craig, Neb., says: "I suffered as only those who have had similar troubles can know—backache, pains all over, swellings. It was difficult for me to remain on my feet, and life became a burden for me. A friend recommended CARDUI, and I commenced to use it. In a short time there was a great improvement in my condition, and as I continued to use it, the swelling gradually left me, and I felt like a different person. I am 50 years old, and feel as well as anyone for my age." As a tonic for tired, nervous, worn-out women, CARDUI has a record of many years success.

50-Year Litigation in Supreme Court.

LINCON, Neb., Oct. 2.—The Supreme Court opened the October term Tuesday by hearing ten cases, five of which referred to the failure of the Capital City National Bank here 20 years ago. Chief Justice Chase did not sit with the court in these cases because he was an attorney in the litigation.

ELY'S CREAM BALM OPENS CLOGGED NOSTRILS AND HEAD—CATARRH GOES

Get a small bottle anyway, just to try it; apply a little in the nostrils and instantly your clogged nose and stopped-up air passages of the head will open; you will breathe freely; dullness and headache disappear. By morning! the catarrh, cold-in-head or catarrhal sore throat will be gone.

End such misery now! Get the small bottle of "Ely's Cream Balm" at any drug store. This sweet, fragrant balm dissolves by the heat of the nostrils; penetrates and heals the inflamed, swollen membrane which lines the nose, head and throat; clears the air passages; stops nasty discharges and a feeling of cleansing, soothing relief comes immediately.

Don't lie awake tonight struggling for breath, with head stuffed; nostrils closed, hawking and blowing. Catarrh or a cold, with its running nose, foul mucous dropping into the throat, and raw dryness is distressing, but truly needless.

Put your faith—just once—in "Ely's Cream Balm" and your cold or catarrh will surely disappear.—ADV.

RUSSIA NOTIFIES U. S. PINDELL IS ACCEPTED

Editor's Nomination for Embassador Expected to Go to Senate at Once.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The Russian Government, in reply to an inquiry from the State Department, has signified that Henry M. Pindell, the Peoria editor, will be acceptable as American Ambassador to Russia, to succeed Curtis Guild of Massachusetts, resigned.

It is expected Pindell's nomination will be sent to the Senate immediately.

Pindell has been here for several days and, on learning of the favorable action by Russia, prepared to return to his home at Peoria. After the nomination has been acted upon by the Senate Pindell will come back to Washington for a conference with officials on pending Russian affairs before departing for his post at St. Petersburg.

INQUEST INTO ADMIRAL EATON'S DEATH RESUMED

Within 12 Days of Date of Trial of His Widow, Charged With Poisoning Him.

HINGHAM, Mass., Oct. 2.—Inquest into the death of Rear Admiral James Giles Eaton was resumed today, though District Attorney Barker gave no reason for reopening it, only 12 days before the date of trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, the widow, charged with causing the death of the Admiral, March 8, by poison. The inquest was interrupted last March by the arrest of Mrs. Eaton, who has since been in jail in Plymouth.

Several new witnesses were heard, including Mr. and Mrs. John Hilts, neighbors of the Eatons at Assinippi, and a woman nurse who attended the Admiral in his last days.

It has been hinted the defense will attempt at the trial to show that the Admiral died from an overdose of a tonic drug which it is claimed he had been in the habit of using.

The prosecution will charge a series of domestic quarrels preceded his death.

Promises Interesting Events.

Announcements that are being made by the Weil Clothing Co. are raising the expectations of the prospective clothing purchasers, and judging by past achievements of this establishment, these expectations will be realized. The occasion marks the opening of their enlarged business and the ushering in of a new season.

They promise two very interesting events. One takes place Friday and the other on Saturday. The first event on Friday will be the opening of their enlarged boys' clothing department, which is to occupy the entire third floor. Souvenir specials will be offered for the occasion. The second event on Saturday will be the inaugural sale of fall clothing for everybody, that provides unusual economies. The progress of the Weil Clothing Co. is evidence that these energetic merchandising movements are fully appreciated by the buying public.

TROOPERS STOP STRIKE RIOT; SIX MEN ARRESTED

Women in Great Crowd Which Tries to Stop Workmen From Entering Copper Mines.

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 2.—Rioting at the Allouez Mine in Keweenaw County today resulted in the arrest of six supposed copper mine strikers. Men going to work were stoned and mounted troops were compelled to use their riot sticks to disperse the mob. Gen. P. L. Abbey was personally in charge of the military activities and ordered the arrests.

Fifteen hundred strikers and sympathizers, including many women, had gathered to stop workmen from entering the mine. The crowd was in an ugly mood and many of the persons in it were armed with stones and clubs. The cavalry, however, gained control of the situation.

Big Chicago Postal Business.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Postal receipts for the Chicago Postoffice for September were 26 1-5 per cent larger than for September, 1912, the total receipts for the month being $2,321,086.97. Postmaster Campbell attributed much of the increase to the parcel post.

TARIFF HOLDS UP CATTLE

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 2.—American cattlemen are holding thousands of head of Mexican cattle in bond at El Paso, 1443 at other points on the border, awaiting action on the tariff bill providing free importation.

One local firm has 5000 head in bond, and claims it will save $25,000. One thousand are being held at El Paso, 2443 at Alpine, Tex., 2000 at La Jitos, and others are at points east and west of here.

The cattlemen are permitted to hold the cattle in bond for six months.

BEER DRINKING INCREASES

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 2.—One of the chief problems for solution at the convention here of the United States Brewers' Association is how to keep pace with the demand for beer, according to E. A. Faust, chairman of the Crop Committee.

"Beer consumption is growing faster than the population. The time is very near when the consumption will be more than 100,000,000 barrels annually," Faust said.

'BIRD CAGE,' PLAY BY FORMER RECTOR, TOO BOLD TO PRINT

Henry Austin Adams, the Author, Abandoned Family, Eloped With "Mystic Soul."

HIS EXPERIENCE STAGED

Brewer's Son Plans to Produce It in New York After Trial on Providence, R. I.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Philip Bartholomae, a playwright-manager, and son of a wealthy brewer, who went into play-producing business last winter, intends to present in this city a sex play of so bold a nature that parts of the plot cannot be published.

The play, "The Bird Cage," is the work of Henry Austin Adams, formerly an Episcopal rector in this city, who left his church for Roman Catholicism, abandoned his wife and four children and eloped with an 18-year-old girl, asserting she was his "mystic soul."

"The Bird Cage" is being played this week at the Providence Opera House, Providence, R. I., where the police have permitted it to run unmolested, and where it has drawn throngs of persons interested in this sort of drama. A metropolitan opening is being sought for it, and it may get into William A. Brady's Forty-Eighth street theater, provided "Today," due for its first performance next Monday, is not a success.

Over Marital Experiences.

In "The Bird Cage" Adams has admittedly written of his own marital experiences, but denies he is holding a brief for trial marriages and free love. He has, in a sense, reversed the experience of himself and his wife, but anyone familiar with the author's history would, it is said, have little difficulty in recognizing the living characters in their stage guises.

The elopement of Adams with Gertrude Desch of Baltimore, Md., took place in August, 1902, not long after he had renounced his faith and turned to the lecture platform. The young woman had been a guest at the Adams home in Brooklyn. Long after the flight, Mrs. Adams heard her husband had married Miss Desch in a mistaken notion that Mrs. Adams had divorced him. Next, she heard he had learned the truth and planned to sue her. To protect her children, Mrs. Adams obtained a divorce. Miss Desch soon became the legal wife of the lecturer.

Play Is Very Modern.

In view of recent police interference with underworld dramas, is is thought managers will be cautious about presenting the play in this city. When Lee Shubert was asked if he would permit the play to be exploited in one of his houses, he replied that he could not say definitely, as he had not witnessed a performance.

"If all that has been said of the piece is true, I shall certainly close our doors against it," he said.

"I knew nothing about Mr. Adams," said Bartholomae. "The play came to me through a play broker. I was impressed with its possibilities, but it was crude; so I sent it back to be rewritten. When the manuscript was returned to me, with the changes I had suggested, I accepted it. I see nothing in it to which the police or anyone else could object. The play is very modern, but it does not make light of the marriage institution. I am sure there will be no occasion for police interference."

Graduated With Honors.

Adams, now 51 years old, is a native of Santiago, Cuba. Early in life he was brought to this country, and, after his preparatory education, entered Trinity College at Hartford, Conn., from which he was graduated with honors. He took courses in Heidelberg and Bonn and in the Episcopal General Theological Seminary.

The young student entered the ministry as an assistant to Dr. Morgan Dix, rector of Trinity Church. Thence he was transferred to St. Paul's Church, Buffalo. He remained there for a brief term and then accepted a call to the Church of the Redeemer, New York. It was when he was rector of that parish that he embraced the Roman Catholic faith.

Adams next took to lecturing and it was while on a tour South that he met Miss Desch.

Divorced Wife Still Loves Author, Wishes Him Success.

HARTFORD, Conn., Oct. 2.—Mrs. Flora C. Adams, divorced wife of Henry Austin Adams, who is companion to Miss Dorothy H. Swift, niece of the late Rowland Swift, president of the American National Bank of this city, told a Post-Dispatch correspondent that she had heard her "gifted and magnetic husband" was author of a play and that she hoped he would have unlimited success, though, she added, "it does seem awful that he should now cause the recalling of all the unpleasantness.

"I still love him," she went on quietly. "I think he must have been crazy when he ran away with Miss Desch, leaving me and our four children penniless. Still I love him. He is a wonderfully magnetic man and when he speaks to a woman she forgets all else and there is nothing or nobody but him for the moment."

CHANGE IN DEAD LETTER SALE REDUCES BUYERS

Method of Offering Parcels in Large Lots Cuts Receipts About One-Half.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—There were few buyers at the dead letter sale of the Postoffice Department because of a new method of offering parcels in large lots. Dealers bought most of the bargains, and the department realized about half what it would have realized with more competition.

The packages brought from $3 to $75, and contained sundry articles from a crab net to a silk stocking. One old negress picked out a pair of shoes that she thought would fit her, pulled off her own brogans and was putting the new ones on when a clerk stopped her.

"I got my winter shoes at this sale every year," she said. "I am going to pay you for these if they fit."

"You must buy all that is in that box if you take one pair," said the clerk.

"How much will the box bring, you think?"

"About $7."

"That's too much for me; $1.50 is my limit. Good day."

German Airman Released by French.

BOULOGNE, France, Oct. 2.—The French authorities granted an authorization to depart from France to Lieut. Steffen, the German officer who landed near here with his aeroplane on Sept. 30. Lieut. Steffen said he had not intended to fly across French territory, but had been blown out of his course.

INVENTOR MAKES DOUBLE INFLAMMABLE BULLET

Frenchman Designs It for Destruction of Airships; Invents New Shrapnel Shell.

PARIS, Oct. 2.—An obscure inventor named Sava Rogosea has just demonstrated discoveries which promise to revolutionize rifle firing. His invention consists of a special cartridge and double inflammable bullet, primarily designed for the destruction of airships. In his experiments Rogosea used a gun built in 1830. Although his cartridge was filled with powder, spectators were astonished to see neither smoke, flash nor recoil as he fired, the strange long bullet traveling straight to the target instead of executing a series of irregular bounds as it should have done, according to acceptable ballistic laws. The bullet carried 1200 metres, but it is calculated that with a modern rifle it would have carried 3000 metres.

Rogosea claims to have invented a cannon costing only $80 francs or about $60, easily carried by two men, which can throw a shell 7000 metres. Another invention which he has brought forward is a shrapnell shell which scatters its contents along the level of the ground, mowing all in its path instead of dropping from above.

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 2.—The law abolishing hanging as a method of capital punishment and substituting the electric chair has gone into effect in Nebraska.

FIREMEN WILL ADDRESS 350,000 CHICAGO PUPILS

Uniformed Men Will Instruct Children on Fire Prevention Day, October 9.

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Three hundred and fifty thousand school children will be addressed by uniformed firemen Oct. 9, which was designated as "fire prevention day" in a proclamation issued today by Mayor Harrison.

They will be told that a majority of fires are caused by carelessness and how they can do their part in keeping the city safe. A brief story of the great Chicago fire will be read to them. Fire alarm signals will be shown and they will be instructed how to use them.

BILLIKENS BETTER THAN LAST SEASON, BOSS DENNIE SAYS

Coach Believes Absence of Individual Stars Makes for Better Team Work.

TENNESSEE U. TO PLAY BILLIKENS ON OCT. 25

NEGOTIATIONS soon will be closed for a football game between St. Louis U. and Tennessee U. of Knoxville to be played here Oct. 25. This, at present, is an open date on the Billikens' schedule, but has been offered to and tentatively accepted by Tennessee U. The game will be staged at Sportsman's Park, as will all other battles after Oct. 11. The first two games will be played at St. Louis U. campus, because the local fall series then will be in progress.

By W. J. O'Connor.

"I haven't as many stars as I had last season, but I have a better team," is the cheerful, even though paradoxical, admission of Fred Dennie, football coach at St. Louis U. To elucidate this, Dennie added:

"I have a team composed entirely of beginners this season. They are not heavy, and neither are they light. They have the makings of a neat little machine, and unless I miss my guess I'll have a 30 per cent stronger eleven next Thanksgiving day than I had a year ago. The reason is that I see a chance to develop team work. Individual stars, such as we had last fall, make for poor team work. And team work is everything in football."

Billikens to Average 165.

Dennie says he will have an eleven that will average around 165 pounds. Allowing for the coach's usual 15 per cent off, it is safe to say the Billikens will strike a team average of 172. There are no individual speeders on the squad, although all are averagely fast.

Yesterday Dennie had the first scrimmage practice of the season. He had a squad of 26 men out, and put them through some hard paces. He was well satisfied with the results. For the opening game with Shurtleff Saturday, he will nominate the following line-up:

Smith, center; Vaught and Goettler, guards; Herrmann and Stanislav, tackles, Capt. Kistner and Thomas or Brown, ends; Carroll, quarterback; Watkins and Gasseway, halfbacks, and Kane or Harrison, fullback.

Carroll's Year to Shine.

Railbirds at the blue and white campus believe that Percy Carroll, the diminutive quarterback, will prove a star this season. "Carroll is a smart player," said a person who should know, "and he has the confidence of his men this year. Last season the players thought that J. Maguire was what the doctor ordered in quarterbacks. They would work for nobody but Maguire. This season Carroll has taken command in great shape, and he has his team well in hand. He's a crafty field general and adept at hurling the forward pass."

Dennie is fortunate in having three comparatively light games to start with. Opening against Shurtleff, he will next tackle [illegible] Poly and then Rolla. The first big game is with Tulane U. on Nov. 1.

Dennie is being assisted just now by [illegible] Smith, Brown '09. Smith and Dennie were teammates on the Brown team, which held Harvard to a 6—5 score in [illegible] and yielded to the then powerful [illegible] eleven by a comparatively thin margin of 13—5. Smith played at center and tackle, and will assist Dennie with the linemen.

INDIANA TEAM EXPECTS TO WIN FROM MAROONS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 2.—Students of Indiana University have unbounded faith in the ability of the cream and crimson football team to defeat the University of Chicago Saturday and already more than 400 have planned to go to Chicago on the special train which will leave here Friday morning. The delegation will be headed by the university band and will parade through Chicago streets on their arrival.

The Indiana-Chicago game is the most important in the West to be played Saturday and in addition it will be the first game to be played in the University of Chicago's new stadium.

It is conceded by football experts who have seen the Indiana squad of 40 at work that the cream and crimson has the best [illegible] in years.

WRAY'S COLUMN

Moral: Toot Your Own Horn.

OSCAR MATHEW BATTLING NELSON is the most indomitable self-booster in the pugilistic or any other field, for that matter. By dint of Spectacular self-exploitation here is Bat, three years after the lightweight championship has been knocked out of him, granted a feature match at the Milwaukee fight club, and getting quite as much notice out of the same as would Ritchie or McFarland.

What other "has been" fighter can boast the financial success of the Dane who, more than a year after his dethronement, was able to pick up $20,000 in three months from a barnstorming tour?

What other scrapper, known to be totally "in," with broken hands and a near-pulp body, the result of many ring batterings, has been able to go on fighting before good clubs and getting good money—and keeping it?

• • •

Bat's Most Painful Trimming.

NELSON is supposed to be rich and many wonder why, when his chance at glory is through, he keeps up the punishing grind of gaining his daily bread by aid of his mauleys. But—this comes on good authority—Bat is hot so near the millionaire's mark as he once was, since he became interested in a Texas ranch to the extent of over $50,000. The jolt handed him by a bunch of title jugglers in the Lone Star State is said to have sent him back to the ring to recoup his losses.

'Tis a game, hustling, deserving lad, this modern Viking, even if he does like to turn on a full head of steam when tooting his own horn.

• • •

Bat Loses the "Durable" Title.

NELSON lost another title, this year. Bat used to be known as the nerveless wonder, the champion receiver of beatings. 'Tis said Bat never won a fight in which he wasn't the worse whipped man of the two.

But Young Togo, the diminutive Japanese, who fought here against "Tickles" Sanders, deserves the palm. Any fighter who has to be rescued from slaughter by a referee, on Friday, and then can come back and take another beating of the same sort on Tuesday, is some receiver.

• • •

Togo Insensible to Pain.

TOGO is a freak. Dr. I. W. Powell, who saw the Moose Club bout here, expressed doubt if the Jap were sensible to pain at all. Sanders hit him knockout punches direct to the chin, with all his force, but never staggered the Mongol. Knocked down by sheer impact, the Jap rebounded from the floor like a rubber ball. Just once in the eight rounds did Togo show weakness, and that was when a hard upper cut started his knees sagging; instantaneously, however, the effect passed and the cave man came back for more.

• • •

Togo Should Be Abolished.

PROMOTERS should be prevented from staging such exhibitions. They serve no good purpose and are not pleasing to the crowd. It's like watching a brute belaboring a mule over the head with a stake.

As for the manager who is using this poor tool to grab in a few dimes for himself—well, ask yourself your own opinion of a man who would send in a human being to be half killed twice in one week for the sake of a few—a very few dollars.

• • •

Connie Mack's Prayer: "Rain!"

CONNIE MACK is doubtless lifting his voice for rain. About Thursday or Friday of next week, Mr. McGillicuddy could look with some relief on a precipitation of about an inch, just about game time.

For Connie wants to see the world's series punctuated by full stops. The reason is this: Starting on Tuesday, the championships will be contested without intermission for five successive days—provided the same club does not win the first four battles.

But Connie Mack has only two veteran pitchers, Bender and Plank. In five days he could not get enough rest for these men, after using them once, to send them back into the fray fully strengthened for a world's series test. McGraw, on the other hand, has four topnotchers on whom to rely, and can come back in regular turn with a strong card for each game played during the struggle.

ODDS OF 4-TO-1 BENDER DOESN'T WIN TWO GAMES

Freak Bets on Coming World's Series Are Popular With Gotham Fans.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Betting on the outcome of the world's series baseball games, which open in New York, Oct. 7, started at 10 to 6. It mattered not whether the odds were wanted on Philadelphia or New York, 10 to 6 were the figures. That is if the bettor happened to be in Philadelphia when the National Commission announced the date for the opening game, there was money to place on the Athletics at 10 to 6; if he happened to be in New York the odds were 10 to 6 that the Giants would win.

By far the greatest amount of money placed in the first few days after the opening date was announced was waged in so-called freak bets. There was no end of these. Reports from Chicago were that a bet could be had on anything pertaining to the games, and the following were quoted as some of the odds given on bets made there:

Even money on the Giants and Athletics.

Two to one that Bender does not win one game.

Four to one that Bender does not win two games.

Seven to five that Mathewson does not win one game.

Three to one that Mathewson does not win two games.

Twenty-five to one that the series goes over four games.

Two to one that the series does not go seven games.

One hundred to one that the Giants do not win four straight.

One hundred to one that the Athletics do not win four straight.

In New York one bet was recorded, at odds of four to five, that Mathewson would pitch the first game. Another bet was reported at even money that Demaree would win his first game. A third bet was that the series would go six games. This bet was also at even money. One Giant enthusiast offered one to four that the Giants would win the first three games, but found no takers.

Gardiner, Star End, Is Lost to Harvard Eleven

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 2.—The Harvard football team will be deprived of the most promising end in its enrollment, in the retirement of Tudor Gardiner, who gave great promise as a tackle in 1911 until a fractured arm in the Princeton contest of that year placed him out of football.

Gardiner, after a year of rest, spent in coaching the freshmen team, attempted a come-back stunt this fall, but his arm, which, following his injury, was set, broken and reset a half-dozen times, could not stand the wear and tear of football this fall. On the advice of several physicians he has quit the sport.

Hardwick and Willett have passed their oral examination in French and have been taken off probation. The punting of Con Felton, brother of Sam Felton, Harvard's star punter of last season, was unusually good. Norwich has canceled its game with the university eleven for Oct. 25. Pennsylvania State, Boston College or some other organization may be taken on for that date.

PURDUE STUDENTS TO KEEP "SPIES" OFF FIELD

LAFAYETTE, Ind., Oct. 2.—Students of Purdue University have voluntarily become detectives to aid in keeping undesirable persons off the football field where the daily practice of the Purdue squad is held. Coach Smith has announced that hereafter there would be no secret practice at the school saying he believed the students were entitled to know what the team was doing. At the same time he asked that they see that persons not enrolled at the university shall not be allowed to occupy seats in the stands and watch the practice.

Great Up Hill Golf Effort Puts Kenney in Semi-Final

Glen Echo Star, Five Down at First Turn, Plays Wonderful Golf in Last Nine Holes, Beating Stuart Stickney 2 Up.

By Clarence F. Lloyd.

SOLVING a Chinese puzzle is no more difficult task than trying to pick the winner of the City Golf Championship tournament which has reached the semi-final round, on Bellerive's links.

The field has dwindled down to four players, Christian Kenney, Sterling E. Edmunds, Harry Potter and Sid R. Overall. At first glance Kenney and Potter would probably be picked as the finalists. But Edmunds and Overall have shown form that entitles them to as much consideration as either of the other topliners.

In fact, Overall is proving the surprise of the tournament. He has qualified in a couple of big tournaments before, but has seldom survived the first round. He trimmed Coonie Besch in a close match in the first round and then beat Cy More in an uphill match. His victory in 19 holes over Harry Allen, picked as a probable finalist, was the big upset of the calendar. Overall's card for the 19 holes was 83. Inasmuch as he took 19 and the match with a 3, he made the regular round in 80, not so good as some of the other medal scores. It looks bad for Overall, Thursday, but he is entitled to a lot of credit for going as far as he has.

Kenney Scores Brilliant Victory.

Chris Kenney's brilliant victory over Stuart G. Stickney in Wednesday's play will probably make the big fellow favorite in the remaining rounds. No golfer has displayed more gameness than Kenney did Wednesday.

Beaten 5 down at the turn, and playing miserable golf during the first half, he pulled himself together in the final section and won seven of the nine holes, giving him a 2 up victory over Stickney.

Kenney simply couldn't do anything going out. His drives were short, his approaches poor and his putting worse. In fact his entire play was enough to disgust the most patient admirer of the big fellow.

Improves on Second Round.

Several of his friends remained at the clubhouse after making the first round with the pair. That cost them the sight of probably the best golf that will be played in the tournament. Beginning the second round he started to cut down his opponent's lead. His drives lengthened, his approaches were true and everything he attempted in a putting way proved successful. His 32 coming home is the best score registered in the tournament to date.

Stickney played good golf, but Kenney's brand was so much better that the Trans-Mississippi champion simply had to give way. Even on 18 it looked bad for Chris, but he stuck to his task and increased his lead from one to 2 up by winning the last hole.

On his drive he sailed over the green and into a hedge that hugs the clubhouse. He came out in nice style and took the hole in three. Stickney had landed short on his drive, but laid up better than his opponent. He required a four and lost the match. Stickney's medal score was 81. Kenney's, even after his miserable start, was 79, a 47 going out and 32 coming back.

Edmunds Eliminates McKittrick.

Edmunds continued his good play of the tournament and turned in his best medal score of the event—75. He defeated Ralph McKittrick, 7 up and 6 to play. The match was easy for Edmunds, but, despite the early lead, he continued his consistent golf and put together a neat score.

For awhile it appeared as if Eddie Gould would enter the "dark horse" class with Sid Overall. Gould declined early in the day to accept his second round match by default from Bert Walker. But when the latter was unable to appear, Gould slipped into the third round. He drew Harry Potter as an opponent and had the municipal champion 2 down at the end of the first nine.

Gould had gone around in 40, against Potter's 42. In the last half, however, Potter improved and came back in a 35, against Gould's 39. It gave Potter the match, 2 up.

Allen Loses in Nineteen.

When Allen and Overall drove off on No. 19 it looked like certain victory for the Bellerive man. Allen's drive went straight for the green, while Overall drove into the trees to the right. Overall, however, managed to win the hole in a 3.

Following are Thursday's pairings: Championship—Kenney vs. Overall, Potter vs. Edmunds; consolation—Van Riper vs. Vinsonhaler, W. A. Stickney vs. Creasy-Bailey winner; class A—Immenhausen vs. Fisher, Brown vs. Bowman.

Friday will be a day of rest for the players. The final in the championship Saturday will be at 36 holes, 18 in the morning and as many in the afternoon.

McGraw May Have to Use Injured Stars in Today's Triple-Header

AN interesting situation will arise in New York today, when the Giants and Phillies stage a triple-header, the first played in the major leagues since 1889, when the Baltimore Orioles won three in one day from Brooklyn. However today's combat will somewhat differ from the affair of '89. The Orioles played one in the morning and two in the afternoon.

The Giants and Phillies will finish up that forfeited affair of Aug. 30, when Umpire Brennan gave a game to the New Yorkers because the bleacher fans interfered with the batter. The National League directors in overruling Lynch thereby setting a precedent for the big leagues, declared that the teams should resume where they left off.

Will Snodgrass Play?

That means that Jack Murray will go to bat, with one out and the bases cleared. One ball was called on Murray. However, if the Giants should knot the score and force the game into extra innings, it will be interesting to know whether Larry Doyle, recently injured, will go to bat and also whether Snodgrass will be forced to play. McGraw probably will spare his regulars and send in subs, if the League rules will permit such procedure.

Fortunate for the Browns, Connie Mack has decided to send his regular team against the Yankees in the series which opens in Philadelphia this afternoon. He will prime his players for the blue-ribbon clash. In the meantime the Browns will be idle until Friday, when they tackle the Naps. If the Mackmen can humble the Yanks, the Browns will be almost assured of seventh place.

Pimples Source of Great Danger

May be Means of Absorbing Disease Germs in Most Unexpected Manner.

Make Your Blood Pure and Immune With S. S. S.

In thousands of instances the most virulent types of blood troubles have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places, and the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such condition, and thanks to the energy of its producers the famous S. S. S. may now be had at most any drug store in the civilized world.

This preparation stands alone as a blood purifier. It is somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it accomplishes all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. It contains one ingredient which serves the active purpose of stimulating each tiny cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and judicious selection of its own essential nutriment. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis, and similar diseases resultant from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specific Co., 217 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with special information, to all who write describing their symptoms.

Get a bottle of S. S. S. to-day, but be careful not to have something palmed off on you falsely claimed to be "just as good."

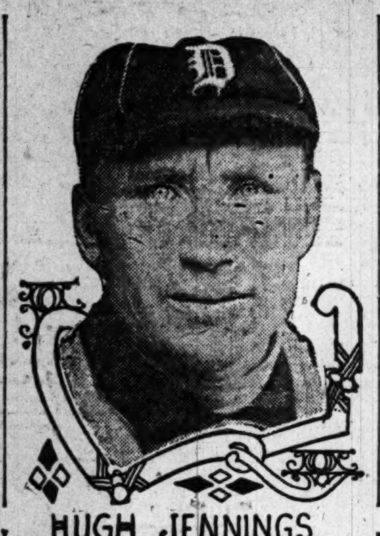
How Can Those World's Series Odds Be Even?

McGraw's Giants Will Owe Success to Superior Pitching Staff, if They Defeat Mack's Men

Hughey Jennings Can't See the Athletics' Flingers

Bender and Plank Not as Good as Matty and Marquard, in Opinion of the Leader of Former Three-Time Winners.

Tesreau and Demaree Over-Shadow Any of the Young Pitchers Picked Up by Philadelphia, This Season.



HUGH JENNINGS.

By Hugh Jennings.
Manager of the Detroit Tigers.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.

AS I have always declared, a good pitching staff is what counts most in a short series, and the prospects of the Giants winning the world's championship from the Athletics next week loom up brighter than ever. Taking the pitching staff as a whole, the National League representatives have decidedly the edge on Connie Mack's staff.

In Christy Mathewson, the "old master;" Rube Marquard, the great southpaw; big Jeff Tesreau, the "Ozark bear," and Albert Demaree, McGraw has gathered together a wonderful quartet of flingers.

Two pitchers will carry the brunt of work for the Athletics. And these two—Big Chief Bender, the old reliable redskin, and Eddie Plank, the Gettysburg southpaw—have already assisted Mack in winning two world's titles for Philadelphia. The Philadelphia fans will depend upon their pitching and all that the Quaker rooters require of Bender and Plank is to hold the Giants to a low score and Baker, Collins, McInnis, etc., will accomplish the rest.

McGraw May Surprise Fans.

BENDER VS. MATTY: This is the pitching selection that has been arranged by the fans of both cities and the majority of the newspaper writers for the first game. But the batteries for the opening clash will probably not be announced until the day of the battle. McGraw never decides upon his pitcher until the players are on the field and the same can apply to the wizard, Connie. Bender or Plank will surely pitch the first game for the Athletics, while the "little Napoleon" may again spring a big surprise, the same as last year, when he sent Jeff Tesreau against Joe Wood of the Boston Red Sox.

If Mack decides to use any of his young pitchers against the Giants either Carroll Brown or Bob Shawkey, the young recruit from the Baltimore Orioles, will be his choice to help out Bender and Plank.

This is Brown's second season with the Athletics and he has shown a big improvement over his first year in fast company. Brown is a powerfully built youngster, has an abundance of speed and a corking good spitter. Like all spitball pitchers he has a tendency toward wildness and is unsteady. In one game this season on the Athletics' Western trip Brown set up a new record for passes in the American League, handing out 15 gifts to first base.

Shawkey began like a world beater in his first two games and helped the Athletics out considerably, when the Naps were close on their trail. Of late the former Oriole has been pitching only mediocre ball for Mack's team.

Mackmen Face New Pitchers.

The Athletics will face two new pitchers when they clash with the Giants. Tesreau has never opposed the sluggers of the White Elephants and the same can be said of Demaree. Demaree is the dark horse of the series. The "shut-out king" has been consistently good all the season and from all reports around the circuit he is one of the best young pitchers that has made his debut in the big League for many years. Demaree leads the pitchers in the old organization, and any young pitcher breaking into fast company must have something on the ball to fool the batters as he has been doing, all season.

Matty, the great, and Bender, the marvelous. After many years of service in the big League the two great pitchers will again face each other in the coming series. It is always a battle of wits besides the curving of the ball, when these two students of the game enter the box. "Big Six" has had a good season, although in the latter part of August the opposing teams found the "old master" easy to hit and twice the Pittsburg batters drove him from the rubber under a fusillade of clouts which ranged from singles to home-run smashes. After a short rest the "old master" came back strong and once more proved to the critics that he was not "all in." McGraw will place all his confidence in Matty when he pitches, and his recent good showing is sufficient to prove that he is himself again.

Bender still retains his wonderful speed and fast curves and is more cunning than ever. To Bender goes the biggest part of the credit for winning the pennant for the Athletics. It was an everyday occurrence for the Chief to rescue one of Mack's pitchers when the latter began to weaken under the attack of the opposing teams. The Chief has worked hard this season, and for a time it appeared as though Bender and Plank were both overworked.

The clinching of the flag so early proved a great benefit for Mack and now Connie is resting his two veterans for the big series. It has been more than a week since Bender and Plank have taken their turn in the box.

Up till last Saturday, Matty had participated in 39 games, winning 24 and losing 11. Bender appeared in 47 games. The Redskin is credited with 21 victories and nine defeats. It is an even thing between Matty and Bender as the breaks of the game may decide a victory or defeat for either of them.

Marquard Better Than Plank.

Marquard has steadily improved in this season and I favor him over Plank. The Rube is now experienced and his control is much better than that of 1911, when he faced the Athletics for the first time. Marquard is younger than Plank and his speed is greater. The Rube has developed a fast hop-ball which is a puzzling delivery and he will give the Athletics plenty of trouble.

Like Bender, Plank is one of Mack's old stand-bys and he seems to improve with age. Eddie has lost some of his smoke, but he still retains his famous cross-fire delivery, a deceptive curve which has fooled the best batters in the American League for a good many years.

Aside from this Plank has the faculty of divining the weakness of the opposing batters and his control is always good. Like the Giants, behind Matty, the Athletics will play with all the more confidence when the Gettysburg warrior is in the box.

Tesreau Outclasses Brown.

Of the two spit-ball artists, Tesreau casts a big shadow over Brown, his rival. After getting away to a poor start through lack of control, the "Ozark bear" rounded into form in the middle of the season and McGraw was able to use him regularly in the box. Tesreau's one fault has been the lack of control, but morning practice with Wilbert Robinson has overcome most of his wildness.

Demaree has a wonderful record for his first year in the big League. The shut-out king is a frail lad and can't stand much of a strain. The New York fans need not worry about their young star, however, for McGraw can be relied upon to nurse him along.

Shawkey is an "in-and-outer." His best game was against the Naps, the former Oriole holding the Cleveland team to two hits.

As in the pitchers, the Giants outclass the Athletics behind the bat. Big Chief Meyers will do nearly all the catching for McGraw's men. The Indian is one of the steadiest catchers in either league and a great pegger. Meyers is cool under fire, and the Indian can handle a youngster just as well as a veteran.

The Chief is also a great hitter and is now the only member of the Giants batting over the .300 mark. Meyers will be a dangerous man in the pinches, and if this is the case the Athletic pitchers will purposely walk him instead of taking a chance in letting him hit.

Neither Schang nor Lapp is considered in the Chief's class. The former has shown himself a good backstop for his first year in the American League, but he is very erratic in his throwing as well as his catching. Schang clouts the ball hard for a youngster, but his hits have been few and far between. The Chief is batting .310, while Schang is credited with a percentage of .260.

Van Reppert Wins City Tennis Championship by Beating Grover Holthaus

Arthur Van Reppert of the Triple A is the new city tennis champion. He succeeded Drummond Jones, who retired last spring, to the honor by defeating Grover Holthaus in a stubborn match in the final round, 2—6, 6—3, 6—3, 6—4 and 3—2.

In the doubles, play has been delayed because of the absence of Sid Overall, who is busy fighting his way through the city golf tournament. When Overall finds time he will pair off with Clarence King and finish out the match with M. D. MacDonald and Jim Westbury. The winners of this match will play Mel Smithers and Roland Hoerr for the title.

Benny Allen Gains 52 Point Lead on De Oro in Match for Cue Title

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Bennie Allen, the youthful pool player of Kansas City and challenger of Alfredo de Oro for the pool championship of the world, defeated the Cuban wonder by 200 balls to 148 in the first block of their match at Doyle's Forty-second street academy last night. It was in the latter part of the match that Allen forged to the front, outstripping his veteran adversary and finishing the block with a high run of 38.

In the last four frames Allen scored 9, 14, 14 and 1, making a total of 38. De Oro's best run was 34.

Hurler Bressler Wins Two Games and Muny Title

"Iron Man" of Grimm-Gorlys Scores Double Victory Over Home Mutuals.

Fred Bressler added to his reputation as an "iron man" pitcher by twirling the Grimm-Gorlys to victory in both games of a double-header with the Home Mutual team at Robison Field Wednesday. The twin victory gave the Grimm-Gorlys title to the amateur baseball championship of St. Louis and entitled the nine to meet the Cleveland team in a three-game series.

Bressler performed in good style and was supported well by the hitters of his team. He won the first game, 9—5, holding the opposition to nine hits. The second game was won, 11—3, the enemy getting eight safeties. Bressler helped his own cause by getting one hit in the first game and two in the second.

Bressler is the same pitcher who earlier in the season twirled three games in one day, one in the morning and two in the afternoon. He won the three contests. It was necessary for him to win both games Wednesday, as the Home Mutuals had previously won the first game of the series and needed only one more victory to win the local title.

The dates for the series with the Cleveland team have not been arranged.

If you ever buy a mortgage, the first thing you'll do is to consider carefully the underlying security; then you'll take into account the names on the paper—the moral security; sometimes the man is more important than the property involved.

In the course of your life you probably invest in clothes enough money to buy a good big mortgage. Do you know anything about the underlying security in the clothes you wear? Does the name and reputation of the maker mean anything to you?

Our suits and overcoats are made to be "gilt-edged" security; we put our name into them as a guaranty of good faith.

If you know how much value you would find in our suits or overcoats at $25, you'd start now to buy one.

IF YOU LOSE ANYTHING, and will advertise it here, you will surely recover it if found by an honest person. A 3-time ad seldom fails. Remarkable recoveries are brought about every day through this column. Your druggist our agent.
IF YOU FIND ANYTHING, bring it to the Post-Dispatch Lost and Found Bureau, 210-12 North Broadway. Get a claim check. Advertise the article. Reclaim it if the owner does not.
THE LAW.—People who find lost articles are interested in knowing that the State law (sections 8268 and 8273, R. S., 1909) is strict in requiring them to seek the owners through advertisement and otherwise, and that a failure to do so, if same can be proven, involves a severe penalty. (52)

BARRELS AS BATHING COSTUMES FOR GIRLS

Donor Unknown—May Have Been the Villains Who Stole Their Clothes.

BRAZIL, IND., Oct. 2.—Barrels are being worn very straight and tight this summer along the banks of Big Walnut Creek, near here. There is no drapery whatever and the hoops are on the outside.

The midsummer styles in barrels recently made their appearance suddenly along Big Walnut Creek. They were first shown the day after a bathing party in which 10 of the young social queens of Brazil participated.

Big Walnut Creek is filled with willow clumps. The party, prior to bathing, filled the willows with lingerie and incidentally clothes. While the girls filled the water the neighborhood filled with unknown persons who took the shoes and stockings and the skirts and hats and the—yes, and everything the girls had left on the bank.

When the girls came out of the water they didn't come out. They stayed in until the night was black—mercifully black. Then they went home like a bevy of dejected and dripping "September Morns."

Next day each fair bather received a nobby modish barrel with the compliments of some person.

SAW HIM UNDER LAMP

Then Old Couple Recognized Long Absent Son.

GLASGOW, Ky., Oct. 2.—He had been away for 20 years, seeking his fortune in Alaska, and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Huffman, were sitting in a room of their home near here one night recently discussing him and wondering if he ever would come back. Then there was a knock at the door and Mr. Huffman opened it to see a dusty traveler, who said he was tired and was seeking lodging for the night. Mr. Huffman thought he could do nothing for him, as there were visitors in the house, and the traveler turned to go.

But Mrs. Huffman could not see the man turned out into the night, so called him and "reckoned they could manage somehow." Then they led him into the hall and under the swinging lamp the aged couple recognized their son Virgil, who had been prospecting in Alaska for a score of years and had prospered.

Finds $5000 Necklace.

HILLSBORO, Cal., Oct. 2.—A $5000 pearl necklace lay on a dusty highway here for nearly two hours. Several automobiles passed over it, many pedestrians unwittingly went by and once the rubber-tired wheel of a buggy buried it deeper in the dust. The necklace had been lost by Mrs. Andrew Welch, a society woman of Hillsboro and San Francisco, while on a "hiking" trip. She missed it when she returned from her walk and notified a Deputy Sheriff. He set out in an automobile and found the necklace a few yards from the spot where Mrs. Welch thought she might have dropped it.

Bees Settle on Clock Shelf.

NASHVILLE, Ind., Oct. 2.—When Otis Sims and wife, living in Johnson township, returned home from Bloomington a few days ago they found a swarm of bees had settled on the clock shelf in the dining room. Mr. Sims took an empty beehive and pushed the bees into the hive with a board. Mr. Sims is an experienced bee raiser, and says the ticking of the clock caused them to settle there.

"WE WOULD LIKE"

For you to see our "S" different player-pianos before you commit yourself elsewhere, because we KNOW that you will not regret it. Our policy of over 40 years to sell only reliable pianos at lowest possible prices has enabled us to build up a tremendous business without solicitors or expensive ways of getting new trade. We are not controlled by any factory and have searched the open market for the best possible players. And, KNOWING piano quality, we know that our player-pianos will not disappoint you. We don't give the cheap, subterfuge, stencil players house room. If you want player satisfaction, just come and let us show you. Terms, etc., arranged to suit.

BARRELS AS BATHING COSTUMES FOR GIRLS

Donor Unknown—May Have Been the Villains Who Stole Their Clothes.

BRAZIL, IND., Oct. 2.—Barrels are being worn very straight and tight this summer along the banks of Big Walnut Creek, near here. There is no drapery whatever and the hoops are on the outside.

The midsummer styles in barrels recently made their appearance suddenly along Big Walnut Creek. They were first shown the day after a bathing party in which 10 of the young social queens of Brazil participated.

Big Walnut Creek is filled with willow clumps. The party, prior to bathing, filled the willows with lingerie and incidentally clothes. While the girls filled the water the neighborhood filled with unknown persons who took the shoes and stockings and the skirts and hats and the—yes, and everything the girls had left on the bank.

When the girls came out of the water they didn't come out. They stayed in until the night was black—mercifully black. Then they went home like a bevy of dejected and dripping "September Morns."

Next day each fair bather received a nobby modish barrel with the compliments of some person.

SAW HIM UNDER LAMP

Then Old Couple Recognized Long Absent Son.

GLASGOW, Ky., Oct. 2.—He had been away for 20 years, seeking his fortune in Alaska, and his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. James Huffman, were sitting in a room of their home near here one night recently discussing him and wondering if he ever would come back. Then there was a knock at the door and Mr. Huffman opened it to see a dusty traveler, who said he was tired and was seeking lodging for the night. Mr. Huffman thought he could do nothing for him, as there were visitors in the house, and the traveler turned to go.

But Mrs. Huffman could not see the man turned out into the night, so called him and "reckoned they could manage somehow." Then they led him into the hall and under the swinging lamp the aged couple recognized their son Virgil, who had been prospecting in Alaska for a score of years and had prospered.

Finds $5000 Necklace.

HILLSBORO, Cal., Oct. 2.—A $5000 pearl necklace lay on a dusty highway here for nearly two hours. Several automobiles passed over it, many pedestrians unwittingly went by and once the rubber-tired wheel of a buggy buried it deeper in the dust. The necklace had been lost by Mrs. Andrew Welch, a society woman of Hillsboro and San Francisco, while on a "hiking" trip. She missed it when she returned from her walk and notified a Deputy Sheriff. He set out in an automobile and found the necklace a few yards from the spot where Mrs. Welch thought she might have dropped it.

Bees Settle on Clock Shelf.

NASHVILLE, Ind., Oct. 2.—When Otis Sims and wife, living in Johnson township, returned home from Bloomington a few days ago they found a swarm of bees had settled on the clock shelf in the dining room. Mr. Sims took an empty beehive and pushed the bees into the hive with a board. Mr. Sims is an experienced bee raiser, and says the ticking of the clock caused them to settle there.

SUIT LOST WHEN NINE SAY MAN'S WORD IS NO GOOD

Farmer Denied Damages When Witnesses Say They Wouldn't Trust Him Under Oath.

After nine witnesses, including F. L. Baltz, brother of Congressman Baltz and president of the bank at Millstadt, Ill., testified they would not believe John Saltenberger under oath, a jury in Saltenberger's $5000 damage suit against George Sander and John Blass, in Judge Flannigen's East St. Louis City Court Thursday, returned a verdict for the defendants. All the parties are farmers near Millstadt.

Saltenberger asked damages for a beating which he said the defendants gave him May 2. He testified that the defendants knocked him down and when he was nearly unconscious tried to gouge out his eye with a stick.

When the defense called witnesses to testify concerning Saltenberger's reputation for veracity each declared they could not believe anything he said and that he was always looking for trouble. One witness, who testified of Saltenberger's reputation for veracity was good, admitted on cross-examination that he did not know the meaning of the word veracity.

BELLEVILLE COAL MINE IS SUED ON MORTGAGES

Bondholders of Royal Property Ask Receiver Under Foreclosure Proceedings.

Suit to foreclose mortgages on the Royal coal mine has been filed in the Circuit Court by Charles B. Goedde, A. Schlinger and Henry J. Fink, trustees for the bondholders, who allege that because of financial troubles the mine has been unable to operate for several months. The mine was closed nearly a year ago when the operators were unable to meet their payroll.

The bill in the foreclosure suit asks the court to name a receiver to straighten out the mine's difficulties. The mortgages on the mine are for $50,466 and $2,197.02. The case will come up at the January term of court.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES GIVE OWN CASH FOR FOOTBALL

Alton Board Refuses Public Funds, But Contributes Privately to Team.

Eight members of the Alton Board of Education, rather than experience criticism from the students for refusing to allow $50 from the public funds for the high school football team, contributed $5 each out of their own pockets for the support of the team.

The allowing of $50 last year was criticised so harshly by the public that few members wanted to vote for it this year.

Those contributing their own money are: W. D. Miller, A. K. Challacombe, Louis Bissinger, G. D. Rankin, J. R. Davis, J. W. Scheeffler, J. H. Booth, Andrew Schnorr and Superintendent R. A. Haight.

THREE PERSONS HURT WHEN AUTO TURNS OVER

Five Escape, Raised Top Preventing Car From Crushing Occupants.

Three persons were injured and five escaped injury when an automobile owned and driven by Andrew Kuehn, a farmer living 14 miles east of Belleville, turned over at the edge of a sloping road. Kuehn, his wife and three children, and Henry Wiegand, his wife and son, were in the machine. The fact that the top and wind shield were up probably saved the occupants of the car, as the uprights that hold the top kept the car from crushing those under it.

Mrs. Wiegand suffered a broken collar bone and her husband received a long gash on the head. The right arm of Viola Kuehn, aged 5, was crushed.

Farmers in the neighborhood assisted in righting the car, and it was driven home.

WOMAN SCARES BURGLAR

"What Do You Want?" She Cries, and He Flees.

Mrs. Maud Bower of 1702 St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis, for the second time since Sunday night was awakened Wednesday night by the noise of someone trying to pry open a window of the residence of Victor Adel at 1704 St. Louis avenue.

Mrs. Bower opened her bedroom window and called, "What do you want?" She received no answer, but heard the patter of footsteps as someone ran through the yard to the alley. The police were summoned and found evidences of the use of a jimmy on the window. The burglar had not succeeded in getting into the Adel home from which the Adels were absent.

AUTO HITS FIRE HORSE

Woman Driving Car in Belleville Disappears Then.

An automobile driven by an unidentified woman ran into Fire Chief Henry Kunz's horse when the horse was leaving the Jackson street engine house in Belleville, in response to a fire alarm. The animal was knocked down, but regained its footing in time to escape being struck by the engine and hook and ladder truck.

The police are trying to find the owner of the car the woman was driving.

POLICE CHIEF IS NAMED

East St. Louis Patrolman to Act at Illinois State Fair.

Policeman James Fyffe of East St. Louis has been chosen Chief of Police for the Illinois State Fair, to be held in Springfield this week.

Sergt. Lew Johnson will be in charge of the following policemen, who will constitute the East St. Louis delegation at the fair: C. H. McNutt, Sam Ryckman, J. J. Murphy, C. H. Brockman, A. G. Earlinger and Tot Cannon.

Fyffe is the first East St. Louis policeman ever chosen as Police Chief during the fair. His activities will be confined to the fair grounds.

JUDGE HOLDS MARSHAL

After a hearing before Justice Dale of Edwardsville, Thursday, on a charge of assault to kill, preferred by Marshal James Chadwick of Wood River, Marshal Jerome Ford of Benbow City was ordered held for the grand jury.

Witnesses said the Marshals bet on the main street, which runs through Benbow City and Wood River, Sept. 19, and that after a few words Ford drew a revolver and Chadwick, to protect himself, did likewise. Each fired five shots, one shot taking effect in Chadwick's right forearm.

WOMEN HURT IN RUNAWAY

Mrs. George Wisdom and her daughter, Mrs. Addie Miller of Wood River, Ill., were injured Wednesday when a horse they were driving became frightened by an automobile and ran away. The spring wagon was overturned. Mrs. Wisdom's right arm was fractured in two places, and Mrs. Miller was severely bruised. The women were driving to Alton.

When the automobile, driven by H. J. Bowman, approached, the horse ran into the ditch at the side of the road.

COPPER STOCKS LEAD ADVANCE IN SECURITIES

Amalgamated Shares Gain Over Two Points; Bank of England Rate Raised.

Bank of England Raises Rate to 5 Per Cent.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—After a prolonged discussion the directors of the Bank of England today decided to raise the bank rate from 4½ to 5 per cent, as a precautionary measure to protect the bank's reserve, which had been depleted by over $10,000,000 this week by exports to Egypt. The weekly consignments of gold from South Africa have been absorbed by the Continent, where the scramble for gold continues. The discount market hardly expected the advance today, in view of the firmer New York exchange, but it was recognized that some protective measure would be necessary in the near future in order to enable the Bank of England to get the gold arriving from South Africa and build up the reserve, which has fallen much below that of last year. The higher rate, it is expected, will serve as a warning to other quarters to check their prospective gold demands.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Today's recovery on the Stock Exchange, which ran to a full point in some of the more active shares, represented apparently rather the readjustment of speculative positions than to response to the day's news.

"That news comprised an advance in the London bank rate and the announcement by the Agricultural Department of the condition percentage of the cotton crop.

"But as yet the governing influence in the stock market seems to be investing public's unwillingness to sell when professional operators have brought about a decline.

"The higher Bank of England rate was followed by a rise of ¼ per cent in the open London money market (which is now nearly 1 per cent above the rate of fortnight ago) by a slightly firmer tendency in money here, and by a rise of more than ¼-cent in our own exchange on London.

The Government's cotton estimate—the last report before the important December estimate on actual yield, was fairly in line with expectations, although the "condition percentage" of 64.1 per cent is below almost all the private forecasts.

Bank Rate Is Raised.

"The event of the day, financially speaking was the advance in the Bank of England's official discount rate from 4½ per cent to 5.

"This action, though for some days foreshadowed in the London dispatches, was interesting and important for three reasons—first because the concensus of English financial operation, until very lately, was that a lower rather than a higher rate was probable at this time; second, because the London rate goes up at the very moment when rates on the Continent and in America are going down; third, because the weekly statement, published by the bank today shows its ratio of reserve to liability to be now at the highest mark reached in the first week of October during 18 years.

"To this may be added the further fact that the new 5 per cent rate, though no higher than was reached in the last months of 1912, 1910 and 1909, is higher than the rate established in this week of any previous year since 1899, when the Baring troubles were beginning to come to the knowledge of the bankers.

Big Demand for Gold.

"The bank rate raise might be imagined to indicate some misgiving on London's part over the financial outlook generally. But the immediate motive for the advance in the London bank discount is well enough understood, and that motive is not alarm over the financial situation.

"The bank is resorting to its historic expedient for checking too large an outflow of gold from Egypt.

"It was known that Egypt was about to draw supplies from London, but the sum of approximately $10,000,000, which it has taken this past week, was much beyond expectations.

"India also has begun to take gold, and Germany bid away most of the $3,200,000 new Transvaal gold delivered in London by this week's steamer.

The bank's gold reserve is still at a respectable figure, and the total loss of $15,000,000 since a week ago does not much exceed the loss of $13,000,000 in the same week last year, of $12,500,000 in 1911, of $14,000,000 in 1910 and of $11,500,000 in 1909.

"The the directors are evidently acting with an eye to the special tendencies of the day, which include not only the movement of exchange in favor of Egypt and the East, but the avowed purposes of the French and German banks to pursue a policy of adding progressively from whatever source available to their own gold holdings."

DETAILED REPORT OF DAY'S WALL STREET TRANSACTIONS

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Fluctuations of standard stocks were unusually narrow during the first session today. There was some further selling of Steel, which effectually checked the market whenever it showed a tendency to advance.

Trading was dull during the second half of the forenoon, with a slight reaction in the leading stocks. Bonds were steady. Southern Pacific collateral 4s advanced 1⅛.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Copper shares, whose buoyant advance was the feature of yesterday's market, were again prominent in the first trading today. Amalgamated and Utah made further fractional advances, but Chino fell back a point. Canadian Pacific rose 3 points and Pittsburg Coal preferred 1⅝. American Telephone was heavy, losing a point on the first few sales. Changes elsewhere were small and irregular.

A better tone prevailed when trading was fairly under way. Slight opening declines in Union Pacific, Steel and Reading were made up. Amalgamated Copper and Nevada Consolidated advanced a point and Chino recovered its loss.

Pittsburg Coal preferred increased its gain to 3 points, and the common rose 1⅛.

2 p. m.—Steel developed a distinctively strong tone, advancing nearly a point. The rise in this stock affected the whole list, which continued to creep upward. Amalgamated's gain was increased to 1⅝. Interborough Metropolitan preferred advanced a point.

Prices improved slightly during the noon hour, but trading was slow and the advance did nothing more than restore the leaders to their high figures of the day.

London Money.

LONDON, Oct. 2.—Consols for money, 73 5-16; consols for account, 73 9-16. Bar silver steady, 28⅝d; money, 3½@4¼. Discount rates—Short bills, 4⅝; three months, 4⅝.

New York Money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Prime mercantile paper, 5½@6 per cent. Sterling exchange strong, 482 for 60 days, 486.10 for demand. Commercial bills, 481⅝. Bar silver, 61⅛c. Mexican dollars, 47c. Government bonds easy. Railroad bonds steady. Money on call firm, 2¾@3; ruling rate, 3; closing, 2¾@3. Time loans firm; 60 days, 4½; 90 days, 4⅝@5; six months, 4⅝.

THIRD NATIONAL HIGHER IN THE LOCAL BIDDING

Bank Stock Is Wanted at 3½ Point Advance at $247.50; Bonds Are Active.

ST. LOUIS CLEARING HOUSE.

	Clearings.	Balances.
Today	$14,131,665	$1,374,061
Last week	11,206,973	1,029,477
Increase	$2,924,692	$344,584

Trading was more active than in some time on the local Stock Exchange Thursday, with a broadening demand noted in the bond list. Prices established showed a steady range.

Third National Bank continued to show firmness and was 1 point higher in the bid price at $245 with offers far away at $250. National Bank of Commerce was steady on transfers at $135 and $135.12½, late bids at $135 with offers at $136. Other bank and trust shares showed a better tone on the issues quoted.

United Railways 4s were active, $11,000 selling at $70. The demand was less urgent at the close and offers were at $70, with $69.75 bid. Railways preferred and common stocks were quiet and steady.

The miscellaneous list was irregular, with International Shoe preferred slightly easier at $104.50. Mining stocks were neglected.

Third National Bank was higher at $247.50 at the second session. Other issues reflected a more active demand.

Commercial paper is slowly but surely moving to a lower basis. Whether or not reports of diminishing volume of trade are true, the fact remains that there is a more restricted supply of good names and that there is a growing demand for four and six months' securities. As has been previously mentioned by this bureau, one of the strongest factors so far as the St. Louis money market is concerned in bringing about lower rates is the rather persistent buying for out-of-town bank accounts.

Rates are 5½ to 6 per cent for all maturities, and demand funds are offered in considerable volume at the latter quotation. Domestic exchange is quiet and firm at present.

Three and four months' paper were offered at 5½ to 5¾ per cent.

COTTON CROP CONDITION IS PLACED AT 64.1

Government Estimate Compares With 68.2 Last Month and 69.6 Last Year.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The condition of the cotton crop of the United States on Thursday, Sept. 25, was 64.1 per cent of a normal, compared with 68.2 per cent on Aug. 25, 1913, 69.6 per cent on Sept. 25, 1912, 71.1 per cent on Sept. 25, 1911, 65.9 per cent on Sept. 25, 1910, and 68.6 per cent, the average the past 10 years on Sept. 25.

This announcement was made at noon today by the Crop Reporting Board, Bureau of Statistics, United States Department of Agriculture, in its final condition report of the season, the condition being estimated from reports of its correspondents and agents throughout the cotton belt.

During the early part of the growing season this year, conditions were favorable in the Western cotton states and unfavorable in the Eastern cotton states; as the season advanced, however, prospects declined in the West and improved somewhat in the East.

Until the latter part of the month, which today's report covered, there was severe drouth in Texas, Oklahoma and Southern Missouri, but this was broken very generally during the third week of the period. The heavy rains at points in those states, as well as in portions of Arkansas, were thought to have caused some damage to the open cotton.

During the second week of the period high winds and heavy rains were thought to have caused some damage in eastern North Carolina.

In that week the drouth was reported as severe over much of Tennessee and portions of South Carolina, while the drouth in Arkansas was considerably relieved.

Comparisons of conditions, by states follow:

The first official figures estimating the size of this year's crop will be announced by the Crop Reporting Board on Friday, Dec. 12, at 2 p. m., when the Department of Agriculture's report on the production of cotton for the season 1913-14 will be issued, showing the quantity of cotton grown in each state, expressed in 500-pound bales.

GINNING REPORT.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—The second cotton ginning report of the Census Bureau, issued at 10 a. m. today, announced that 3,237,851 bales of cotton of the growth of 1913 had been ginned prior to Sept. 25, counting round as half bales.

To that date last year, 3,005,934 bales, or 22.3 per cent of the entire crop, had been ginned; in 1911, to that date, 3,676,594 bales, or 23.6 per cent had been ginned; in 1908 to that date, 2,590,639 bales, or 19.8 per cent of the crop had been ginned, and in 1906 to that date, 2,057,282 bales, or 15.8 per cent of the crop had been ginned.

Included in the total ginnings were 27,343 round bales, compared with 19,574 round bales ginned to Sept. 25 last year, 27,918 round bales in 1911, 38,028 round bales in 1910 and 48,070 round bales in 1909.

The number of bales of Sea Island cotton included was 10,555 bales, compared with 3051 bales last year, 11,807 bales in 1911, 13,832 bales in 1909 and 11,457 bales in 1908.

Ginnings prior to Sept. 25 by states, with comparisons for last year and other big crop years, and with the percentage of the entire crop ginned to that date in previous years follow:

Alabama—1913, 322,602, 14.5 per cent; 1912, 190,310, 14.5 per cent; 1911, 360,244, 21.2 per cent; 1908, 316,349, 23.7 per cent; 1906, 221, 851, 17.9 per cent.

COTTON MARKET AGAIN SCORES WIDE ADVANCE

NEW YORK, Oct. 2.—Reports on further heavy rains in the Southwest, big English spot sales and higher Liverpool cables gave cotton a firm opening, despite comparatively large ginning figures this morning.

First prices were 10 to 16 points higher, new high ground for the season. Reactions of 6 to 7 points were followed by rallies of 4 or 5 points and the market showed a very steady tone in expectation of a low Government condition report at midday.

Realizing caused more or less irregularity later in the morning but the market held generally steady, and just before the Washington report was published prices were 12 to 15 points net higher. The official condition of 64.1 per cent proved more favorable than early buyers expected, and the market almost immediately broke 12 to 18 points for the best.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands, 14.20c; gulf, 14.45c; no sales.

Liverpool Cotton.

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 2.—Spot cotton in limited demand; prices firm; middling fair, 8.31d; good middling, 8.03d; middling, 7.89d; low middling, 7.67d; good ordinary, 7.01d; ordinary, 6.67d. Sales, 20,000, including 15,-300 American and 3000 for speculation and export.

There was a very light speculative demand for wheat Thursday, but prices displayed considerable firmness. Receipts in the primary markets again were heavy and Liverpool cables barely steady. Minneapolis stocks have increased 1,750,000 bu in the last five days.

The weaker American cables Wednesday were offset by reports of drouth in Southern Argentine and at the opening the market in Liverpool prices were unchanged to ⅛d higher. Following the opening that market was dull. Russia and Canada continue to offer freely at a decline, and expectations are for liberal world's shipments this week, with stocks in the United Kingdom large. These factors served to check the advance, but still there appeared to be a good inquiry for Manitoba parcels, with reduced crop estimates from Hungary and France.

Estimated Argentine wheat shipments this week were 320,000 bu, against 616,-000 bu last week and 1,064,000 last year.

An official report on the Hungary wheat crop says the yield must be further reduced by 2,500,000 bu. This makes a deficit as compared with last year of 24,000,000 bu.

In India holders remain firm, owing to dryness, and as a result small business is passing. Prices have been reduced some, but are not low enough in comparison with American sorts to tempt buyers.

Buying of Russian and German wheat continues by France. Native wheat is out of condition. Estimates are circulated showing a loss of 40,000,000 bu, as compared with a normal yield.

Corn futures were firm after some early selling by professionals. The weather map was favorable, but clear, cool weather is needed to cure the crop, and there are numerous complaints of moldy corn, owing to the recent continued rains, which came too late to develop the plant and have lowered the quality of the grain.

Cables were unchanged to a fraction higher, and the cash demand was fair. Rural offers dry up quickly when prices develop weakness.

Liverpool corn opened unchanged and later advanced, with December leading the strength. The weakness in America was offset by expectations of light shipments from Argentine and a better demand for parcels and distant shipment. Shorts covered.

Argentine corn shipments for the week were estimated at 3,800,000 bu, against 5,-033,000 last week and 6,044,000 last year.

Minneapolis wheat cars were 306, against 628 last week and 440 last year. Duluth, 498, against 503 and 372. Winnipeg, 1145, against 1354 and 534.

Local wheat receipts were 63,030 bu, or 280 sacks, 46 cars local, 6 thorugh, last year, 99,735 bu, or 60 sacks, 61 cars local, 22 through. Corn receipts, 31,200 bu, of 19 cars local, 7 through; last year, 22,800 bu, or 14 cars local, 5 through. Oats receipts, 85,000 bu, or 40 cars local, 10 through; last year, 93,800 but, or 39 cars local, 16 through.

Total primary wheat receipts were 1,249,000 bu, against 1,768,000 last year; shipments, 693,000, against 1,027,000 last year. Corn receipts, 613,000 bu, against 632,000 last year; shipments, 404,000 bu, against 342,000 last year. Oats receipts, 906,000 bu, against 1,018,000 last year; shipments, 725,000.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅛d to ⅜ 1 up, corn ⅜d up. Paris wheat ½c lower, flour ¾c lower. Antwerp wheat unchanged. Budapest and Berlin, holiday.

B. W. Snow's report on corn, wired by Bartlett-Frazier Co., Chicago, to their local representative, A. C. Petri, said:

"I have already tabulated sufficient local reports to warrant the statement that condition of corn on Oct. 1 is practicaly same as reported Sept. 1, the change either way being only a fraction of a point. On the October par, and applying the resultant indicated yield per acre, to the whole acreage originally planted, as both Government and private authorities have been doing up to this time, the indicated crop is about 2,360,000,000 bu. That a large acreage, however, has been entirely abandoned, so far as producing any corn is concerned, is well known, and I have this month asked my local agents to give me an estimate of the acreage thus abandoned and on which no attempt will be made to gather any corn. My reports to date show more than 10,-000,000 acres thus abandoned, mainly in Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma and Missouri, in the order named. If we apply this indicated yield this month to the acreage thus reported as left for harvest, it would forecast a crop of only about 2,100,000,000 bu. In this calculation no attempt has been made to strike out the large acreage which this year has been cut for fodder only, and from which the little corn in it will not be husked, or the increased acreage cut green and placed in silos. The Government report probably will not adjust its figures of acreage until the final estimates are issued in December, but my advices from country agents justify the belief that a heavy reduction in acreage will finally be necessary."

Clearances of wheat, 493,000 bu; flour, 10,000 bbls; corn, 1000 bu; oats, 1000 bu; wheat and flour, 539,000 bu.

Chicago wheat cars were 50, corn 193, oats 117. Estimated Friday: Wheat 58, corn 175, oats 141.

Northwestern Miller.

The Northwestern Miller says: "The Minneapolis flour output last week increased 5445 barrels. The output for the week ending Sept. 27 was 421,226 barrels, against 427,180 in 1912, 370,160 in 1911 and 367,620 in 1910. One more mill is in operation this week than last, but not much change in the production is anticipated. A year ago it was 421,130 barrels. Minneapolis and Northwestern mills seem to have done a very heavy week's business, with total sales largely in excess of the output. Steadiness in wheat futures at the low levels evidently induced the big buyers to take hold. The crop movement to date in the Northwest has been heavy. Elevator people say that the total receipts have been at least 50 per cent more than in the same period a year ago. Northwestern farmers are dissatisfied with present wheat prices and purchases by elevator companies in the last week show a heavy falling off. Farmers are entitled to 15 days' free storage and usually before the expiration of that period they sell. No developments of importance in Northwestern crop situation."

HOGS—Just a fairly good supply was received and the market was on a steady basis with the Wednesday close, but that means that prices were around 15c lower than the best time Wednesday morning. It was a draggy trade, but the close found the hogs well cleaned up. The top was $8.75, and the bulk went at $8.40@8.65, making this the low day of the week. The best grade of light and medium weight hogs sold at $8.60 and upwards, while the fair to good mixed and heavy offerings sold at $8.25@8.60. Belt lights under 165 lbs sold at $8.25@8.50; best pigs under 125 lbs, $7.40@7.85, fair to medium grades, $6.75@7.35, and the poor kinds $6.50 and lower.

SHEEP—There was no material change to the sheep trade, so that best lambs sold at $7.15@7.40; medium grades, $6.75@7.10; mutton sheep, $4.25@4.35; stockers, $3.25@3.65, and bucks, $3.25.

HORSES AND MULES—The range horse sale featured the trade today. There was about 150 head of native horses sold in the ring this morning, but they only sold on a fair basis, as far as prices were concerned.

The mule trade was on a good, steady basis with the forepart of the week and prices were satisfactory on all good quality kinds.

Iron Trade Quiet.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 2.—The Iron Trade Review today says: The opening of the fourth quarter finds some departments of the iron and steel trade rapidly approaching what appears to be the end of a remarkable period of intense activity, extending over approximately 18 months, during which time plants have been driven at maximum capacity to meet insistent demands of consumers. September—expected to be featured by a heavy buying movement—has been a disappointment in that consumers have continued to show hesitancy in covering future needs. Final passage of the new tariff law is not expected to immediately affect business one way or the other, but the probability of advanced freight rates in the East undoubtedly will create a demand for car material and railway equipment. Prices of some products have been fairly well maintained and manufacturers are hopeful that better conditions soon will be enjoyed.

Without exception, the financial institutions that are making the greatest progress are the ones which advertise. This is emphatically true, locally as well as nationally. Why not do what the foremost bankers are doing? Advertise your service in the Post-Dispatch, the newspaper that reaches everybody in St. Louis.

If

the Glass bill (new currency) becomes a national law it will enable banks to obtain an issue of bank notes on the security of discounts, acceptances and all forms of commodity credit. In this event, $1 of lawful money will equal $3 of credit. This method is proposed as a plan to release a vast amount of money now hoarded in vaults, and, therefore, will bring to brokers a large investment clientele heretofore unknown. While this currency bill is pending passage at Washington there is no better time for St. Louis brokers to advertise stock and bond bargains, and there is no better medium than the Post-Dispatch, the one newspaper in every home—the only newspaper in many homes.

Stories St. Louisans Tell

"CROPS" IN SHAW'S GARDEN.

CHARLES EDWIN HUTCHINGS, for many years connected with the administration of Shaw's Garden, is a pedestrian who thinks nothing of taking a 100-mile trek across country. On one of his long-distance hikes in the Ozarks he was accosted by a native.

"So you work in Shaw's Garden?" inquired the Ozarker.

Hutchings admitted it.

"How's yer crops this year?" asked the native.

"Well," replied Hutchings, after a slight hesitation, "our rhododendrons are doing fairly well, our narcissi look promising, and we have 37 cacti coming on"—

"Shucks!" cried the Ozarker. "Don't you raise no roastin' years?"

Happened in Texas.

IN a Texas town there lives an old negress, Aunt Cynthia Johnson, who is sharp of tongue and seldom at peace with her female neighbors. Recently, as a result of a war of words with one of her neighbors, she was being tried in the Recorder's Court for disturbance. Uncle Levi Criggle was called to the witness stand and the following ensued:

"Brother Criggle, how long have you lived in my part of town and knowed me?"

"'Bout ten years, Sister Johnson.

"Brother Criggle, has you ever knowed or me startin' any exturbance among my neighbors or in my neighborhood where I live?"

"Now, Sister Johnson, the Jedge over thar done made me hold up my han' and swear to tell the truth and all the truth, and I's boun' to tell it jess like it is. All I got to say 'bout that is, I ain't never hearn that you exackly started any insturbance, but all the insturbances that's ever been down in that end of town has had you in 'em somewhar afore they wus thru'."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Through the Porthole.

A WESTERNER who had made his pile late in life came East and accepted the invitation of a New York business acquaintance to accompany him on a little sea trip aboard his private yacht.

In the morning the Westerner rang insistently for the steward.

"Where are my clothes, sir?" he demanded.

"Your clothes, sir?" the steward asked in perplexity, "why, sir, I'm sure no one has taken them."

"Must have," the Westerner snapped. "I folded them all up carefully last night and put them in the cupboard. Now they're gone."

"The cupboard!" the steward replied in amazement, "what cupboard?"

"That one!" said the Westerner, pointing to the circular port, "the round one with the glass door."

The Hedgeville Editor.

By John L. Hobble.

LAWYER RASP has raised his price because he is getting too conscientious to change his mind for the usual fee.

Miss Moss and Henry Kirk have quit going together, but it isn't known whether they quarreled or got married.

Old Fork has decided to go away for the summer and give his family a rest.

The man who starts in married life as gentle as a lamb will soon be as gentle as a lamb stew.

Consoling.

"WHY, the size of your bill," cried the angry patient to the doctor, "makes me boil all over!"

"Ah!" said the eminent practitioner calmly; "that will be $10 more for sterilizing your system."

There Were Others.

"BOSS, I'd like my salary raised—I want to get married."

"Sorry, but I'll have to reduce it—I'm getting married myself."

Help!

"WHY do you insist upon marrying a widow?"

"Because then I'm sure not to marry a-miss."

That Moved Him.

"IS that clock right?" asked the visitor, who had already outstayed his welcome.

His hostess yawned.

"Oh, no!" she said. "That's the clock we always call 'The Visitor.'"

The obdurate one sat down again.

"'The Visitor!'" he remarked. "What a curious name to give a clock!"

His hostess ventured an explanation.

"You see," she cooed sweetly, "we call it that because we can never make it go!"

And then he went.

How She Did It.

AS a married couple were walking down one of the main thoroughfares of a city, says the Houston Post, the husband noted the attention which other women obtained from passersby, and remarked to his better half:

"Folks never look at you. I wish I had married someone better looking."

The woman tartly replied: "It's your fault. Do you think a man will stare at me when you're walking with me? You step behind me and see whether men don't look at me."

The husband hung back about a dozen yards, and for the length of the street was surprised to see every man his wife passed stare hard at her and even turn around and look after her.

"Sure, lassie!" he exclaimed, as he rejoined her. "I was wrong and take it back. I'll never say aught about your looks again."

The wife had made a face at every man she met.

Lost Golf Ball.

TOMMY went home one day with a nice new golf ball.

"Look at the lost ball I found on the links, father," he said.

"But you are sure, Tommy," said Mr. Traddles, "that it was a lost ball?"

"Oh, yes," said the boy. "I saw the man and his caddy looking for it."—London Opinion.

Proper Regulation.

MRS. SMITH (to chemist)—I wish to buy a thermometer to regulate the heat of the room.

Chemist—What kind will you have, madam?

Mrs. S.—Oh, it does not matter, as you set it at 65, as the doctor said that would be the proper heat.—National Monthly.
